German General Reveals Plans for Drive to Channel

FOES IN SIGHT OF COAST STIR BRITONS' ALARM

Reich's Army Never Closer to England.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 23.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's bald announcement tonight that the Germans had reached Boulogne, only 26 miles across the channel, and the allied armies had suffered further reverses revived the depression and alarm of the British people, who yesterday had been led to hope the German drive was being held.

As the German army stood closer to Britain than ever before in history and German officers at Boulogne trained their field glasses on the English coast, Churchill told the house of commons:

"German armored forces which made their way thru a breach in the French armies have penetrated into the rear of the allied armies in Belgium and are now attempting to derange communications. Abbeville is in enemy hands and heavy fighting is proceeding around and in Boulogne.

Battle to Unite Front.

"It is too early yet to say what the result of this coastal fighting may be, but it evidently carries with it implications of a serious character. Meanwhile Gen. (Maxime) Weygand, who is in supreme command, is conducting operations involving all the allied armies with a view to restoring and reconstituting their combined front."

Churchill gave no information about the forces engaged, but the British communique tonight spoke of "armored elements followed by motorized units," apparently indicating fast tanks accompanied by trucks carrying infantry and supplies. The communique added that vital points are being guarded against these detachments.

Gap Smashed in Line.

Reports indicate the Germans are smashing thru a gap forced in the British lines near Audenarde, Belgium, about 15 miles west of Brussels, toward the outer gates of England at Boulogne and at Ostend and Zeebrugge, also vital channel ports.

It was these slashing columns to which Churchill apparently referred as endangering British communications.

One bright spot, however, appeared on the somber horizon. A British communique told of fierce fighting in the Arras sector in France, with the British successfully maintaining their positions.

Keep an Eye on Ireland.

As newspapers and street conversations in London reflected a feeling of tensity and frustration not evident since the Germans swept toward Paris in the world war, Britain cast uneasy eyes on Ireland as the scene of a possible invasion, just as it did in 1915.

However, Maj. Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal, assured commons that all phases of the Irish situation had been considered and in Dublin, Sean O'Kelly, deputy prime minister, warned Ireland will "not let anybody come in."

2 ARMIES SLASH WAY TO SEA; AIM AT THREE PORTS

Admits Stern Battle Rages at Ghent.

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER.

WITH THE GERMAN WESTERN ARMIES, May 24, Friday (AP).—Gen. Georg von Kuechlen, commander in chief of the German army in the Antwerp sector, today said his force is aiming, via Ghent and Bruges, at Ostend, Belgian port directly across from England.

At the same time Gen. Walther von Reichenau is pushing toward Calais and Dunkirk [Dunkerque], two French ports opposite England, one of Kuechlen's adjutants said.

Altho a hot battle was raging only a few miles away, Kuechlen found time to receive me.

"A stern battle is on at Ghent," he said simply. "But we are cutting our way to the sea and expect to be there shortly. Our enemies are resisting bravely."

Aim at Ghent Canal.

"In addition, we have inundations and other difficulties of terrain to contend with," Kuechlen added. "Nevertheless, the odds are greatly in our favor. Our task of the moment is to get the Ghent canal in our hands. That will happen shortly."

Only a few minutes—as a Messerschmitt flies—separated me today from England. I stood at an airport facing England across the water [location not revealable] for the first time since entering the western zone of operations.

Stukas [dive bombers] and heavy bombers were roaring over our heads constantly.

Our particular airport had neither heavy bombers nor Stukas. It was reserved for Messerschmitt pursuit planes, of which 27 fringed the airfield, artfully camouflaged.

Planes Off to Attack Troops.

As we arrived, eight of the Messerschmitts took to the air.

"These planes have started to assist in the land fight," the squadron commander explained. "Each plane has either four machine guns or two machine guns and two cannon. They have orders to swoop down on marching enemy columns."

For the first time since moving about in the operations area we have seen naval officers darting back and forth in speedy cars.

How Antwerp Surrendered.

Antwerp, the important Belgian seaport and commercial center, surrendered to German forces in a typical coup d'état, in which the garrisons of two fortifications were surprised and overpowered, it was disclosed to correspondents today.

Antwerp's burgomaster thereupon regarded further bloodshed as useless and ceremoniously handed the city's keys over to the German commander three days ago.

Antwerp on the whole is only little damaged, but time bombs set by the Belgians blew up the Scheldt tunnel, an engineering marvel under the Scheldt river. In other words, it was the Hudson tunnel of Belgium.

Bridge Built Under Shell Fire.

The Germans constructed an emergency pontoon bridge despite the fact that two changes of the tide and ebb daily made a difference of 15 feet in the river level.

This problem was solved by a clever device of windlasses at both ends, which first wind supports of the pontoons at either end up and down as the water rises or falls.

The feat was more remarkable because it had to be accomplished in the midst of enemy shell fire.

Our travels on the front were delayed for hours tonight when the military road over which we were motoring was the object of an apparent attempted bombing.

Our cars were forced to take cover while the bomber criss-crossed the road and dropped parachute flares. Immediately, however, German searchlights caught him and antiaircraft guns boomed.

Without dropping bombs, he disappeared. Later we heard bombs had been dropped at Aachen, Germany, near the Belgian frontier, without damage.

THE COMING FIGHT TO THE FINISH

Britons Rush to Guard Coast from Invasion

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 24, Friday.—British troops were rushed during the night to south coast and English channel towns to guard against a surprise German invasion.

These speedy precautions were taken as German land forces across the channel kept plunging toward the narrow strait that separates England from the European continent.

The names of towns where defense positions were set up were not revealed, but it is known that at one point a crowd of holiday makers was sent away from a pier at a minute's notice to make way for the defensive action.

At this pier a British naval force immediately began setting up machine gun posts on the promenade, protected by sandbags. Police kept sightseers at a distance while the military operations were carried out.

Meanwhile, air raid warnings were sounded in three Kent coast towns last night. After 45 minutes, the all clear signal was given. According to one report, 25 German planes were seen flying eastward over the English channel.

Munitions Train Blown Up.

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—Wave after wave of British bombers and fighter planes, flung at the Germans' front and rear in one of the mightiest aerial offensives of the war, were credited tonight with bombing a Nazi armored division headquarters and striking military objectives as deep as Leipzig in Germany.

Other British pilots back from a day and night of war overhead told of smashing communication lines and blowing a German ammunition train and two supply trains off their tracks.

Success of Daring Raids Told.

Three successive communiques described successes of daring Royal Air force raids. The British claimed damage or destruction of more than 40 German war planes and said five of their own failed to return.

Air Marshal Joubert de la Ferte said in a radio broadcast that allied "bomber losses have been made up" and altho a number of fighter planes have been lost, "the losses in trained pilots was not severe and also had been made up."

He added that it was impossible for Germans to "go on producing trained crews at the rate at which they have been lost in recent fighting."

While bombers pounded and strafed German reserves and tank columns moving up thru Belgium and northern France, at least one flight was reported to have pierced to the heart of Germany. It struck at a power station near Leipzig.

DOCTORS FIND WOUNDS CLEANER IN THIS WAR; INFECTIONS ARE FEWER

A different character of war wounds from those dealt with in the last war is being reported in British and French medical journals which have reached this country recently, Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of Northwestern university medical school, said yesterday. He summarized the journals' statements as follows:

"It is reported that the wounds from German missiles are cleaner and go clear thru the body, carrying fewer particles of tissue with them. Perhaps the velocity of the missiles is greater and they sterilize themselves.

"Far less infections are being reported than in the last war, altho the physicians making these reports qualify their statements by saying that it is perhaps too early to draw any definite conclusions as yet from a medical standpoint.

"It is suggested that perhaps the wounded men were less fatigued and had more resistant power. It is thought, however, that the Germans are using different velocity projectiles which are sterilized by friction in the air and the heat of the discharge. This would be quite possible, I think."

RAEDER IN OSLO; GERMAN DRIVE TO BRITAIN SEEN

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 23 (AP).—The return of Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, commander in chief of the German fleet, to German held Oslo stirred speculation here today on what part naval and air bases and the concentration of troops in Norway might be playing in German plans for an invasion of England.

Some reports said Germany is ready to employ exceptionally large flying boats in the transport of troops from Norway as well as numerous armed merchantmen. Admiral Raeder recently inspected German naval bases there.

Observers believed his return to Oslo meant he was supervising application of a detailed plan worked out after his first visit.

REACH AMIENS, CAMBRAI; BERLIN CLAIMS BOULOGNE

Allies Repulse Foes South of Sedan; Hitler Troops Press on Calais.

The high commands of the German and French armies yesterday announced military claims which conflicted. However, both admitted that four great battles were raging on the western front. Here are the two verisons of the engagements:

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 23.—Allied forces counterattacking to check the stream of German troops toward the English channel today made two dents in the salient which the Nazis have driven into northwestern France.

The dents, made at Amiens and Cambrai, seemed to constitute a pincer movement periling the German salient which juts west to the channel.

This was one of four great battles which raged during the day. They were:

BATTLE OF THE SALIENT—The dent in the southern side of the salient, at Amiens, was made by furiously attacking French troops, while at Cambrai, on the northern side of the spearhead, combined forces of British, French, and Belgian troops fought their way to the outskirts of that city.

BATTLE OF BOULOGNE—The French remained silent on the status of Boulogne, channel port only 26 miles from Folkestone, England, but Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain told the house of commons that "fighting is proceeding in and around Boulogne."

BATTLE OF THE SCHELDT—The Germans unleashed powerful attacks in this region and, with the aid of tanks and dive bombers, were said to have forced a passage at Audenarde, south of Ghent. The British official communique acknowledged the German penetration, but later Belgian advices said the line had been reformed and the Germans thrown back.

BATTLE OF THE SOUTH FRONT—The French repulsed a strong German attack southwest of Sedan in the Attigny sector. The Nazi assault was preceded by strong artillery fire.

The fiercest fighting of the day apparently raged in the Cambrai-Valenciennes sector, with the Germans striking back with great power and speed to retard the allied drive—a drive intended to break the trap which the Germans say they have sprung on 500,000

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 23.—The German high command tonight admitted that the report of German possession of Boulogne, French seaport on the English channel, "might be true," but was emphatic in saying that German forces are "moving westward in the general direction of Calais, 20 miles up the coast from Boulogne.

Calais, which is only 22 miles from the chalk cliffs of Dover, England, has been the goal of the German army ever since this European war began. For months the German general staff and the entire war machine have concentrated their careful and systematic preparations on this problem.

From Calais, the Germans, with their air force, their magnetic mines, and their long range guns, could control wide stretches of the North sea and the English channel and then could start their descent on England.

BATTLE OF THE SALIENT—Allied troops encircled near Valenciennes, France, continued to fight desperately, the high command stated. "The forest region of Mormal, southeast of Valenciennes, where the French forces attempted to flee, has been mopped up," it was stated.

Allied motorized forces, it was said, on May 22 tried to break thru the German lines near and east of Cambrai. The Germans admitted that the English scored "local minor successes," but said the German air force, reënforcing the army, enabled the Germans to regain the upper hand "with enemy losses."

BATTLE OF BOULOGNE—Altho the British were reported here to have admitted the German capture of Boulogne, only 26 miles across the channel from Folkestone, England, German authorized sources would not confirm the news, but declared they assumed "it might be true, in view of the general situation."

Boulogne, a city of 50,000 population, is 105 miles airline from London. The Boulogne-Folkestone steamer route had been the only one available to travelers until recently.

BATTLE OF THE SCHELDT—Of the northeastern arm of the giant German pincers pressing in perhaps one million British, French, and Belgian troops fighting with their backs to the channel, the high command said: "In Flanders our attack over the Scheldt [river] is slowly winning ground against heavy enemy resistance." Heaviest fighting was believed to be in the region of Audenarde, on the Scheldt, 16 miles south of Ghent, Belgium.

BATTLE OF THE SOUTH FRONT—The German front from the Somme to the Meuse is slowly inclining forward, military sources declared. It was asserted the French and the English no longer were attempting offensive movements in this region. From this front, it is asserted, Germany's long range guns could reach Paris if the German high command and Fuehrer Hitler became convinced that an artillery attack against the capital of France could be "useful either from the military or political viewpoint."

Quite a number of Nazis still believe in the possibility of a revolution of the French population against its government to compel it to make a compromise with the Germans.

Struggle to Settle First.

Before the German descent on England can start, the huge battle between trapped French, English and Belgian forces and encircling German legions must be decided.

The German people were warned by their leaders that they must show patience because "those in the encirclement show a similarity to those in the battle of Kutno in the war against Poland. [In the battle from Sept. 10 to 15, 1939, the Germans encircled and claimed to have captured 170,000 Poles in the region east of Posen—Poznan.]

"It must be remembered," Germans were told, "that infinitely stronger forces are in Flanders and Artois and that their leaders are more efficient than those of the Poles. Their protracted fighting is to be expected."

Steadily Increasing Pressure.

Military experts declared that as "the pincers press the allied forces together into smaller and smaller areas, the deadliness of the attacks of the German air force bombing and machine gunning them increases steadily."

With the Germans succeeding in pushing closer to Calais, the chances of the encircled forces breaking thru the German lines have lessened, the Germans declare.

It was reported that in the allied attempt to break thru by the use of tanks in the Cambrai sector, German anti-aircraft guns, firing at high speed on a flat trajectory, played an important part in the defeat of the foe. In the Cambrai sector as on all other parts of the front German Stukas [dive bombers], diving down on the enemy also proved a decisive factor.

Power-diving Stuka bombers and wasplike torpedo speed boats, collaborated in smashes at the Allies' rear guard, blasting at transports, supply ships, and war craft in the channel.

Report Dover Bombed.

The German high command reported its air force had "effectually bombed" the "harbor facilities" of Dunkirk [Dunkerque] on the French side of the channel and Dover on the English side. [The British denied Dover had been bombed.]

Three transports and a tanker, totaling 20,000 tons, and one destroyer were said to have been sunk and a destroyer "heavily damaged" yesterday while German motor torpedo boats sank an allied destroyer off Dunkirk.

The aim of these attacks was to paralyze all communications between the British isles and the encircled troops.

Scoff at Casualty Figures.

German authorities ridiculed allied assertions that at least 500,000 Germans had been lost in the westward drive since it started, declaring that "in the light of successes and expectations of the German leadership, our casualties are small.

"Without a doubt the opponent has suffered much heavier losses because of the operations of our air force and our armored units in the midst of the enemy ranks."

The high command reported that the allies lost nine planes yesterday and acknowledged that five German planes were missing.

Berlin sources asserted that British troops, entrapped by the swift mechanized thrust to the channel region, were falling back to the shore and were "embarking at several French coastal points."

These sources said that a number of transports bound for England had fallen victim to German air bombs yesterday. It was not stated immediately whether they were loaded.

The Germans said that air reconnaissance had disclosed the British movements and embarkments.

Mrs. Martha Triebel, 68 years old, Flossmoor, has received one of the silver Nazi crosses being sent to German mothers by Adolf Hitler to honor them for having large families. Mrs. Triebel and her husband, Henry, came to the United States 17 years ago from Germany, bringing six of their seven children. All six, now 31 to 41 years old, became naturalized American citizens.

The cross, which Mrs. Triebel said she received from Berlin last week by mail, is about three inches high and two inches across. It is faced with blue and white enamel. In the center is a Nazi swastika enameled in blue, encircled by an inscription in German, reading "The German Mother."

LINKS CUBAN INTERESTS WITH THOSE OF U. S.

HAVANA, Cuba, May 23 (AP).—"The interests of the United States also will be Cuba's" in case of any danger to the democratic policies of the western hemisphere, Col. Fulgencio Batista, Cuban "strong man" candidate for president, said tonight in an interview. He said Cuba will do whatever is necessary in the way of building fortifications on the island in event of real danger to America.

He discounted the possibility of a German attack on any country in the western hemisphere, but said that if Adolf Hitler won the European war it would constitute a real danger for the whole world—including the German people.

Batista asserted that danger to the western world would arise from a division among the Pan-American republics.

to 1,000,000 troops in this sector and farther north in Belgium.

Move Up From South.

Besides the troops which attacked at Amiens, still another French force was moving up from the south to attempt to join in the fighting near Cambrai. This force left its stabilized line near Laon and was fighting its way from the region of St. Quentin, 25 miles away. Liaison would pinch off the Nazi salient near its base.

Running from Belgium south along the Scheldt river to Valenciennes. Turning southwest to Cambrai, and west toward Arras and then southwest, cutting the Arras-Bapaume highway. Dropping across the German salient to the Somme and running east along the Somme and Aisne to Montmedy.

Discover Empty Corridor.

From Bapaume to the Somme river the Germans discovered an empty corridor which they used for launching more armored columns toward the sea.

In the air, the French said that pursuit planes had beaten off an attack by 80 German bombers. Eight German planes, it was said, were destroyed, while there were no French losses.

The admiralty acknowledged the loss of three naval vessels in operations off the Dutch and Belgian coasts. They were the submarine Doris, the destroyer L'Adroit, and the supply ship Niger.

Weygand Goes to Front.

Gen. Maxime Weygand, the new allied commander in chief, left for the front to take personal charge of the operations, it was announced.

The French government, it was disclosed, will remain in Paris, and there will be no evacuation of vital industries. Neither will there be any more evacuations of civilian populations, unless they are ordered by the military command.

CHURCHILL VOWS ENGLAND WON'T ASK PEACE ALONE

LONDON, May 23 (AP). — Prime Minister Churchill repeated today Neville Chamberlain's pledge that Britain would never make a separate peace with Germany.

In a written reply to a question whether he renewed the pledge to conclude no peace except in agreement with France, Churchill answered one word:

"Yes."

BRITAIN SPEEDS SUPER ARMS DRIVE; EXTEND HOURS OF CHILDREN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 23.—Britain's super drive for arms got under way in earnest today. All factories working on government contracts were ordered to speed up production on a seven day week basis, orders extending the hours of work in key industries were being drafted, hours for juvenile workers in important industries were being extended from 47 to 57 weekly, and local labor supply committees were set up in all industrial areas, empowered to transfer labor from one industry to another and from place to place as required.

Engineering plants prepared to absorb a vast number of women workers. An estimated 1,500,000 will be needed within a few months. One hundred thousand already are employed. Wages start at about $5.60 weekly for inexperienced women, plus piecework rates, and it has been estimated unskilled women should be able to earn up to $16 weekly. However, under the dictator laws passed last night, the government can regulate wages, and political circles tonight suggested workers might have to take lower pay.

OFFER RESERVE OFFICERS SIX MONTHS IN ARMY

Six months of active service in the regular army has been authorized by the war department for first and second lieutenants in the reserve corps, Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding the 6th corps area and the 2d army, announced yesterday.

Fifty-two of the 601 reserve officers to be trained will come from the Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin area. They must be under 30 years of age, have less than six years service, and have had little or no extended duty with the regular army. Officers will be called for service in the infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, engineer corps, signal corps, quartermaster corps, and ordnance department.

Captains and first lieutenants in the medical, dental, and veterinary reserves, less than 35 years of age, will be accepted for active duty for a period of one year.

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD SWAMPED BY JOB SEEKERS

New York, May 23 [Special].—More than 6,200 job seekers applied at the navy yard in Brooklyn today as work was placed permanently on a two-shift basis in response to President Roosevelt's demand for speed in rearmament. There have been 20,000 applicants for jobs since Monday.

Despite the large number seeking work few qualified as the highly skilled artisans required at the yard. Workers most needed are expert welders, tool makers, and machinists. Under the two-shift plan one group works from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. and the other from 4 p. m. to midnight.

About 11,500 men are now employed at the yard, where 12 destroyers are being reconditioned and the 35,000 ton battleship North Carolina is to be launched on June 13. The keel for the 45,000 ton battleship Iowa will be laid the first week of June.

SPORTSMEN RUSH TO JOIN 'MINUTE MEN' OF NATION

Many Marksmen Pledge Aid to Organizers.

America's sportsmen gunners continued to volunteer yesterday to defend their country as members of the defense reserve corps now being organized by Chicago hunters and riflemen.

Offers of coöperation in the formation of the defense unit in time of war were received from rod, gun, and rifle clubs thruout the country. Scores of individual sportsmen competent in handling rifles and shotguns also offered to serve.

Committee Meets Monday.

A report on all the offers will feature a meeting Monday noon in the Chicago Athletic club of the sportsmen's defense reserve organizing committee. Walter C. Peacock is chairman.

Members of the committee are William L. Bourland, president of the Lincoln Park Gun club; Larry E. Doll, secretary of the Illinois Skeet association; William T. Lodge, Monticello, executive secretary of the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs; Russell Wiles Jr., rifle coach at the University of Chicago and a director of the Illinois Rifle association, and Glen Smith, member of the skeet committee of the Glen View Golf club.

Wiles, who has been active in Illinois and national rifle circles for many years, said yesterday that the National Rifle association was originally organized more than 50 years ago for defense purposes, and that he was sure rifle enthusiasts all over the country are in accord with the ideals behind the sportsmen's defense reserve.

Group Offers Clubhouse.

Typical of the offers of coöperation received by Mr. Peacock is a letter from M. C. Satrang, president of the Orfordville Skeet and Gun club, Orfordville, Wis. He wrote as follows:

"Here in this small community the members of our club are 100 per cent interested in the sportsmen's defense reserve. Let us know how we can help. Most of the men here are deer hunters, and each fall we convert our trap and skeet club into a site for practicing on imitation deer targets with high-powered rifles. Our clubhouse is at your disposal if you can use it as headquarters of sportsmen in this area who are interested in this patriotic cause."

W. A. Seely, president of the Freeport Gun club, Freeport, Ill., has offered the coöperation of the 60 members of his group.

Many Clubs Enrolling.

Each day since the movement was announced in THE TRIBUNE numerous clubs of skeet and trap shooters, riflemen, and other sportsmen have enlisted in the patriotic non-military movement, it was stated.

Comments from leaders follow:

John Fraser, president of the Milwaukee Gun club, and Henry Brown, Wisconsin Trapshooters association: We heartily indorse your proposal of a defense movement utilizing American trap shooters and riflemen who know how to handle sporting firearms. We desire to coöperate.

Frank J. Kelbel, president of the Shabbona Gun club—Be assured of the enrollment and approval of our membership in the defense movement.

Henry Ahlin, president of the National Skeet association—Please extend our good wishes for the success of sportsmen's defense reserve. We heartily approve and indorse this timely and worthwhile interest in our American homes.

Phil Miller, French Lick, Ind., captain of the all-American trapshooting team—Proficiency at breaking moving targets makes the nation's skeet and trap shooters a potent force against any possible parachute invaders.

A. D. Buchanan, secretary of the Writing Trapshooters club, Whiting, Ind.—Congratulations on the patriotic program proposed. Whiting club ready to coöperate.

T. L. Welch, Giles post, 87, American Legion, 5745 South State street—A number of our members served in the front line trenches and feel qualified to aid your worthwhile movement in case of a crisis.

MOSLEY SEIZED IN BRITISH RAIDS ON 5TH COLUMN

Other Extremists Rounded Up by Scotland Yard.

BY JOSEPH CERUTTI.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 23.—Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist chief, and 33 members of his Black Shirt organization, including six women, were arrested and jailed today on orders from Home Secretary Sir John Anderson. John Beckett, formerly one of Mosley's principal lieutenants and now secretary of the pacifist British People's party, and Capt. A. H. M. Ramsay, Conservative member of parliament, were also imprisoned, it was announced.

The roundup of those suspected of fifth column activities, except for Ramsay, was carried out under defense regulation 18-B, which allows the government to hold without public trial members of any organizations "which have had associations with the enemy or are subject to foreign influence or control and which may be used for purposes prejudicial to national security."

This provision was added to existing war emergency law by parliament only last night.

Busy Under New Powers.

All of today Scotland Yard detectives were busy putting the new powers into operation. Mosley was arrested at his home in Westminster shortly after a lightning raid by 50 Scotland Yard detectives on the British Fascist union headquarters. Ramsay was seized as he was returning home by car to Scotland.

Ramsay, the anti-Semitic president of the so-called "Right club," was educated for the army at Eton and Sandhurst, the British West Point. As a member of the famed Coldstream guard, he fought in France during the world war. He was severely wounded in 1916 and was invalided from the army in 1919 after service at the war office and with a British war mission to Paris.

When a member of parliament asked whether the home secretary would give the reason for Ramsay's arrest, the speaker said, "Not at this stage."

Planned in Secrecy.

All the raids were planned by the home office in complete secrecy. Even Scotland Yard did not know about the plans until branch detectives arrived from their normal duties and were formed into squads and sent to various addresses with lists of people to be arrested.

The detectives raiding the Fascist headquarters mingled with the crowds in the street until they were given a signal and converged on the building.

Seized by Five Detectives.

Mosley himself was taken into custody by five detectives as he returned to his apartment with his wife, whose sister, Unity Freeman-Mitford, is a close friend of Fuehrer Adolf Hitler.

[Lady Mosley is the former Diana Guinness. Sir Oswald's first wife was the former Lady Cynthia Blanche Curzon, a daughter of the late Marquis Curzon of Kedleston and a granddaughter of the late Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago. She died in 1933.]

Assailed in House of Lords.

"How do we know that this man [Lord Haw Haw] is not receiving information from his friends in British Fascist groups?" demanded Lord Elibanks. "Sir Oswald Mosley has a great deal to answer for."

["Lord Haw Haw" is generally supposed in Britain to be a traitorous Englishman who was in Germany before the war started and stayed on to take the broadcasting job.]

While Mosley was being lodged in the Brixton jail in southwest London, another squad of detectives raided his home in Grosvenor road overlooking the Thames river. The house had not been occupied for six months and the police forced their entry thru a window, searched the windows and took a large quantity of documents. Later tonight it was reported the police also combed his country residence at Denham, Buckinghamshire.

None of those arrested will be tried in public, it was stated, but they will have the right to appeal to an advisory committee set up at the beginning of the war.

BILLION AND HALF VOTED BY SENATE TO BUILD UP NAVY

Completes Action on Vast Defense Program.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—The senate completed its action on the pending 3 billion 300 million dollar national defense program today by passing unanimously a bill providing 1 billion 473 million dollars for the navy during the 1941 fiscal year.

The vote was 78 to 0, four more senators being recorded than the 74 who voted unanimously yesterday in passing the 1 billion 823 million dollar war department appropriation bill. The two measures include additions of more than 1 billion 300 million dollars made by the senate under President Roosevelt's emergency armaments program and were returned to the house for the concurrence of that body.

3,006 Planes Included.

The navy bill includes funds for the procurement of 3,006 planes, of which 2,535 will be training craft; for expanding the navy's pilot training program; for expediting the completion of 6 warships now under construction, and for laying down, during the next fiscal year, two battleships of 45,000 tons each, one aircraft carrier, two cruisers, eight destroyers, and six submarines.

The only subject of controversy during the senate's two hours of debate on the navy bill was the question whether the country has been getting its money's worth for the vast amounts appropriated in recent years for national defense.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky took occasion to denounce charges made in congress and reported by the press that much of the 7 billion dollars appropriated for the army and navy under the Roosevelt administration has been wasted.

Walsh Gives Figures.

Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the national affairs committee, submitted figures showing that a total of $4,478,954,5[illegible] was appropriated for the navy during the fiscal years 1930 to 1939, inclusive. Later he asserted that a total of $336,935,780 of emergency funds were made available to the navy during the fiscal years 1934 to 1939, inclusive.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] recalled that out of the original 3 billion 300 million dollar public works appropriation of 1933 about 275 million dollars was turned over to the navy for ship construction and that two years later "not a keel had been laid down, not a plan had been drawn, not a rivet had been tapped, and not a man employed in the United States as a result of that allocation."

"I have no desire to prove that the navy is not in first class fighting shape," said Senator Clark, "but I should like to inquire as to these figures of fighting ships put on the sea, including the topheavy destroyers and the cruisers whose steering bases shatter every time they try to use them—the 10,000 ton cruisers which are more or less useless because of vibration."

Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], chairman of the naval appropriations subcommittee, said the experts of the navy did not believe there was any justification for the charges made by Senator Clark. As to the topheavy destroyers, he said, it was found "that in rounding in a rough sea they were topheavy, as the senator from Missouri calls it, but they were repaired, changes were made in those destroyers, and the total cost, as I recall it, was about $200,000."

Minton Challenges Clark.

Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.] challenged Clark's statement about the vibrating cruisers.

"I do not feel at liberty to disclose the names of the naval officers who told me that, because they might be subject to discipline," Senator Clark replied. "However, I have been told by very competent naval officers that cruisers of the 10,000 ton class were subject to such extreme vibration that it was very difficult to fire from them."

Byrnes replied that some naval officers might entertain such an opinion, depending upon their digestion or general feeling or whether their advice had been followed, but that "the general board, the responsible officials of the navy, have no such information as to the cruisers."

Defends His Information.

"I will say that the information as to the topheavy destroyers came from the statement of the chief of naval operations, which was published in newspapers all over the country," Clark said.

Byrnes said he had served on the naval appropriations committees of the house and senate for 20 years and could assure the American people that they have a right to be satisfied with their navy.

"I believe that today the navy is in better fighting condition than it has been at any time in our history," he declared.

The official testimony on the navy bill, published today, disclosed that the appropriations committee gave the navy 1,735 training planes more than had been allowed for it by President Roosevelt and his budget bureau under the new emergency program.

Boost Sought by Admiral.

The President's supplemental recommendations, submitted to congress last week, included funds for 800 training planes, but Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, wanted additional contractual authority of $100,000,000 with which to order 1,735 more training planes.

"Why did you hesitate to ask for it, or why are you not asking for it?" asked Senator Francis T. Maloney [D., Conn.].

"Because it did not come within the limitations of the total amount of cash and authorization that we were authorized to present," said Admiral Towers.

"So, if you felt that you had complete freedom you probably would have asked for more money for planes?" Senator Maloney continued.

"Yes," Admiral Towers replied.

Senator Advises Caution.

"I think this is really important, because the question constantly arises, and will arise again, as to the need for getting planes for ourselves, while we are anxious to ship planes abroad," Senator Maloney declared. "In connection with the training of pilots, I think we should be extra careful and extra cautious and particularly certain that we get enough planes for the training of new pilots."

At a hearing today before the senate naval affairs committee, Admiral Towers explained that the navy must have the training planes to proceed with its proposed new pilot training program.

Towers was testifying in support of a pending bill to increase the statutory limit on naval planes from 3,000 to 10,000, to authorize training facilities for 16,000 pilots, and to authorize the establishment of completion of 20 naval air stations in the United States and its possessions at a cost of $124,132,000.

Training 100 a Month.

The navy is turning out about 100 pilots a month at the Pensacola, Fla., station. This is to be increased to 300 a month and another training station is to be established at Corpus Christi, Tex., which will increase the total output to between 400 and 500 a month.

The navy now has 2,958 pilots on active duty and there are 417 naval aviators on the inactive list who could be called in an emergency, Admiral Towers said. By July 1, 1941, he declared, the navy will have trained a total of 3,850 pilots, including those already trained; by July 1, 1942, the total will reach 6,800; by July 1, 1943, it will reach 12,100, and by July 1, 1944, it will reach 18,500.

1,800 Planes on Hand.

The navy now has about 1,800 planes on hand and about 1,000 on order.

Besides the $100,000,000 contractual authorization, the senate additions to the navy bill under the new armaments program included $54,000,000 to increase the enlisted strength of the navy by 25,000 to 170,000 and the enlisted strength of the marine corps by 9,000 to 34,000 and to increase the firing range of the old battleships Texas, Arkansas, and New York.

The bill includes 68 million dollars of the 200 million dollar blank check requested by the President, the other 132 million having been placed in the army appropriation bill.

It also includes the additional $250,000,000 requested for the navy in President Roosevelt's message last week.

Apportionment Explained.

This $250,000,000 is as much of a blank check as the President's personal authorization, but Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, said it would be expended substantially as follows:

1. $100,000,000 for aviation expansion, including increased pilot training facilities and 800 training planes.
2. $100,000,000 for speeding up construction of the 66 warships now building.
3. $50,000,000 for urgent national defense items, including armament, ammunition, and other naval equipment.

ROOSEVELT TO GIVE DEFENSE REVIEW ON RADIO SUNDAY NIGHT

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt will broadcast to the nation Sunday night a defense message described at the White House as a "straightforward and factual report from the government to the people."

The "fireside chat," the President's first since the outbreak of the European war Sept. 3, will be carried by the three national radio networks. It will begin at 9:30 p. m., Chicago daylight time, and is expected to last about half an hour.

Stephen Early, White House secretary, in making this announcement today, indicated that, in addition to talking about the actual rearmament aspects of defense as embodied in his army, navy, and air expansion program, Mr. Roosevelt also would touch upon economic problems, including those of agriculture and labor.

EXPERTS TRY OUT JOHNSON RIFLE; CALLED SUCCESS

New Semiautomatic Gun Offered Army.

Tests made on the Fort Sheridan rifle range convinced expert riflemen yesterday that the new Johnson semiautomatic military rifle, under consideration as a standard arm of the United States army and navy, had proved itself to be an efficient and accurate quick firing weapon.

A bill introduced last week by Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee, would add the Johnson semiautomatic rifle to the small arms officially employed by the nation's armed forces. At present the Garand semiautomatic rifle is the approved weapon.

Illinois Champion Tests It.

Test rounds fired by John B. George of Chicago, 1938 all-around Illinois champion with the military rifle, demonstrated to the satisfaction of expert observers that the Johnson rifle is easily handled, that it shoots well, that its center of impact is maintained in transitions of barrel heat from cold to hot, and that it does not overheat.

Geoffrey G. Whitney Jr., a representative of Johnson Automatics, Inc., of Boston, Mass., manufacturers of the weapon, claimed these additional advantages for the rifle:

1. The short forearm and lack of a wooden hand guard covering the barrel prevent the rifle from overheating at normal rapid fire. Wooden barrel guards have a tendency to retain heat in the barrel.

2. The weapon, which takes 10 cartridges at a time in its rotary magazine, can be loaded by regulation Springfield brass clips of five cartridges each, or by a single cartridge. A soldier can keep his magazine filled by adding single cartridges and need not finish out the magazine before reloading.

3. The weapon is easily assembled or disassembled even on the field. A replacement part, such as a barrel, can be substituted from a weapon belonging to a soldier who has been put out of action.

Invented by Bostonian.

The rifle, invented by Melvin M. Johnson Jr. of Boston in 1936, weighs 9½ pounds [with bayonet attached a half pound more]. It is 45⅝ inches long and its barrel is 22 inches long. As a semiautomatic it fires one shot with each squeeze of the trigger. It accommodates any standard .30 caliber military ammunition. Recoil caused by explosion of a cartridge is used to operate the rifle, ejecting the spent shell and throwing an unfired cartridge into the chamber in a single action. The sight is from pointblank to 1,000 yards range.

Whitney said the rifle could be placed in production within 12 months or less at an estimated cost per gun of less than $100.

George's tests were made at 200 yards against a 10 inch bull's-eye target. Wind conditions did not affect the accuracy of the firing. Standard government M1 cartridges, now being replaced by the M2 type, were used. The M1 develops a gas pressure of 45,000 pounds to the square inch and fires a 172 grain bullet at a muzzle velocity of 2,670 feet.

George first fired 16 shots slowly from a prone position, with the gun in a sling. He placed a group of bullets in the target in a space 10½ inches wide and 6¼ inches high. Whitney then fired 100 unaimed shots in 2 minutes and 48 seconds to ascertain to what extent the weapon would heat under rapid fire conditions. Before the rifle had time to cool, George fired another 16 shots slowly.

Heat Mirage Hurts Aim.

This second group of slow shots were spaced in an area 8½ inches wide and 10½ inches high, with the center of impact one inch below the bull's-eye, or a variance of 6 inches from that of the first group of aimed shots. The shooter said that he did not believe the drop in the center of impact was caused by overheating of the barrel and consequent warping, but rather to a mirage formed by heat waves rising from the barrel and distorting his vision.

RED CROSS TO SEND A MERCY SHIP WITH SUPPLIES TO FRANCE

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP).—The first "mercy ship" the Red Cross has sent abroad since 1914 will be loaded immediately with a million dollars worth of relief supplies at Jersey City and will sail about June 1 for Bordeaux, France.

Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, made this announcement today. He said the maritime commission had agreed to make available either the Artegas or the McKeesport, government-owned craft.

Davis said it was decided to send the ship quickly because of the condition of "at least 5,000,000 refugees streaming toward southern France from the northern part of the country, Belgium, Holland, and Luxemburg." The supplies will include clothes, drugs, soap, cooking utensils, gauze, and foodstuffs.

GERMAN PLANES SWARM OVER NARVIK SECTOR

Attack Allied Forces from New Bases.

BULLETIN.

GOTEBORG, Sweden, May 24, Friday (AP).—Lifting of the blackout from all Sweden was ordered, effective today, amid an easing of alarm provoked by the European war. Blackout of the entire country was ordered on May 12, after Germany's invasion of the Netherlands and Belgium, for an indefinite period.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 23 (AP).—German warplanes swarmed over the Norwegian Arctic sector of Narvik again today, seeking both allied troops and shipping in the continued struggle in the far north.

Dispatches from the Narvik area indicated the Germans were operating from newly established flying bases in central Norway to get at Polish units which reportedly landed recently to aid French "Blue Devils" and Norwegian troops.

Big Battle Next Week.

An attack on Harstad, northwest of Narvik, may have been a strike at what the Germans thought might be the allied headquarters.

Reports reaching here said the decisive struggle for possession of the Narvik sector may not be fought until next week, pending the establishment of Polish units composed of picked men who have had training in the Carpathian mountains.

Refugees Allowed to Return.

OSLO, Norway, May 23 (AP).—German authorities here announced today that permission had been granted for all Norwegian civilian citizens interned in Sweden to return to Norway. It is estimated that 3,000 fled from their homes when the Germans arrived in April.

Report Norwegian Successes.

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—A series of Norwegian army successes in the still bitter fighting in northern Norway was reported today in a Reuters [British news agency] dispatch. Quoting a Norwegian communique from "somewhere in Norway," the dispatch declared:

"Wednesday—In the region of the Lofoten Islands [opposite the Arctic iron ore port of Narvik] Norwegian troops today conquered Lilleballak and Kobbefjeld and forced Germans down from the mountain of Layau between Lilleballak and Kuberget."

A small British force in the Kosjoen area of Norway engaged a greatly superior enemy force with a loss of only one British soldier to 70 Germans killed, it was reported tonight.

U. of C. Paper Urges War Preparedness Instruction

The establishment of courses in military preparedness is advocated in an editorial in the June issue of Pulse, student magazine at the University of Chicago. Such studies should not be compulsory and should carry no credit, the magazine said.

U. S. ARMY TWICE AS STRONG AS ITS '17 COUNTERPART

Better Trained, Equipped, and with Reserves.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—The United States army today is more than twice as strong and far better equipped and trained than it was at the outbreak of the world war.

The army today numbers 228,000 officers and men. At the outbreak of the world war, altho it had an authorized strength of 130,000, the army's actual strength was 102,000.

The National Guard today numbers 235,000 officers and men. At the outbreak of the world war this force numbered slightly more than 130,000 officers and men.

The guardsmen played an important part in the last war. The experience the service gained on the Mexican border in 1916 enabled guard units to step into the western front along with regular troops and acquit themselves well.

In the reserve corps today, the army has 105,000 officers and 40,000 enlisted men. At the outbreak of the world war the army had almost no organized reserves except a few retired officers.

5 Million with Some Training.

In addition to the regular army, militia and organized reserves, the nation today has more than 160,000 young men enrolled in college and high school reserve officer training corps and about 40,000 young men enrolled for citizens military training camps this summer.

In addition the nation has 2,400,000 young men who have served in the civilian conservation corps, where they were subjected to the discipline of camp life. There are 280,000 now in its ranks. These along with an estimated 2,400,000 who have graduated from the R. O. T. C., C. M. T. C., and military schools, provide about 5 million men who have had some training or camp life and who can be mustered for war.

It is believed that many members of the R. O. T. C., C. M. T. C., and CCC, as well as other trained young men, would volunteer in the event of war. Under conscription plans they would not be called to the colors sooner than nontrained men, but would be drawn by lot in their age classes.

Products of War Experience.

At the outbreak of the world war there was no R. O. T. C., C. M. T. C., or CCC. There were a few hundred men who had received training at such camps as Plattsburg, N. Y.—the beginning of the C. M. T. C. idea. There also were graduates of military schools, but these were not as numerous as they are today.

Today the growth of interest in rifle shooting as a sport is of defense importance. Already sportsmen and rifle clubs have volunteered to guard areas in which they live against surprise attack by parachute troops.

The move to enlist the nation's eight million sportsmen into a home defense reserve started in Chicago and spread rapidly thruout the nation. Hundreds of organizations have asked for details from the headquarters established by a group of clubs in Chicago.

60,000 In Outposts.

Of the 228,000 men in the army, approximately 60,000 are on duty in the nation's possessions and the remaining 168,000 in continental United States. The United States no longer maintains troops in China, but it has 11,000 in the Philippines, of whom approximately one-half are Philippine Scouts; 20,000 in Hawaii, 20,000 in the Panama Canal Zone, 6,000 in Puerto Rico, and others in less important strategic outposts.

The 168,000 troops in continental United States are on duty in the nine army corps areas into which the country is divided. The corps areas are subdivisions of four army areas.

Roughly, the first of these army areas embraces Atlantic coast states from Virginia to Maine; second, the Great Lakes states; third, the South Atlantic, Gulf and Mexican border states, to California; the fourth, all states west of the Mississippi river which are not in the third army area.

500 Military Establishments.

Chicago is in the sixth corps area, which includes Michigan, Wisconsin, and Illinois, and in the second army area, which includes, in addition to the states mentioned, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

In the nine corps areas are more than 500 army posts, camps and stations. There are 11 manufacturing arsenals and more than 40 arms or service depots.

The army maintains the finest officer school in the world at West Point, N. Y. Graduates of this school, if commissioned in the regular army, serve a few years with troops and then go to the special school for their branch of the service.

These include the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., the field artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla., the cavalry school at Fort Reilly, Kas., and the engineer school at Fort Belvoir, Va.

A few officers, after completing courses in their own service, are sent to other army service schools or to foreign military schools.

Officers Continue Studies.

After 12 or 15 years, officers who have kept up their high standard of efficiency become eligible for the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kas. About half of those who complete either of these courses attend the army war college in Washington. Officers enter this highly specialized course about 20 years after receiving their first commission.

No officer can expect to rise above the rank of colonel without attending the staff and command schools and the war college, except by special presidential action. The rigid course of officer training is said by the war department to compare favorably with that practiced by the French and the Germans. It was unknown before the world war.

Enlisted men also are far better trained than they were before the world war. Both officers and men receive more training in mock war maneuvers, which before the world war were unknown on the scale they are being held today in the third army area on the Texas-Louisiana border.

Army Stronger Than in 1914

(Story in adjoining column.)

NAZIS REVERSE STRATEGY; TAKE MIDDLE POSITION

Picture of Battlefield Reveals Tactics.

The picture revealed a complete reversal of all German plans hitherto known or presumed. The German army occupies a central position in contrast to previous German strategy of concentrating on enveloping movements by one or both wings.

20 Mile Breach Revealed.

The most striking characteristic of the battlefield is that it has a breach of some 20 miles thru which the Germans pour light motorized columns to ravage the countryside and harass communications. This gateway lies from Bapaume to the Somme river.

North of it, along a line from Bapaume thru Arras, Cambrai, Valenciennes, Tournai, Audenarde, and Ghent, the Belgians and British, together with some French units, are fighting a retreating battle. This battle began facing east, developed a southern front during the last few days, and, in view of the German drive to the coast, is seen developing a western front also.

French Guard Line to Sea.

South of the gateway stand the French on a line from the sea along the Somme, thru Amiens, Laon, Rethel, and Montmedy, then along the Maginot line to the Rhine river.

The front from northern Belgium to Arras is described here as "continuous, solid, and well organized." Against it the Germans last night launched a series of attacks, which continued today, and which were "withstood" except near Audenarde, where they forced a passage. According to the latest Belgian reports, this breach was in the process of being filled.

GEN. GIRAUD, FRENCH ARMY LEADER, HELD AT VILLA, NAZIS CLAIM

BERLIN, May 23 (AP).—Gen. Henri Giraud, a prisoner of war identified by the Germans as the commander of the broken 9th French army, is in custody with his staff at a villa somewhere in Germany.

Pictures were circulated in Berlin showing the general being helped out of a plane. Giraud, according to German accounts, was captured three days ago.

The German press recalls that this is Giraud's second experience as a war prisoner. In the world war Giraud, then a captain, was wounded and captured in 1914 but escaped in 1917 to return to the fighting.

PARIS DONS ARMY UNIFORMS, BUT IT IS STILL PARIS

Everything Changes; Yet It's All the Same.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 23.—Within the last week Paris has shed its civilian clothes and gotten into a military uniform. With thousands of refugees streaming thru the city, the French capital has been compelled in Premier Paul Reynaud's phrase to "think war" and to live it as well.

The population is living definitely and grimly in an atmosphere of war, an atmosphere which is intensified by air raid alarms, fantastic rumors, and new restrictions.

Every effort is being made by the authorities to shove Parisian frivolity and lightness into the background.

Early Closing Ordered.

Theaters, music halls, and motion picture houses [here three words were censored] must close at 11 o'clock. Last week all dance halls in Paris were closed. Today Georges Mandel, minister of the interior, extended this order to all France. He also ordered the closing of all gaming establishments on French territory.

Every hour, by what he sees, hears, and does, the Parisian is reminded of the war. For example, Parisian policemen now carry rifles instead of clubs. Newspapers have been cut to 4 pages and on some days to 2.

Autobuses have vanished from the streets; they are "somewhere in France" transporting soldiers, or refugees, or both. It is not wise to wander about the capital without your identity papers, since raids upon the cafés are frequent occurrences. Only one radio station is permitted to broadcast music and entertainment; all others are shut down except for news broadcasts.

The Population Is Changing.

And the population of Paris is continually changing. Most of the children already have left, and many women as well. The men who remain are in the majority "involuntary bachelors" staying in Paris because they must.

Paris railroad stations are jammed with travelers, many of them excited and nervous, seeking to leave for points south and west. Many wait for hours to be permitted to stand in the trains. Despite increased traffic some train services have been suppressed and other schedules curtailed.

Refugees by the thousands—Dutch, Belgian, and French—are additional evidence that the war has come to the doorstep of Paris. Some of these refugees, who are rich, come in luxurious motor cars and register at the Ritz; others, miserable and poor, are grateful for a cot in a Salvation Army dormitory. All have dramatic tales to tell of the suffering and danger they have endured, of pathetic and heart stirring incidents they have witnessed.

Peace Time Delights Remain.

And yet, in this poignant atmosphere of war, many peace time delights remain. Sidewalk cafés have not lost their attraction nor their customers. True, on three days of the week, it is impossible to order hard liquor. One may still drink good wine and eat good food, altho the menus are not so varied as formerly. If a Parisian wishes to hear "Tosca" or "Carmen," the Opera Comique beckons to him altho he must be in his place at 6 o'clock instead of 8 o'clock. Theaters and cabarets remain open on a wartime schedule.

Parisian parks welcome idlers and strollers—mostly women, oldsters, and youngsters—as last year. Finally, Parisian clubs have not closed their doors, the chief difference being that many more members now wear the French uniform.

Despite Secretary of State Cordell Hull's suggestion that Americans should leave, most of the members of the American colony—women and children excepted—are still in Paris. All the community organizations, churches, clubs, the American Legion, and others, maintain their regular activities plus war relief work.

Save Used Tickets, London Street Car Riders Are Told

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 23.—Because of the paper shortage, London transport authorities today appealed to bus and street car passengers not to throw away their used tickets, but to place them in special receptacles provided in the vehicles. Transport chiefs estimate the tickets will amount daily to four tons of paper. This could be salvaged and repulped.

BRITISH REMOVE 22 BAGS OF MAIL FROM CLIPPER

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 23 (AP).—British censors removed 22 bags of mail today from the Pan-American Atlantic Clipper, which was forced back here from the Azores by weather conditions last night on her eastbound flight from New York.

Six mail bags were destined for Germany, four for Italy, four for Portugal, two for Switzerland and one each for Denmark, Sweden, Greece, Spain, Norway and the Azores. Mail addressed to Britain and France was not touched.

The Atlantic Clipper is due to leave for the Azores late today, and the censored mails probably will be placed on the next plane for New York.

NAZI CHUTE SOLDIER AND HIS BICYCLE ARE CAPTURED BY FRENCH

ROUEN, France, May 23 (AP).—A German parachutist, carrying a bicycle and incendiary equipment, was reported captured tonight after he landed in the Gournay region near Rouen, south of the Somme, on a mission of spreading fire behind the allied lines.

He said he had been ordered to mingle with Belgian refugees and set fires wherever he could. Originally of Belgian nationality, the man was recruited by the German army last April.

LA FOLLETTE BILL PERILS INDUSTRY, SENATORS WARN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—The La Follette labor practices bill, supported by the Communist party and John L. Lewis' Congress of Industrial Organizations, was denounced in senate debate today as an open invitation to spies and saboteurs to wreck industrial plants. Ostensibly, the bill is designed to prohibit industrial espionage and the use of industrial munitions by employers.

Senator Walter F. George [D., Ga.] and Senator Robert A. Taft [R., O.] led a bipartisan assault on the measure when the senate returned to its consideration today. It was laid aside temporarily when the senate took up the national defense program on Tuesday. There were indications of increasing opposition to the scheme, based on the fear of fifth column activities and the anxiety in congress to put the nation's defenses in order.

Uses France as Example.

Senator Taft moved to recommit the bill and was supported by Senator George. Later Taft withdrew the motion temporarily, presumably in the hope that some Democrat would offer it and more Democrats would support it.

Addressing Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, author of the bill, Senator George declared:

"I call the senator's attention to this fact, and it is not farcical, nor is is whimsical: One reason why France is not prepared today is because she had a nationalized and a communized industry, under which she was helpless to move and helpless to prepare. Unless the productive capacity of American industry is kept up, there is not any possible hope of preparation to meet any enemy, domestic or foreign."

Objects to Authority.

Senator George called attention to provisions of the bill which prohibit any investigation by employers with respect to the plans or activities of employés concerning "self-organization, mutual aid, or protection" or with respect to the "political or economic views" of employés. He called attention also to the provisions vesting in the secretary of labor authority to determine whether employers had violated the law.

"I do not want to say anything about Miss Perkins, secretary of labor," said George, "but I know that this is a power which ought not to be given to any executive head in this nation, and I know that it is a power which has been abused. In my own state, men have been sworn and asked, 'For whom did you vote in the last election?' and now it is sought to give this power to Miss Perkins—a power to crucify industry, a power to destroy industries."

Medium is the best size for a medium smoker—10 square inches of exposed radiating surface.

LARGE
AREA

When Professor Kirsten designed his famous pipe, he found that pipe smokers are not all alike . . . some smoke rapidly; some slowly—some like a long smoke; others like a short one. But all want a cool, clean smoke.

Only a big exposed radiating surface will actually cool smoke—and the four sizes of KIRSTEN Pipes are accurately measured to give just the right amount of cooling area to accommodate the differences in men's smoking requirements. The big, precision machined, duralumin "radiator" pre-cools smoke, condenses and traps bitter oils and tars so they never reach your mouth. Leakproof valve prevents moisture's returning to the imported briar bowl.

WITH THE WESTERN GERMAN ARMIES, May 24, Friday (AP).—Adolf Hitler sent a personal letter to former Kaiser Wilhelm when German forces occupied the Netherlands, a high German officer disclosed today.

When Doorn, residence of Wilhelm, was occupied May 14, a colonel appeared at the castle just after noon with a three point letter in which Hitler wrote:

1. The German ex-kaiser and his entourage enjoy the protection of the German army.
2. He may remain at Doorn if he chooses.
3. Should the army withdraw, German police will look to his safety.

GEN. FORD HAILS STUDENT CADETS AT U. OF ILLINOIS

4,000 March in Review on Military Day.

Champaign, Ill., May 23 [Special].—Four thousand student cadets in the University of Illinois Reserve Officers' Training Corps brigade took part today in the university's annual Military day ceremonies.

The cadets, infantry, cavalry, horse-drawn and motorized field artillery, coast artillery, antiaircraft, engineers, and signal corps units, all with their equipment, passed in review before Lieut. Gen. Stanley A. Ford, 6th corps area commander, and Arthur Cutts Willard, president of the university.

In the reviewing stand also were Maj. Gen. George A. Lynch, army chief of infantry, and Col. C. M. Downer, Illinois National Guard, representing Gov. Henry Horner and the state.

Sworn Into Officers' Reserve.

The oath of office as second lieutenants in the Officers Reserve corps of the U. S. army was administered to 206 students who had completed four years of military training. Gen. Ford, speaking to these seniors, complimented them for "the highest exemplification of the ideals of their country."

President Willard pointed to the student cadets before him as "the heirs of the founding father patriots, the most immediate recipients of that trust they left . . . especially impressed with the responsibility, common to all of us in this nation, to defend the rights of the people of America to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

New Cadet Colonel.

Edmund L. Du Bois, a junior of Champaign, was installed as cadet-colonel of the brigade for the coming year. He succeeds Walter T. Morey of Decatur.

Medals, scholarships, and awards for military proficiency were presented by leaders of national patriotic organizations and the university. Robert C. Ingalls of Urbana received the Gen. John J. Pershing medal as outstanding senior R. O. T. C. cadet officer in the entire 6th corps area, which includes Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

CANADIANS FEAR 5TH COLUMN WAR MAY START A 6TH

Warn That Vigilantes May Get Out of Control.

BULLETIN.

MONTREAL, Que., May 24, Friday (AP).—Squads of Royal Canadian mounted police and Montreal city police, acting under defense of Canada regulations, last night and early today raided headquarters of the National Unity party and homes of persons authorities suspect of being leaders of the Canadian Fascist organization. There were no arrests, but the police seized six truckloads of material, including lists of members, maps, pennants, and the roll cal lof the "Iron Guard" of Canadian Fascists.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., May 23.—There is a fear in Montreal that the current agitation for the rooting out of fifth columnists in this country, which has reached a high pitch in the past few days, may result in formation of a "sixth column" which may take the law into its own hands and get out of control.

The Pan-Canadian union, urging the government to curb subversive activities in Canada, today warned against the fostering of spy-hysteria. The union's president, Real Rousseau, said his organization disapproves of the formation of vigilantes to search out spies and disloyal persons. Such groups have been organized in various parts of Canada. He stressed the danger of vigilantes getting out of control and injuring innocent persons.

Scores of organizations have sent resolutions to Ottawa, urging government action against fifth columnists. The Montreal Board of Trade warned Prime Minister Mackenzie King that Canada is not spending enough money in guarding the nation against saboteurs.

Form "Veterans' Home Guard."

OTTAWA, Ont., May 23 (AP).—The immediate organization of ex-service men into a "veterans' home guard" for protection of military property and "any other purpose that may be found necessary," was announced tonight by Defense Minister J. L. Rogers.

Rogers told the house of commons the veteran force would be uniformed and armed as a military organization and would be commanded by world war officers. The members will be recruited from among men up to 50 years of age. Their pay and allowances will correspond to that for service in the Canadian active service force.

Canadians received assurances from Justice Minister Ernest La Pointe today that the royal Canadian mounted police is being expanded against possible "fifth column" activities.

Enemy aliens registered in Canada when the war started numbered 16,643. Of this number 261 persons, including Nazis, active Nazi sympathizers, and persons under suspicion, were interned.

Mexico Checks on Entries.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, May 23 (AP).—Mexican immigration authorities have sent special agents to entry ports to check reports that an extraordinary number of Germans and communists of various nationalities have entered the country recently.

Foreign sources said four known German intelligence agents had arrived recently.

Rumania Tightens Guard.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 23.—An order issued today by the ministry of labor makes employers responsible for the behavior of technical experts and others of foreign nationality working for them. Employers applying for permission to hire foreigners must pledge they will inform the police immediately of any acts of sabotage or terrorism and of any propaganda activity on the part of their foreign employés.

CROMWELL RESIGNS HIS POST AS ENVOY TO RUN FOR SENATE

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt today accepted the resignation of James H. R. Cromwell as minister to Canada and wished him "the best of success in the large field of activity upon which you are entering." Cromwell on Tuesday was nominated by the New Jersey Democrats as their candidate for United States senator.

James H. R. Cromwell

In a letter to Cromwell, made public by the White House, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that these are serious days in the history of the world and "require the intelligent and loyal coöperation of all of our citizens in order that our country may be prepared to resist any challenge to the continuance of our form of government or to the prosecution of our political ideals."

Two Brothers Sentenced for Cheating Jobless Fund

Louis Shelley, 39 years old, colored, 3656 Indiana avenue, was sentenced yesterday by Municipal Judge Erwin J. Hasten to 20 days in the Bridewell, and his brother, Coldburg, 30, of 5419 Michigan avenue, was sentenced to 30 days. Both were charged with illegal collection of unemployment compensation checks from the state.

MRS. ROOSEVELT NAMED AS AID TO 5TH COLUMNISTS

Congressman Also Cites Secretary Perkins.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, today were named by Representative Noah M. Mason [R., Ill.] as having extended sympathy, encouragement, and protection to so-called fifth column agents in the United States.

Noah M. Mason.

Mason spoke in the house in opposition to the proposed transfer of the bureau of immigration and naturalization from the department of labor, headed by Mme. Perkins, to the justice department. The move is designed to cover up Mme. Perkins' mismanagement of the bureau, he declared.

"The results desired by the President can be much more quickly and effectively secured by demanding the resignation of Mme. Perkins and appointing a competent administrator in her place," Mason told the house.

Gives Three Examples.

The Illinois congressman related "three concrete examples of protection, of sympathy, and of encouragement lately given to fifth column agents that are at work in our midst." Mason is a member of the Dies committee on un-American activities and some of the facts he gave the house had not previously been made public.

"I call attention to the astonishing appointment two months ago of William Hinckley as administrative assistant to the commissioner of education," Mason said. "It is my understanding that Hinckley obtained his position thru the recommendation of Mrs. Roosevelt. Hinckley was for a number of years national chairman of the American Youth congress, a subservient follower of the communist party line. It is Stalin's fifth column among the youth of this country."

Cites Red Connections.

Testimony before the Dies committee proved Hinckley was an active member of the communist party, Mason said. He cited numerous instances of Hinckley's radical theories and his connections with communistic organizations.

"It is nothing short of a national disgrace that one so prominent in the operations of the communist fifth column as Hinckley should be placed in a strategic position in our federal government and particularly in our department of education," the congressman asserted.

The second case cited by Mason concerned a buffet supper given under the auspices of Edward J. Flynn, Democratic patronage-dispenser for the state of New York. Mason produced a copy of the invitation sent out by Flynn to what was termed a "come-across supper."

"At the suggestion of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt," the invitation read, "I am asking a small group of people to my home, 2728 Henry Hudson parkway, for a buffet supper on Wednesday evening, May 8, at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose of the gathering is to introduce a few members of the American Youth Congress who are anxious to present their problem to people who are in a position to help them financially. As you know, Mrs. Roosevelt is keenly interested in assisting these young people and she will be with us on that evening to introduce their members."

More than $2,000 was reported to have been collected at the supper for the expenses of the youth congress convention at Lake Geneva, Wis., next July.

Points to Bridges Case.

In the third case, Secretary Perkins was accused by Mason of lending aid and comfort to Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. agitator, whom the department of labor refused to deport on charges that he was a communist.

"I have cited these three examples because they illustrate the protection, the help, and the sympathy which have been given and are now being given these fifth column agents of a foreign government," Mason said. "I am sure each of these three examples can be multiplied by hundreds of similar cases that have happened during the last six or seven years."

NORWEGIAN CITIZENS IN AMERICA ASKED TO ENROLL FOR WAR DUTY

Sigurd Maseng, Norwegian consul in Chicago, asked yesterday that all Norwegian citizens in Illinois and neighboring states register by mail with the consulate at 360 North Michigan avenue. The registration, he said, is being undertaken in case of a possible call for war service in Norway. It will include Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

GET AMERICA IN WAR AGITATION GROWS IN EAST

Educators Among Those Pleading Allies' Cause.

Says U. S. Changing

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—Declaring that "opinion in the United States is rising," Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, said today that the events of "these last few weeks had done more for the cause of the allies in the United States than eight months of propaganda could have done." The minister, who recently returned from a lecture tour in the United States, addressed a luncheon meeting of the English Speaking union. Duff Cooper asserted that "danger is a test of friendship and this country is in fearful danger today."

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker.

A wave of warlike utterances followed President Roosevelt's "preparedness" speech of a week ago, wherein the nation's chief executive depicted a timetable for air raids on American cities by bombing planes based in adjoining countries and nearby islands.

Accompanying these appeals by responsible persons for outright entry into the war or varying degrees of intervention is the building up of a war psychosis in the man on the street.

Reassurances Prove Vain.

Reassurances from such experts as Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker that attacks, if any, from Europe will not come until the remote future fail to calm the fears of some people.

Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, commanding general of the 27th division in Belgium and France during the last war and now a lawyer, yesterday urged that congress immediately authorize the detachment from the regular military services of aircraft carriers, transports, protecting naval vessels, and at least 2,000 bomber and fighter planes, with pilots to be sent to the side of the empires at once "with or without war declaration."

Dr. Christian Gauss, dean of the school of fine arts and sciences at Princeton university, who had signed a petition of the American Association of Scientific Workers urging the United States remain at peace, repudiated his stand. He said he had decided remaining neutral was "short sighted shirking of moral responsibility."

Princeton Men Urge Help.

Also at Princeton 17 members of the faculty sent a telegram to President Roosevelt opposing the isolationist stand of the Scientific Workers' association and declaring "our best national defense" was aid to the empires. One of the signers was Albert Einstein, famous scientist and refugee from Germany.

Presidents James B. Conant of Harvard and Charles Seymour of Yale universities enrolled as members in the new interventionist organization, the committee to defend America by aiding the allies.

President Stanley King of Amherst college, speaking at the final chapel services of the senior class, advocated a shift from present neutrality policies to a nonbelligerent participation in which the United States should furnish money and materials to the empires without limit.

Calls Fight "Our Battle."

Newbold Morris, president of the city council of New York, told the gathering of the women's division of the American Jewish congress that the allies were fighting the battle of democracy and "that is our battle."

Col. Henry Breckinridge, who was assistant secretary of war under President Wilson from 1913 to 1916, declared that the United States should declare war on Germany as "a moral enemy of mankind and a menace to our security." Col. Breckinridge held that a victory for Germany over England and France would endanger the independence of this country, which would be forced to face alone the totalitarian conquerors of the world.

Increasing intervention talk was noted from the pulpit. Bishop Ernest M. Stires in an address before the convention of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Long Island declared Christian civilization was facing "a brutal challenge." He predicted America would be willing to make the "ultimate sacrifice."

Angell Sounds Warning.

Dr. James Rowland Angell, former president of Yale and head of the English Speaking union, a pro-British organization, declared in a speech that "only a craven or utterly blind or selfish self-complacency can fail to see the writing on the wall" for American democracy. England and France were fighting our battles, he said.

Anzac Envoy Arrives

The Rt. Hon. Richard G. Casey, Australian minister to the United States, and his wife as they arrived in Chicago yesterday.

The Rt. Hon. R. G. Casey, Australian minister to the United States, warned a Chicago audience last night that Nazi Germany's objective is to establish a new world order, and that "the attempt is without limit or distinction of continent or ocean."

Speaking at the third annual dinner of alumni of International House at the university, Casey said: "If I were to suggest that you take the same attitude that we take in Australia that would be propaganda. I do no such thing."

He affirmed his belief in an eventual allied victory. As to the state of preparedness in the nations opposing Germany, he said: "No democracy can prepare itself at the same rate as a dictatorship. In times of peace parliamentary representatives will not grant the power to spend the amount of money necessary for defense. That is true of any democracy."

Casey, who was accompanied here by his wife, Maie, will address a luncheon meeting of the English Speaking union in the Palmer House today and will leave tomorrow for Madison, Wis., where he will inspect the University of Wisconsin agricultural college. He was awarded the D. S. O. and Military Cross for his service at Gallipoli and in France during the last war.

ITALIAN ATTACK ON GIBRALTAR IS SEEN BY NAZIS

Berlin-Rome Diplomatic Circles Active.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 23.—Extraordinary activity in diplomatic circles, especially between Berlin and Rome, was noted here tonight. Numerous Italian war correspondents have arrived in the German capital and minor Nazi officials seriously discussed the possibility of Premier Benito Mussolini's entry into the war.

Some Nazis believe the Italians would make an attack on Gibraltar "to put an end to England's power at the western gates of the Mediterranean." Others said that Italy also would attack France and simultaneously attempt to strengthen her hold on the Balkans, "which are of vital importance to her."

Calls Gibraltar Antiquated.

Tomorrow's Voelkischer Beobachter, Berlin newspaper, explained that Gibraltar is an antiquated fortress despite its new antiaircraft guns. Modern planes and war methods, it said, could reduce it in a surprisingly short time.

Salonika, Greece, was described by certain Nazi circles as the logical goal of the Italian forces. "Salonika then would be called upon to play the same rôle as Trondheim in Germany's conquest of Norway," they said.

The Voelkischer Beobachter described Salonika as the key city from which the whole Balkan area could be controled and declared that the forces which hold Trondheim control most of Norway.

Duce Confers on Defense.

ROME, May 23 (AP).—Indications that Italy would enter the war piled up today as Premier Mussolini put war manufactures under a cabinet division and was reliably reported to have conferred with his supreme defense council.

This eve of the anniversary of Italy's declaration of war on the side of the allies 25 years ago—tomorrow the flags will fly and wreaths will be laid on the war monuments—found the people going thru air raid drills from Rome to Trieste, and the press thundering against Britain and France.

The newspapers cried out about Italy's "imprisonment" in the Mediterranean and Italians accused the French authorities in Morocco of "renewing hateful persecutions" of Italians living in the protectorate.

Students Offer to Fight.

Some 130,000 university students sent Mussolini a message volunteering to take up arms against Britain and France. Their offer was saluted by the press as showing that "the whole Italian people is anxious for liberation from the foreigners who hold the gates to the Mediterranean."

The question was not whether Italy was going to war, but where and when.

During the day the authorities announced a civilian mobilization law would be published next week after being rushed thru the Fascist chamber and senate. It provides that women and girls from 14 to 60 and boys and men from 14 to 90 not engaged in military service could be drafted for work in public utilities, government offices, and factories.

GLAMORLESS BLONDE, 34, TO FACE FRENCH FIRING SQUAD AS SPY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 23.—Carmen Mory, 34 year old glamorless blonde known as the "Truckhorse," will follow in the footsteps of Mata Hari and face a French firing squad at Vincennes some morning at dawn in the near future, the military supreme court decided today.

Fritz Erler, her German companion, will be executed at the same time. Both were convicted of spying. Appeals for new trials were rejected today.

Carmen Mory, who was born in Switzerland, will be the first woman spy of the present war to go to her death. French newspapers describe her as a faded unattractive blonde so clumsy in her methods that she became known as "The Truckhorse." She lived in a modest hotel for transients, hiding her activities behind supposed journalistic work. Details of her spying activities were not made known, but her capture was credited to French counter espionage agents.

ALLIES RECEIVE MORE THAN 2,300 U. S. AIRPLANES

New York, May 23 (AP).—Great Britain and France, responsible sources said today, have received more than 2,300 combat and training planes purchased in this country shortly before and since war was declared.

Statistics of allied purchases were reported to include orders for 6,100 planes since last August, including 3,000 by France and 3,100 by Great Britain, and negotiations were said to be in progress for acquisition of 4,000 more.

The allied purchasing commission said that deliveries are being made on time and American manufacturers said in many cases deliveries have been made ahead of schedule.

British orders have included Lockheed, Douglas, and Consolidated bombers; North American training planes, and Bell, Brewster, and Gruman pursuit planes. French officials have ordered North American trainers, Douglas and Consolidated bombers, and Curtiss pursuit planes. In negotiations for additional purchases, Vought-Sikorsky dive bombers and Vultee pursuit planes are being considered.

Proposes the British 'Bomb' Enemy Airports with Water

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—"Bombardment" of enemy airdromes with water instead of bombs was proposed today in a letter to the magazine Aeroplane. The writer pointed out that bomb craters on a landing field, easily refilled with dirt, could be turned into bogs by dumping water from heavy bombers fitted with tanks.

HOUSEWIVES GO TO STORES, TIRED OF MILK STRIKE

Some Declare They Won't Resume Delivery.

Many housewives in Chicago who are not getting daily milk delivery because of the strike of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union said yesterday that they are buying milk in stores wherever possible and may continue to do so even after the strike is ended. The attitude of some was that home deliveries are not worth the trouble caused by strike interruptions, and the consumer is tired of being the sufferer in disputes between drivers and milk dealers.

The stores, however, are distributing their milk supplies to regular customers and cannot accommodate all comers. Thus numerous families are either without milk or cannot get enough. Some of them are using condensed milk and others who have transportation are going directly to dairy depots or to farmers in outlying suburbs in Cook county.

Some Hotels Get Supplies.

Several hotels and restaurant chains are getting their milk and cream from dairies with which they have long term contracts and which have union agreements.

Comments of consumers interviewed yesterday were:

Mrs. Charles E. Holcomb, 9544 South Hoyne avenue—"I am tired of all these driver-company disputes. I took deliveries at home for many years, but I'm buying at the store now. I may continue to do so after the strike."

Mrs. Thomas E. Park, 9601 South Seeley avenue—"I've been buying at the store since the strike began and I'll keep that up permanently unless deliveries start shortly. Deliveries are convenient, but we consumers are tired of being the innocent sufferers. It might be a good idea to do away with deliveries entirely."

Mrs. G. V. Pontius, 9226 Longwood drive—"I'm not getting enough milk for my four children. It seems these disputes are being carried to extremes. It's not fair to the public. I may buy at the stores all the time."

Mrs. Catherine Judge, 6505 Ingleside avenue—"After the first milk strike I switched to a small independent dairy that has a union contract. I intend to deal with this dairy all the time."

Pat Roche, 6510 Drexel boulevard—"There are seven people in my family and we have to drive to a farmer at 175th street and Kedzie avenue to get milk. We're disgusted with the strike."

Mrs. Adeline Hensel, 5816 Fulton street—"I have to buy condensed milk. I've taken home delivery for 15 years. I'm sorry for the drivers. They work hard. But they shouldn't strike. They're punishing the public."

Mrs. Julia O'Donnell, 5501 Jackson boulevard—"Milk is cheaper in the stores, but it's not convenient. I'm for the drivers; they shouldn't be forced to take a pay cut. But I'm not going back to home delivery."

Mrs. William L. Diener, 69 East Division street—"I think the drivers and the big companies should reach an agreement. But I'm ready to buy my milk at the store."

Mrs. J. R. Browning, 2686 Sheridan road, Evanston—"I have to go to Ravinia to get milk, but will go back to home delivery as soon as the strike is settled. I am in favor of the drivers' stand."

Co-eds Drive to Dairies.

Members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta sororities at Northwestern university in Evanston are driving their cars to dairy depots and hauling back large cans of milk. At the Kappa Kappa Gamma house the 35 girls are each limited to one glass of milk per meal during the strike.

City Milk Administrator Transferred to New York

N. J. Cladakis, federal milk market administrator in Chicago, will be transferred to New York City as market administrator, effective May 28, the department of agriculture announced yesterday. Cladakis will succeed E. M. Harmon, who will return to Washington to be general field representative for the dairy section of the division of marketing and marketing agreements.

JAMES KERR, FORMER PARK CHIEF, NAMED CITY POLICE CAPTAIN

James B. Kerr.

Lieut. James B. Kerr, chief of the Chicago park district police from Nov. 2, 1938, until April 12 of this year, was appointed a captain of the Chicago police department yesterday and assigned to command the Morgan Park station. He was succeeded as chief of the park police last month by Capt. Roger F. Shanahan, who had been acting chief since Kerr was taken ill Feb. 22.

Kerr assumed command of the park police in 1938 on leave of absence as head of the Chicago police cartage detail. In that position he had conducted a drive against hijacking, cutting the number of such crimes in Chicago from 84 in 1933 to none in 1938.

The new captain is 59 years old. He became a city policeman Dec. 23, 1907. Seven years later he was appointed a sergeant and on Oct. 4, 1924, a lieutenant. As chief of the park police he campaigned vigorously to make traffic on park lanes and boulevards safer.

Lieut. Joseph J. Muir of the Lawndale station and Lieut. James Byrne of the Shakespeare avenue station exchanged posts in another police transfer yesterday.

HEALTH VALUE OF SUN'S RAYS TESTED AT N. U.

A new type of photoelectric cell for measuring the intensity of the ultraviolet solar radiation, just as it comes to plants and trees and human beings, was set up on the roof of Harris hall at Northwestern university yesterday.

This was the first step in a proposed nation-wide experiment, which will continue for several years, giving the intensity of these health rays in all parts of the country and at all seasons.

This new phototube is the invention of Dr. Robert J. Cashman, assistant professor of physics at Northwestern, in collaboration with Dr. W. W. Coblentz, radiation physicist of the bureau of standards at Washington.

A meter records the ultraviolet impulses and registers them in much the same manner as does a speedometer. A camera is to be attached to the meter to photograph the readings. The meter apparatus will be led by wires into the physics laboratory and the results correlated there with reports from other parts of the country.

FOUR BOYS ADMIT THEY SMASHED 51 SCHOOL WINDOWS

Four boys arrested yesterday admitted to Police Sergt. Barney Riley that they had smashed 51 windows of the Chopin school with bricks Tuesday night.

They gave varying explanations of why they engaged in the vandalism. William Sekerka, 14 years old, 831 North Maplewood avenue, said he was angry because he had been kept in at school for playing hookey. Edward Czajka, 15, of 1069 North Hermitage avenue, asserted he didn't like some of the teachers. Walter Zittman, 14, of 910 North Campbell avenue, and Charles Koke, 16, of 2438 Iowa street, said they just went along with the others.

NEW CONFERENCE STRIVES FOR END OF MILK STRIKE

Mayor, Courtney Demand Quick Settlement.

With Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney sitting in and demanding definite action, representatives of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union and the Associated Milk Dealers were striving early today to find a basis for ending the drivers' strike, which has tied up the Chicago area's milk supplies since Sunday morning.

About 75 dealers appeared at the meeting, which was held in Courtney's county building office. Paul Potter, secretary of the association, was their spokesmen. Among the union representatives were Leslie G. Goudie of the teamsters' joint council; Henry Weber, James Kennedy, Thomas Haggerty, Peter Hoban, and Attorney David Riskind of the drivers' union, and August Burnier and Frank Gillespie of the Inside Dairy Workers' union, which is also on strike.

Two Sides Far Apart.

In the beginning it was apparent that the two sides were far apart and disinclined to give ground. The mayor and Courtney were said to be insistent that they "stay till dawn" if there was any possibility of agreement, and the delegations were still deliberating after three hours had passed.

The fifth day of the strike found the city and close-in suburbs with shorter milk supplies than before. The public was being supplied only by independent nonunion firms and dairies that have signed temporary working agreements with the unions. Unionists said there were 115 in this group; they are mostly small, however, and at least 3,500 of the 4,500 drivers are idle. Not over 20 per cent of the normal flow of milk was reaching consumers, it was estimated.

After a day of comparative quiet violence broke out early today when 40 men dumped 450 gallons of milk from a truck at Fulton street and Hoyne avenue. The truck, driven by Robert Gemein, 1925 Huron street, had collided only a short time earlier with a car driven by George Triner, 213 North Lacrosse avenue. Triner was slightly hurt. During the delay caused by the accident the hoodlums drove up—they may have been following the truck—and spilled the milk.

Killing Near Dairy Plant.

While the peace conference was in session a Mexican, George M. De Luna, 26, of 1018 Polk street, was shot and killed in front of 1258 South Peoria street. The killers escaped in an automobile. The scene was only a short distance from the Meadowmoor Dairies plant at 1334 South Peoria street.

Meadowmoor is the largest nonunion plant and several of its trucks have been dumped during the strike. The police said De Luna was a WPA worker and in no way connected with the milk industry. They were sure it was only a coincidence he was shot near the plant.

Meadowmoor's application, made Wednesday, for an injunction to prevent the union molesting its property was held over by Federal Judge John P. Barnes, who was busy with other matters.

Early last evening a union delegation protested to Lawrence M. Taylor, assistant chief of the state highway police, that Meadowmoor was using hoodlum guards on its trucks and that these guards were being "protected" by the state police. Taylor promised to investigate.

In McHenry county Sheriff Lester Edinger placed guards at five dairies and warned that "the milk strike will have to stay in Chicago." His action followed the destruction by fire of the McHenry dairy, near Johnsburg, early yesterday. Assistant State Fire Marshal Frank Doherty investigated and found the flames were started on the outside of the building.

2 IN BROOKLYN CRIME SYNDICATE ARE FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

New York, May 23 (AP).—Two employés of a Brooklyn crime syndicate, blamed for more than 50 underworld slayings, were convicted of murder late today—and started toward death in the electric chair.

Two and a half hours after receiving the first case brought to trial in Brooklyn, District Attorney William O'Dwyer's drive against the so-called Murder, Inc., a jury decided Harry [Happy] Maione and Frank [The Dasher] Abbandando were guilty of murdering George Rudnick three years ago.

Rudnick was strangled, punctured 63 times with an ice pick, and hacked with a cleaver because he was suspected of being a police informer. Ironically, police informers—members of the same murder-for-cash gang—were the star witnesses against Maione and Abbandando, their expals.

O'Dwyer said the gangsters became so craven in the shadow of the electric chair that he had to select only some of the many who wanted to "sing."

ST. COLUMBKILLE OLD TIMERS PAY A VISIT TO PAST

Old neighbors of St. Columbkille's, Chicago's historic Irish parish on the near north side, gathered last night, 500 strong, in the Hotel Sherman for the fourth annual reunion of their Old Timers' association. Judges, physicians, lawyers, business men, priests, professors, and politicians relived the days when they were boy together in the neighborhood and attended the old church at Grand avenue and Peoria street.

The chairman, James G. Sullivan, read messages from Bishop Edward F. Hoban of Rockford, the Rev. Matthew J. Walsh, former president of Notre Dame university, and other St. Columbkille "boys" who were unable to attend. The Rev. William Gorman, chaplain of the Chicago fire department, and Judge Joseph M. Burke spoke.

In point of years, honors went to Mrs. Margaret Gagan, 83 years old, who have lived in the parish since civil war days.

JAMES CHARGES NEW DEAL AIMS AT DICTATORSHIP

Wants Congress Sitting to Guard Constitution.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23 (AP).—Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania sped homeward today bearing the plaudits of Minnesota Republican leaders, but with little hope of more than an even break with half a dozen others when the state's delegates start voting for a presidential nominee.

His speech last night, in which he called upon congress to remain in session thruout the current war crisis, and charged the New Deal with dictatorship aspirations, drew loud praise from the top men of the party here.

But when the state Republican convention convened today leaders and followers alike were agreed that Minnesota's delegation to the national Republican convention at Philadelphia would go unpledged to any candidate.

[TWA News Photo.]

Lambasts New Deal.

James, in fact, left Minnesota without revealing whether he is a candidate. On the issues of the New Deal and America's part in the world's troubles he was less reticent.

He indicated, without saying so in so many words, that he would fight any proposal for a coalition of Democrats and Republicans in a "war cabinet."

"So far as I am concerned," he declared in his speech last night, "there will be neither a blackout nor a cowardly fadeout of the Republican party so long as there is a threat that the blood of a single American boy will be shed in useless war."

Calling for speedy rearmament in the face of the European war, he warned against the possibility that a war scare might be used as the springboard for an American dictatorship.

Points to Constitution.

"My suggestions tonight are," he said, "first, that the preparedness program of the national government be immediately revised to include the American constitution instead of discarding it, and second, that the American people, directly and thru their state governments, demand of congres sthat it does not adjourn until America is re-armed and until the international crisis has abated.

"For seven years the New Deal has been attempting to by-pass the constitution. We all remember the various methods which have been tried: The Supreme court packing bill, the reorganization bill, the senatorial purges, the use of relief funds to try to thwart the will of the people in elections, the setting up of burocracies at Washington subject to no restraint save that of the executives who appointed them, the attacks on states' rights, and propaganda that the American constitution was a relic of the horse-and-buggy days.

Cites New Deal Attacks.

"The New Deal has objected to the American constitution for the very reason which should most compel the men and women of this nation to preserve it. The New Dealers have fought it because our founding fathers used that constitution to put a fence around the powers of the President. If we are to have a republic, if this is to continue to be government of, by and for the people, those fences must stand—must stand, yes, and be strengthened.

"Let it never be said that the American constitution is a splendid peacetime document, but unfitted for war. The constitution was conceived during world conflict as grave as exists today. It was baptized in blood while Napoleon was ravaging Europe on a scale even greater than Hitler has yet achieved. The constitution has demonstrated its worth in helping America win three major wars.

"A free people, with their liberties guaranteed by such a constitution and defended by their leaders, can always outfight an equal number of enslaved victims of dictatorship."

The Woodlawn Lions club spread its annual banquet table yesterday for the Grand Army of the Republic. Seven old soldiers in blue, veterans of Vicksburg, Chickamauga, Gettysburg, and Appomatox, were driven in state to the Hayes hotel, Woodlawn avenue and 63d street, and seated in the places of honor at the head of the long table where the colors were posted.

For two hours the club members, all busy business men, forgot shops and offices while they listened to the white haired patriots recount their memories of the heroic days that preserved the Union.

PATCHIE: HE'S A GUINEA PIG IN A TEST OF LOVE

Pulling petals out of daisies is one way. But Edward Meeks can tell that Mrs. Helen Meeks loves him by their guinea pig. Its name is Patchie. Meeks took custody of Patchie when he and Mrs. Meeks separated.

She may be suing him for divorce. But she has written him letters asking if Patchie's well and happy, Meeks' attorney, Sol R. Friedman, told Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday. And that's love, said the attorney sagely.

Mrs. Meeks is 21 years old, a bride of five months. She lives at 1935 South 3d avenue, Maywood. Yesterday she asked for temporary allmony. Meeks, a carpenter contractor 23 years old, protested that she still loves him and that he and she and their guinea pig could live happily ever after if her relatives wouldn't interfere. The judge refused to grant the alimony and ordered Meeks' in-laws not to bother him in his wooing.

SLICE PROFITS, BRITISH FOOD CHIEF URGES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 23.—Food Minister Lord Woolton today urged traders to cut profits and to provide commodities at prices soldiers' families can afford.

Lord Woolton suggested they disregard profits and produce at least one line of merchandise which would be within the reach of the families of soldiers, whose allowances from the government are not being supplemented by former employers.

LIBERTY'S LAST CHANCE IS U. S., HOOVER WARNS

Calls These Grave Days for Civilization.

Boston, Mass., May 23 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover asserted tonight that "here in America is the last chance of making the system of liberty vital to men" and maintained that this country had the double duty of repairing democracy's failures and of constantly rebuilding it.

Herbert Hoover.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

"These are grave days for the future of civilization and for our own country," he said in an address at the annual meeting of the Boys' Clubs of America, an organization which he serves as chairman of its board of directors.

"Our minds," Hoover declared "are distracted by the infinite tragedies which unroll day by day. That the independence of peaceful nations should be murdered fires our indignation. That women and children should be ruthlessly slaughtered brings us to tears."

Carry on Humane Endeavor.

Mr. Hoover said that the work of the boys' club—that of "giving a full chance in life to the pavement boy"—was not "trivial in this world storm," adding that "our stern duty is to carry on the processes of humane endeavor in this democracy."

Dictator's Methods Simple.

With high praise for the boys' club aim of giving "every child an equal chance," Hoover said that "just as the Fascists build their boys as part of a military state, we want to build our boys to support a democratic state. We citizens of the largest remaining democracy have a high duty and a high purpose in making easy the path of the democratic ideal."

Hoover declared that government probably would concern itself to a greater and greater extent with the affairs of the nation's youth.

"But," he added, "it will be a sign of degeneration when we as private citizens shall surrender character building to the state; that is not the place where personality and character can ever be built.

"This service requires sacrifice, understanding, toleration, generosity. The methods of a dictator are too simple and too easy."

An Electric
RECORD PLAYER

Realizing that many families have no means of playing records, an electric record-playing attachment has been provided by the manufacturers at bare cost of poduction. This record-player, attached to your radio, enables you to play all sizes of records through the loudspeaker of your radio. The attachment is completely electric, needs no winding and operates on AC current. No similar instrument has ever been offered before at so small a cost.

HOW TO GET YOUR RECORDS

1. Come for, or send for, your symphonies at MUSIC APPRECIATION DISTRIBUTION HEADQUARTERS, 65 East Lake Street and 14 North Franklin Street. The office will be open each day from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. Requests by mail will be filled in order of receipt.

2. At regular weekly intervals each of the 12 symphonic masterpieces will be released. The first symphony, Franz Schubert's No. 8 in B Minor, as well as Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 in C Minor, Tschaikowsky's Nutcracker Suite and Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G Minor are now available. Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," "Clouds," and "Festivals" will follow on May 31st, etc., until all of the educational masterpieces provided in the campaign have been made available to the public. Notice of release date of each symphony will be printed in the public press.

3. You receive each symphony, which consists of either three or four double-faced 12-inch records, for a total payment of $1.69. THIS IS NOT FOR EACH RECORD but for the COMPLETE SYMPHONY, all three or four records, six or eight sides, which comprise each symphony. The two symphonies which consist of five records (ten sides) require a payment of $2.18 for the entire symphony of all five records. The Cesar Franck D Minor Symphony, on account of its length, is divided into two units, each unit consisting of three double-faced 12-inch records, and the cost of each unit is the same as for any other three record group. A quantity of de luxe records, known as Philharmonic Transcriptions, and inclosed in record albums designed for each particular symphony, is available at a slightly higher price. These are the first pressings from the same masters enclosed in albums and featuring a portrait of the composer on the label of each record. There is little, if any, difference in playing quality. Sales tax should be added to the foregoing prices.

4. An electric Record-Player attachment, which enables these records to be played through the loudspeaker of an average radio, is available for those who require a means of playing records, and is available with your first or any succeeding symphonic unit. The player can be obtained for $4.75. A more elaborate instrument, the Symphonic De Luxe Model, inclosed in a walnut-finished case, is available at a higher price. If you wish delivery of your symphonies by mail, add 25 cents for shipping charges for each symphony. Add 50 cents for shipping charges if you wish a Record-Player shipped to you. Sales tax should be added to price quoted above.

5. Every effort will be made to supply as many symphonies as are required. In order to avoid disappointment and to enable us to have a sufficient supply on hand, please fill in and mail the Reservation Form. It does not obligate you in any way.

HOW THIS GREAT MOVEMENT WAS ACCOMPLISHED!

You get the opportunity to take twelve of the world's greatest musical masterpieces into your home at an almost incredibly small price due to the following achievements:

(1) Some of the world's greatest orchestras and conductors waived their royalties.

(2) America's foremost music manufacturer reduced charges and profits to what that organization considers the barest practical operating minimum.

(3) America's foremost newspaper promotion organization, the Publishers Service Company, organized and conducted the campaign for many of the nations' most prominent newspapers and music societies.

(4) In Chicago, Publishers Service is conducting the campaign in behalf of the Chicago Society for Music Education, a nonprofit organization which will receive the sums from the sale of records, and after payment of all charges, will distribute the remainder among the four co-operating Chicago musical organizations, the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, the Chicago Opera, Ravinia Festival and Chicago Women's Orchestral Association.

(5) One symphony or symphonic masterpiece is distributed on Friday of each week. Distribution of each symphony continues throughout the campaign as long as the supply lasts.

SENATE FAILURE TO ACT ON BILLS AROUSES HOUSE

Committee Awaits Reply on Horner Quiz.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 23.—An embroilment between the two houses of the legislature today threatened to prolong the special session. Failure of the senate to advance 18 bills passed by the house yesterday brought hot words from the house floor. Several representatives proposed that in retaliation the house hold up senate bills until their own measures received better treatment in the senate.

Joseph E. Knight.

Delay would not disturb the Republicans much, since the longer the session sits the more time will be afforded the Searle house committee to irritate tender spots in the Democraic record.

The committee today was awaiting a reply from Gov. Henry Horner, with whom it yesterday asked an audience to discuss state finances. Dr. Nathan Rosen, the governor's physician, said that the executive was well enough to receive the committee, so Chairman Searle [R., Rock Island] requested the interview for next Monday or Tuesday.

No Word from Horner.

No word came from the mansion where the governor spends virtually all of his time, and administration spokesmen professed no knowledge of the governor's attitude toward the request. Forecasts mounted, however, that Mr. Horner will refuse to meet the Republican controled group.

Pending an answer the committee issued subpenas, returnable Monday night, for William W. Hart, acting chairman, and Joseph E. Knight, secretary of the Illinois Commerce commission. More witnesses are likely to be called for Tuesday.

The overt act which touched off house resentment took place during the senate session in which the principal work accomplished was passage, 44 to 0, of the senate's old age pension bill, and an accompanying measure appropriating $5,000,000 from general revenue to pay for increases.

Pension Bill Assailed.

Republicans all voted for this measure, which is of Democratic origin, altho a number told the sponsor, Senator Harold G. Ward [D., Chicago], and the Democratic side generally, that they regarded the measure as "a fraud and a deceit."

Only two house bills were advanced by the senate—the only two, Lieut. Gov. John Stelle said from the rostrum, which had been brought over. They were the house old age pension bill, similar to the senate measure, and the $5,000,000 pegged levy for the Chicago sanitary district.

Stelle's announcement annoyed several senators who knew that the house had passed about 20 measures in the last two days.

"What's become of these bills?" demanded John M. Lee [D., Chicago].

Stelle said that only the two had been received.

Demands Place on Calendar.

The sanitary district bill was supposed to have reached the senate yesterday, following house passage on Tuesday, and Peter P. Kielminski [D., Chicago], who will handle it in the senate, demanded to know why it did not appear on second reading on the calendar today. Stelle ignored him.

The other house bills were understood to have been taken to the senate this morning, then for some reason returned to the house. Eventually they were taken to the senate a second time, but the senate had already adjourned.

HOUSE APPROVES HUGE RELIEF BILL BY VOTE OF 354-21

Big Spending Measure Sent to Senate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—The house tonight passed, by a vote of 354 to 21, and sent to the senate a bill appropriating 1 billion 112 millions of dollars for work relief projects in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Of the total amount, $975,650,000 will be spent by the Work Projects administration, and President Roosevelt is authorized to spend this sum in eight months if he decides the unemployment problem necessitates it. If spent in eight months, the fund will keep an average of 1,950,000 persons on the WPA rolls. There are at present lightly in excess of 2,000,000 persons on the rolls.

Influence of the War.

The impact of the European war upon congress figured in the passage of two major amendments to the measure. The first provision, acclaimed almost unanimously by voice vote, prohibits the WPA employment not only of alients but of communists and members of Nazi bund organizations. Fears of "fifth column" activities in the United States by sympathizers with Stalin and Hitler led to the approval of this amendment, which has been fought by the Roosevelt administration for many years.

The second amendment, approved by an 181-114 vote, was a victory for President Roosevelt. It removed the limitation suggested by the house appropriations committee that not more than $50,000 of federal money should be spent upon any single WPA project. The committee reported that its investigation had disclosed that there was a large proportion of nonrelief labor employed on large and expensive projects such as bridges, stadiums, tunnels, and structures of great size. Relief funds ought to be spent only to employ those in genuine need, the committee argued.

Letter of Protest.

On Tuesday the President sent a letter to Representative Clarence Cannon [D., Mo.], who is handling the 1 billion 112 million dollar work-relief bill, protesting against the $50,000 limitation.

"The limitation would have a particularly harmful effect upon the attempt which is being made to use the program of the Work Projects administration to further national defense," the President wrote.

"That administration during the next year proposes to give preference and priority to projects which have a value from the national defense standpoint, and the prohibition would operate to prevent the approval and operation of the great bulk of such projects."

Rep. Woodrum's Stand.

Representative Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] argued against removal of the $50,000 limit, asserting that the WPA ought to be taken out of the heavy construction field. But the President's national defense argument won the day. If the vote had been taken some weeks ago before European developments had created a state of fear in congress regarding the nation's defenses, the appropriation committee's stand would have been easily upheld, it was agreed.

In addition to the WPA fund, the bill carries $115,000,000 for rural rehabilitation activities of the department of agriculture; $3,500,000 for the Puerto Rico reconstruction administration; $1,700,000 for relief projects among American Indians; $500,000 for the White House office of government reports, and $15,404,916 for administrative expenses in connection with the dispensation of relief.

Last minute attempts were made by the New Deal spending group to raise the total of the bill. Representative Ross Collins [D., Miss.] proposed building a postoffice in each congressional district in the United States at a cost of $60,000,000. His suggestion was defeated, 154 to 50.

$500,000,0000 Amendment Loses.

Representative Jerry Voorhis [D., Cal.] offered an amendment reviving the Public Works administration's program of heavy construction projects by providing $500,000,000 for hospitals, airports, schools, and similar projects. His amendment lost, 110 to 26.

Republicans made a final attempt to decentralize the administration of the WPA, with the government providing grants in aid to the states. A motion to this effect by Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.] was defeated by voice vote.

A futile effort was made by New Dealers to strike from the law the provision that persons shall be discharged from the WPA rolls after they have been employed continuously for 18 months. An amendment making this change was offered by Representative Arthur D. Healey [D., Mass.]. It was defeated, 63 to 22.

BARS SCHOOL AID FROM HOME AND GRANTS ALIMONY

Mrs. Malvilla Griffin obtained a court order yesterday directing her husband, John A. Griffin, an architect for the board of education, to move out of their home at 2303 North Neva avenue.

Mrs. Griffin, who is 47 years old, has a divorce suit pending in which she asserts her husband's cruelty forced her to leave home on Tuesday. She asked that he be ordered out so that she might return.

Judge Oscar F. Nelson, who issued the order, also instructed Griffin to give his wife $150 a month for the support of herself and their children, John, 12, and Mary, 5, after Mrs. Griffin's attorney, Harry X. Cole, had said that Griffin earns $298 a month.

BARRETT TO GET A VOTE RECOUNT IN SIX COUNTIES

Bloomington, Ill., May 23 [Special]. —Circuit Judge William C. Radliff today indicated that he would grant a recount of votes in six counties in the election contest suit of State Auditor Edward J. Barrett against John C. Martin, congressman at large.

Martin was the apparent winner of the Democratic nomination for Barrett's office in the April primary. The judge ordered Barrett's attorneys to prepare orders of procedure for a recount under the court's direction and submit them Monday.

Barrett's suit was based on alleged irregularities in the balloting and counting in McLean, Cook, St. Clair, Perry, Madison, and Williamson counties. Martin, after technical attempts to have the petition dismissed failed, attacked the charges and further demanded that in the event a recount was ordered that it cover all 102 counties of the state.

IT HAS HAPPENED IN ENGLAND.

In the eleventh hour the British parliament, at the demand of Mr. Churchill's combination government, adopted what is called a Hitler government to fight Hitler. The bill was introduced by Clement Attlee, one of the two Labor party members of the new ministry, and was the law of Great Britain in about three hours.

Attlee, a Socialist, was made the sponsor, undoubtedly because of his Labor party affiliation and because the first use of the absolute dictatorship would be to remove all restrictions on work hours in the war production factories. The first decree ordered the 7 day week. It is conceded that you can't create all the machinery of a Hitler government in 24 hours, but Great Britain has adopted it in principle.

All persons and all property are given to the government for disposal as needed. The people of Britain, in this hour of extremity, will do—and probably willingly—what each is told to do. Labor, services, and possessions all may be conscripted. If a house is needed it is taken. If men or women are wanted at any task or in any service they will go where they are told to go and work under the conditions imposed by the government. All property—lands, establishments, and money—is the property of the government.

The British people may feel, in line with their government, that there was no escape from this complete submission to authority. But with a three hours' sitting of parliament the history of England since 1215 was reversed. One act wiped out Magna Charta and nearly everything of the structure of liberties erected in subsequent revolutions. The ideas may remain, but the substance of them has disappeared. It has disappeared because Great Britain is at war and because the enemy is very powerful and very close.

The English have abandoned the charter of 1215 in order to avoid, if they can, the experience of 1066. They have gone back to the feudal forms set up by William after the conquest and, in effect, they again hold everything as of the king. Their property rights are in his name and their services may be required by him.

Rapidly moving events may soon determine whether this return to compulsory labor will serve the purpose. There may be a thought now —too late—that if what is called democracy had been more wisely managed it might have made a better showing for the free man, even in a fight for life or death.

It is no doubt the general belief in Great Britain that these are desperate but only temporary measures, and that if they succeed in saving the kingdom and the empire the old forms will be restored and all the old liberties will be unimpaired. On this assumption, which is natural, there must be some reservations. New forces are released in such a procedure and no one can know exactly what they will do when they are in effect and control.

What seems to be the triumphant power of Europe is based upon the deprivations contained in the new British law. That form of government in the ascendancy all over continental Europe is defying the rest of the world to meet and equal its achievements. It is supported, even where it does not prevail, by people whose purpose is to make over the rest of the world in such an image.

We have that purpose here in the United States. It has gone so far as to be incorporated in bills resembling the one Mr. Attlee presented to parliament. For the most part these bills anticipate a war involving the United States. So much progress has been made that the American idea of government has been undermined. There are large and influential organizations supporting just such an obliteration of everything that has made civilization possible and individual life important.

Many of these organizations are not motivated by Marxist, Fascist, or Nazi ideas, but are moved by what people have been led to think is justice and equity to all in wartime. These sentiments are craftily manipulated by the men who have other intentions. Many New Dealers who may honestly say they recoil from the horrors of war, as they undoubtedly would if they experienced them personally, nevertheless look hungrily at the opportunities which a state of war would give them to rush to sudden and ultimate achievement every plan they have conceived for the imposition of just such a government upon people who, startled by what they have seen abroad and fearful of what might happen at home, may be too emotionally upset to resist them.

War, it should be understood, even without the imminent dangers threatening Great Britain, might easily bring to the United States over night just the thing which is now supreme in the land where our liberties had their political origin.

THE NAVY'S WEAK SPOT.

The American people have welcomed the reassuring news about the navy contained in recent dispatches from Washington. The prospect would be a good deal more comforting if the American merchant marine upon which the navy must depend to maintain its supplies were in an equally sound state. In fact, our merchant marine is small and growing smaller because many of the ships are being sold to foreign owners. In addition, it is unreliable. As is well known, the men who work these ships both at sea and in harbor have been organized into unions many of which are under communist influence. There is a fifth column in our merchant marine which may act in the enemy's interest in time of danger.

LET'S ADJOURN POLITICS.

Gen. Hysteria is riding off in all directions in Washington and New York. His radio commentator and columnist lieutenants are shrilling nonsense about coalition cabinets and postponing the election. The New Dealers are cleverly exploiting the panic in western Europe in the hope of instilling similar panic on this side of the Atlantic. They are raising the cry that in this crisis [which in its domestic aspects is largely of their manufacture] the nation must adjourn politics.

All right, let's adjourn politics.

Let's adjourn the political manipulation of the National Labor Relations board.

Let's adjourn the use of WPA funds and the ruthless intimidation of WPA workers to elect Democratic politicians to office.

Let's adjourn Henry Wallace's political juggling of agricultural subsidies to buy farm votes.

Let's adjourn the political use of the Walsh-Healey bill to bludgeon manufacturers supplying the government into letting the lady fellow traveler in the labor department fix their wage rates.

Let's adjourn the political fixing of hours of labor under the wage-hour bill, which is hamstringing efforts to expand industrial production essential to our own and the allies' defense.

Let's adjourn Secretary Morgenthau and Mr. Eccles' political manipulation of the money market, to divert funds into the administration's deficit financing.

Let's adjourn the punitive tax schedules that have prevented industrial expansion in order to perpetuate unemployment as a vested interest of the New Deal politicians.

Let's adjourn the political waste of the nation's substance on TVA, Grand Coulee, Passamaquoddy, and all the other ventures into state socialism and screwball engineering and economics.

Let's adjourn the political fixing of prices under the Guffey act, which is loading millions of dollars of additional costs on industry and homeowners in order to repay another installment of the Roosevelt campaign fund debt to John L. Lewis.

Let's adjourn Donald Duck Ickes and the rest of the verbal tarantulas who have spent the last seven years fanning class hatred in America.

Let's adjourn the political use of federal funds by state political machines by enacting the Hatch bill, which the Roosevelt administration has succeeded in killing in congress.

Let's adjourn progress toward a Nazi legal system by passing the Walter bill to give proper court review of the rulings of New Deal administrative tyrants.

Above all, let's adjourn the scaremongering that is trying to convince the nation that the United States is in danger of invasion day after tomorrow, the sole purpose of which is to make plausible the cry of "Let's adjourn politics."

All this isn't the kind of politics that the New Dealers want adjourned. President Roosevelt has said that there will be no relaxing of what he misrepresents as his social reforms. Secretary Morgenthau has told the plane manufacturers that private industry will get "the first chance" to build 50,000 planes, adding in effect that the government is going to keep right on beating them over the head while they try.

It is only the other fellow's politics that the New Dealers want to adjourn.

ALL THE GUNFIRE ISN'T IN FRANCE.

We are far enough from Europe so that the cannonade in France should not deafen State's Attorney Courtney, Mayor Kelly, and the city council to the gunfire in Chicago streets.

A parking lot operator, shot several days ago, is in serious condition. He proposed to open a new parking lot at a location that threatened the business of a lot run by an organization that reputedly has an inside track in the allowance or withholding of city permits for the business. Marinus Hvid, a garage owner, refused to go along with the price fixing and customer allocation scheme of a trade association run by a jailbird. He was subjected to a phony strike, then beaten to death. His murderers are still at large.

Associations of parking lot owners have been shown to have kept political functionaries on their pay roll. The council recently was presented with an ordinance that would have prohibited for an indefinite period any new parking lots to compete with the lots and garages already in business. The aldermen decided it was too hot to handle, and there are rumors that the collectors of a slush fund intended to grease its passage are in a dither, with no one willing to accept the money and the income tax agents peeking over their shoulders.

Parking lots and garages in the loop maintain a fixed price scale. The business, as its details have come to public attention in the last year, has all the earmarks of a racket dominated by a politico-criminal alliance. If the police and the state's attorney will give it a thoro shaking up they should dislodge some of these vermin that are feeding on it.

Editorial of the Day

WHY THEY GET HIT.

[Danville Commercial-News.]

The riddle of why a pedestrian crosses the street when cars are coming in all directions may have a surprising answer. It is not merely to get on the other side; it is because he never drove a car himself and doesn't appreciate the risks he runs.

Nine out of ten pedestrians killed by automobiles are in that class, according to Prof. Amos J. Neyhart, driver training consultant at Pennsylvania State college. Never having driven a car, they do not understand the drivers' problems, they cannot judge the speed of approaching cars or the efficiency of brakes. Furthermore, it is said that two-thirds of the pedestrians killed are more than 40 years old, many of them with impaired eyesight, hearing, and muscular reactions.

If confirmed by further studies, these discoveries should have an important bearing on the safety problem. They suggest the need of more intensive education among the nondrivers, particularly in the observance of traffic lights and the use of crosswalks.

It should be possible to reduce materially the accident toll among those nine out of ten pedestrians. The tenth is probably the chap who deliberately saunters across the street against the red light; for him nothing much can be done except by the coroner.

SHARPSHOOTER AT THE BRIDGE.

James F. Bowers Jr., one of the most dreaded sharpshooters who wear the insignia of this column, a veritable franc-tireur waging eternal warfare against inaccuracies, is now occupying a rifle pit in Tribune Square and is blazing away at an inscription on the northeast pylon of the boulevard bridge. He is trying to shoot the double "l" out of the name of the French explorer, Louis Jolliet.

Yes, James, Joliet is the accepted spelling. We find it spelled that way in the Britannica, the World, Ridpath, Parkman, and Andreas. But in documents of his period, Joliet's name was spelled Jolliet, Jollyet, and Jolyet. Father Jacques Marquette, who traveled with him thru this wilderness in 1673, spelled it Jolyet. See "The Jesuit Relations and Allied Documents" [A. & C. Boni, 1925].

We agree that it would have been tactful of the Chicago Historical society, or whoever prepared "copy" for the inscription on that pylon, to follow the general modern usage.

"France in America," by R. G. Thwaites, in "The American Nation" series [Harper and Bros., 1905] uses the Jolliet form.

If you want some really good shooting, James, to keep in practice for invading parachute jumpers, try the name of Shakespeare. It has numerous variants, and the great man himself spelled it "Shaxsper." But he was probably feeling sick at the time.

* * *

Joliet was born in Quebec when there wasn't much school mastering to be had. But his canoemate, Marquette, was born in Laon, France, now active in the war news.

URGENT MESSAGE.

"Urgent," it said, and I think I knew then
  That you had gone on past the sound of my call.
Now that you've taken the path thru the night,
  Time will not matter in spring or in fall.

Nothing will ever seem urgent again,

  In the lilting song of the hermit thrush,
Nor a fragrant, fragile young apple tree
  Swirling a dance in the twilight hush;

I shall not care when the leaves turn green,
  When the trees lean lightly against the blue,
Nor feel swift joy in the downy young birds

  And tho stars are scattered on lake and hill,
It will not matter and I will not wait
  To walk with beauty and drink my fill;

The scarlet and gold of the autumn trees
  Will stir me no more like a bugle call;
I will not race with the whirling leaves;
  Nothing will ever seem urgent at all.

A Bit of Kipling Lore.

The quotation from Rudyard Kipling in last Wednesday's editorial, "The Second War of Independence," forms two lines in his poem, "An American," which may be found in the volume of verse called "The Seven Seas" [1891-'96]. Kipling married an American girl and lived in a Vermont farmhouse from 1892 to 1896. Two of his children were born there. His wife was a granddaughter of Joseph Balestier, a prominent Chicagoan of the frontier period.

Room No. 32 at the Institute.

There are 30 canvases, 7 by Edgar Degas and 23 by Claude Monet, in this unique room at the Art Institute, but the latter are especially significant; e. g., the water lilies and the garden at Giverny in Normandy. It has been said that "the rendering of atmosphere is one of the rarest gifts an artist can possess," and in doing this Monet has brilliantly succeeded. What amazes me on my visits to this shrine of Impressionism is the lack of interest on the public's part. People walk thru Room No. 32 as if it were a department store! Even an hour is a short time in the company of artists who enable us to see the world about us as an immortal vision.

OVERCOMING SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS.

When one is too keenly aware of himself—his clothes, looks, general appearance, and every "saying" and "doing"—he is labeled "self-conscious." Fortunately, the condition is not a disease. It may accompany manifestations of inferiority —the shrinking violet type of personality —and such an individual is all too likely to take a back seat on any and every occasion—stammering and blushing in the presence of those whom he respects.

Not infrequently this state of mind develops because of frustrations or rebuffs. In some instances life has lacked satisfying experiences that should come to every one. At any rate, once the situation is recognized every effort must be made to overcome the handicap, as it will prove a deterrent to happiness.

Now, most of us take "time out"—now and then—to look within. We analyze our innermost feelings and evaluate our shortcomings. But too much of this pastime may lead to an attitude of discouragement—even hypochondria. As a rule, the young man is expected to outgrow his inhibitions—certainly by the age of 30. Young women, on the other hand, master their obstacles far earlier. Even plain girls have a way of finding some field in which they can shine—whereby those about them are captivated by their conversation and charm. It is not uncommon to note a relatively ordinary looking person the center of a group of absorbed listeners. After all, character transcends good looks.

We must not assume that every one of us will completely surmount what may be termed nervousness. I have a friend who is a brilliant orator. His voice is clear, his enunciation perfect, and his ideas—when translated into words—flow in an unending stream. But he reminds me occasionally that he never rises to speak—even to a small audience—but that his knees tremble. As a lad, his teachers prophesied that he would never amount to much. He was so diffident—so easily embarrassed. Today —a man of distinction—he recalls the struggle which he was obliged to go thru.

Then there is the covetous and jealous man who complains that he is slighted and whose narrowness of spirit defeats progress. He is engrossed in what others think of him instead of planning some act of helpfulness or generosity. His own lack of insight into his fragmentary soul breeds discontentment. In joining company he is disappointed if all eyes are not focused upon him—if every one does not rush to greet him. Mental stimulus rarely comes because he is not concerned with those about him.

After all, self-confidence is the result of training. But we must have the right attitude of mind. The blustering, overbearing type—as a rule—is cowardly. He builds up a front to cover a lack of something within. But one cannot lift himself by his bootstraps; neither will a sense of power develop unless friends are willing to express their approbation —even admiration. Those who are timid must seek companionship, force themselves, if necessary, to mingle with others, to try to find points of contact—topics of mutual interest. But deliver us from those voluble bores who sap our nervous strength—the woman with a "cause" who may be endeavoring to find an outward expression of some inward urge. If she succeeds, it is at the expense of her associates.

No intelligent person is worthless. We can all disabuse ourselves of the view "There is no place for me, I am not needed." Only those who have lost faith in themselves can arrive at such a conclusion. This is where pride plays a major rôle. Think well of yourself and others will reflect your opinion—provided, of course, your evaluation is justified.

Now all of this is of real importance to health. Possessed of alertness, poise, and ambition—the circulation is maintained in better tone and the digestive organs function more efficiently. No attempt should be made to shock a boy or girl out of embarrassment. The transition must be gradual and encouragement is the only tonic required.

TYPES OF ARTHRITIS.

D. S. writes: Will you explain the following kinds of arthritis: atrophic, hypertrophic, and rheumatoid?

REPLY.

Atrophic and rheumatoid are the same. This is a chronic malady, the cause of which is unknown. Many joints are afflicted as a rule, with deformity and loss of function. Hypertrophic, or osteoarthritis, is characterized by overgrowth of the joints with nodules.

SMALL FEET.

R. R. writes: I am 21 years old. Is it too late to bind my feet to make them smaller?

REPLY.

Too late at any age. Furthermore, size 2½ has made way for 6½. The pedal extremities should be allowed to develop naturally lest we lose the art of walking. Getting about under one's own power depends upon well muscled, well formed feet. The fit of the shoe rather than its size makes for an attractive appearance.

PILL COVERING.

M. P. writes: What covering is used in tablets that are not intended to melt in the stomach but farther along in the digestive tract?

REPLY.

Several substances—chiefly keratin. The latter is insoluble in the gastric juice. Capsules or pills coated with this material dissolve only in the intestine.

TODAY IN HISTORY

May 24, 1861

Federal troops crossed the Potomac and occupied the Virginia shore without opposition. The plan was to protect Washington, recover Harper's Ferry if possible and train volunteers for a fall campaign. Harper's Ferry was taken, and then Gen. McDowell was ordered to attack the confederate troops which were covering the Manassas Gap railway. The result was the first battle of Bull Run, which ended disastrously for McDowell's men.

Chicago, May 16.—We census takers started work April 2, and six weeks later we are still without pay for services rendered, altho we had to support ourselves, pay our own expenses, and work as many as 12 hours a day in order to catch people at home and complete our duties within a tight period of time.

Any commercial firm that would dare treat its employés in this manner would invite the immediate attention of that department of the New Deal government which professes so much interest in the welfare of the worker.

OUR DEFENSE AGAINST INDIANS.

Chicago, May 22.—The concern over the defense of America brings to mind the various locations of military forts in our land. Forts are to be found now at posts where they were erected to fight the Indians. The copper-skinned warriors have long ceased to be on the offensive, yet the forts remain. They are usually quite remote from any possibly dangerous frontier.

In event of emergency more use would be made of urban armories than of the scattered inland military posts now located in interior states.

Thomas J. McCormick.

BAMBOOZLED.

Aurora, Ill., May 20.—It would seem that Mr. Lindbergh was bamboozled by Hitler much as Mr. Theodore Roosevelt was bamboozled by the kaiser. Both, as men of influence and personality, had the opportunity to talk heart to heart with German potentates along the lines of universal peace and disarmament. Instead, they talked as warriors to warriors and encouraged them in their nefarious enterprise.

Clark More.

LINCOLN'S VOICE A BARITONE.

Earlville, Ill., May 16.—A few days ago, in the Voice of the People, the question was asked, "In what tone did Lincoln speak?"

Many years ago I put that same question to a civil war veteran, Prof. J. C. Kelley, a local singing teacher and trainer of choirs. He sang first tenor as a member of a quartet at two or three of the Lincoln-Douglas debates, and at many meetings to secure volunteers. His widow, now about 80, is living at the Soldiers' Widows' home at Wilmington, Illinois.

In reply to my question, Mr. Kelley said, "Mr. Lincoln's voice was a high, resonant baritone. His speaking voice ranged about 'a' and 'b' flat."

D. J. Nunemacher.

DON'T ADD ANOTHER FOLLY.

New York, May 18.—It is folly that this country should have come thru these recent years and down to the month of May, 1940, with such criminal failure to prepare. But let us not add to this crime the stupidity of declaring war, while entirely unready, against the greatest military machine of all history.

Merwin K. Hart.

TENANTS AND MILK SUPPLY.

Evanston, Ill., May 21.—Why not cut distribution cost of milk and every one share in the price savings?

We have just moved into an apartment neighborhood and for the three kitchen doors opening on our porch there are three different companies supplying service. In fact, two elderly ladies sharing an apartment are not agreed on the same company but have two different cards tacked on the same door.

Some families like milk delivered before 7 a. m. and some around 8, and so the milkman makes two trips to the same building. Even tho the customer does not take so much as a quart every other day, he must run up three flights of stairs twice a day just in case.

Would not a little coöperation among tenants and consolidation among dealers save this distribution waste for the benefit of all, or would it mean loss of personal liberty in a free country?

Mrs. F.

OUR MOST DANGEROUS MEN.

Chicago, May 19.—I doff by bonnet to you in sincere salute for your fine cartoon by McCutcheon in today's Tribune, entitled "The Road Hog." However, in the subhead, "Probably the Most Dangerous Man We Have," the word "probably" is, I think, superfluous. There is no "probably" about it.

Maximilian E. Huhnke.

NOT ANOTHER CHAMBERLAIN.

New Lenox, Ill., May 16.—In your editorial today you picture Roosevelt as another Chamberlain. How you can come to any such conclusion is hard to make out. As a Republican, I wish you were right. Chamberlain is a natural conservative. In politics, his father, Joseph Chamberlain, was a radical member of the liberal party, in the same class as his friend, John Bright.

Neville is anything but a radical. He is certainly too conservative to act as premier. If he were a bit more like Roosevelt, and if the President was a little more like Chamberlain, it would be better for both England and America.

Frank H. Perry.

SHALL WE HAVE AT HIM NOW?

Chicago, May 20.—Twenty-two years ago we were entangled in a foreign war in order to make the world safe for democracy. We did not succeed. But are we because of that disappointment justified in refraining from trying again? Is it safe for us to stand aloof and see sadism triumphant, sadism vindicated? Would a conquering hungry brute in a famine-stricken continent leave us alone? We can beat him off, but at what cost? Is it not more practicable, agonizing as it be, to square accounts right now, and to see to it that a better job is made of it this time—in regard to both friend and enemy?

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

SURVIVORSHIP.

Chicago, May 16 [Legal Friend of the People].—1. A man and wife were in an accident which proved fatal to both at the same time. They have no children of their own. The one has a sister and brother living and the other has both parents living. There is no will. Who becomes the legal beneficiary of all home furnishings, a business, car, insurance policies, and safety deposit box contents. The parents are the only ones who have access to any valuable papers, etc.

2. If the business is not entirely paid for, what becomes of it and the money already paid into it?

3. If some things are in the man's name and some in the wife's name, who becomes the legal beneficiary.

4. If everything is in man's name or in wife's name, who becomes legal beneficiary?

5. If one lives a bit longer than the other, does that change any of the previous answers?

H. F.

1. We assume that they left no wills. If it can be proved that one survived the other, then the survivor would inherit from the one who died first, in accordance with the attached mimeograph, and the assets of the survivor, including what he had inherited from the predeceased spouse, would in turn be distributed in accordance with the mimeograph.

2. If the heirs wish to complete the payments presumably they can do so. We cannot advise without having the facts more accurately.

3. See 1. Rights in insurance policies would depend on the wording of the policies.

4. See 1.

5. See 1.

If it cannot be proved which one survived, then the assets of each spouse would go to the relatives of that spouse.

JUDGE TO CLEAR WAY FOR BIGGER AIRPORT TODAY

Track Removal Expected Within Twelve Months.

Chicago's expanded airport will be completed and ready for airliners and planes of all types within 12 months. This was indicated yesterday as final steps were being prepared for the formal acquisition by the city of more than 75 parcels of property necessary for the expansion. At the same time it was indicated that the deduction of unpaid taxes on some of the properties would reduce substantially the actual cost of the land to the taxpayers.

Today, Joseph Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, will appear before Judge Denis J. Normoyle and present a 125 page order for his signature. This order will condemn properties needed to provide a new right of way for railroad tracks that now bisect the airport tract.

Deduct Unpaid Taxes.

After verification of titles is started, the city will deposit about $225,000 with the county treasurer to pay the condemnation judgments to the various landowners.

Before paying the judgments, Grossman said, the treasurer will deduct unpaid back taxes or special assessments. As a result, he said, a sizable percentage of the money will come back to the taxing agencies of the county and state.

Today's scheduled court formality will be the last legal step toward removal of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks which cut thru the 620 acre tract available for airport puposes. This tract is bounded by 55th and 63d streets and Cicero and Central avenues.

Provide New Right of Way.

The condemned parcels provide a new right of way for the railroad, which will skirt the airport on the west and north.

Removal of the old tracks will make possible the joining of the two halves of the airport to make one of the finest air terminals in the United States. At present only the southern part is used. However, the northern portion is already improved with concrete runways, taxi strips, loading zones, and graded topsoil.

MUSIC FETE SET TOMORROW NIGHT IN FOREST PARK

The first of a series of preliminary music festivals to be held this spring and summer in connection with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's 11th annual Chicagoland Music Festival will be conducted tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Parichy field in Forest Park. Sponsored by the Forest Park Kiwanis club, the proceeds will go to this club's fund for underpriviledged children. Claude A. Walker, publisher of The Forest Park Review, and president of the civic organization, is directing the festival. Charles Meseke is general chairman.

Philip Maxwell, director of THE TRIBUNE's festival, will be master of ceremonies. Sixteen music organizations composed of 974 singers and bandsmen will participate. Among the directors of choirs and choruses participating are Reinhold Walter, Carl Behnke, Alvin Bruns, Robert Rueter, Sam Mages, and J. Irving Tallmadge. In case of inclement weather the event will be postponed to Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Chicagoland festival will be held Saturday night, Aug. 17, in Soldiers' field.

FIX $1,213,374 TAX CLAIM AGAINST CUTTEN ESTATE

The government and the administrator of Arthur W. Cutten's estate agreed yesterday on $1,213,374 as the government's income tax claim.

Creditors protested, asserting that the government's claim would wipe out the estate of the grain trader, whose wealth was once estimated at 100 million dollars, without leaving anything to meet their claims of $675,000. Judge Harry W. McEwen of Dekalb, sitting in Probate court, set June 12 for a hearing on their objections.

Harold Stickler, attorney for the American National Bank and Trust company, administrator, told the court the government has agreed to cancel claims for 1930 and 1933, but that it insists on payment for 1928 and 1929. Stickler said it was unlikely that the government's claim would ever be paid in full, as the estate's assets were last listed at $416,285. Mr. Cutten died in 1936.

7 G. O. P. IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR IN INDIANA TODAY

Willis Likely to Capture Senate Nomination.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May 23.—Indiana's 1940 Republican Derby is all set to be run tomorrow when the 1,927 delegates convene in the party's state convention at the state fair grounds. The race for nomination for governor tonight overshadows all else in the crowded hotel lobbies. Six have been in the field campaigning. A seventh entered today.

Judge J. A. Emmert [top] and Glen R. Hillis.

The three leaders are Judge James A. Emmert of Shelbyville, a Hoosier homespun type, who looks like Lincoln; Glen R. Hillis of Kokomo, lawyer and industrialist, and William E. Jenner of Shoals, minority leader in the state senate.

Three others regarded as dark horses if the three leaders get into a deadlock are George R. Jeffrey of Indianapolis, former United States attorney who two years ago demanded federal officials investigate the Democratic 2 per cent slush club; David Hogg of Muncie, a former congressman, and Clarence E. Benadum of Muncie. A seventh, Lem Trotter, Indianapolis real estate man, announced today.

No Choice on First Ballot.

Few believe that any candidate will get the 969 votes, the necessary majority, on the first ballot.

For nomination for United States senator, Raymond Willis, Angola publisher, who was party nominee two years ago, is backed by the Indiana Republican Editorial association and is conceded to have the best chance. His opponents are Walter Bossert of Liberty and Straude E. Wiseman of New Albany.

Bossert was a regional director of the Ku Klux Klan and led the fight for the banishment from the klan of D. C. Stephenson, now serving a life sentence for murder.

Willis expects to land on the first ballot. Before the candidates go to the post in the convention each must pay an entrance assessment. For candidates for senator it is $1,200. Those running for governor pay $1,000. The fees run into lower brackets for other offices. Before the roll call is had the money must be laid down on the barrel head. It goes to pay the expenses of the state convention and to get the campaign under way.

Buttonholing of Delegates.

All day and tonight a tremendous amount of buttonholing of delegates, and of logrolling and home swapping on other state offices has been going on.

In meetings by the 12 congressional district units tonight the state convention delegates picked the 24 district delegates to the national convention in Philadelphia June 24. The four delegates at large will be elected by the entire convention. Rooms have been opened in the hotel by representatives of Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan. The delegates are expected to be uninstructed.

Keynoter of the convention tomorrow morning is to be Gov. John A. Bricker of Ohio, himself a presidential candidate. James M. Knapp, speaker of the house, is to be permanent chairman.

FINISH SUBWAY RIVER CROSSING AT STATE STREET

Construction of the river crossing section of the subway at State street has been completed, Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, announced yesterday. The 200 foot twin tube section was sunk into a trench in the river bottom last December and since then connecting links have been built in cofferdams constructed at either end of the tube section.

The links in the cofferdams will be joined with subway tunnels now being dug under State street both north and south of the river. The cofferdams then will be removed. The State street tunnel that runs thru the loop was started at 11th street and has been dug northward to Jackson boulevard by 200 ton steel "biscuit cutters."

Harrington also reported that 51,000 feet or 63 per cent of the tunnel work on the 7.7 mile subway project has been completed and that the building of 5 of the 24 subway stations is under way.

Democrats of Vermont Are Pledged to Roosevelt

Bennington, Vt., May 23 (AP).—Vermont Democrats pledged their six vote delegation to the party's national convention to President Roosevelt today after hearing Ambrose O'Connell, second assistant postmaster general, declare that "the only hope of providing the kind of government the American people desire lies in the Democratic party."

Wife of Judge O'Connell Scalds Self While Cooking

Mrs. Adeline A. O'Connell, wife of Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, was taken to Grant hospital yesterday with severe burns on the left leg. She scalded herself while cooking in her home at 3432 Bosworth avenue. Mrs. O'Connell is under the care of Dr. Karl Meyer, who said that while her condition was not serious, she would have to remain in the hospital for two or three weeks.

SENATORS TOLD OF AN INDIANA '10 PCT. CLUB'

Witness Says Contractors 'Kick Back.'

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP).—Frank Bielaski, operator of a New York detective agency, told a senate committee investigating wire tapping today that the state of Indiana had "a 10 per cent club in the form of kickbacks from contractors."

He testified that investigations he made in Indiana in 1938 for the Republican state committee were directed at "2 per cent clubs as well as 10 per cent clubs."

Minton Wants Details.

Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], a member of the investigating committee, asked:

"What contractors made payments and to whom?"

"I can't say," Bielaski replied.

"You'll either tell this committee or withdraw the charge," Minton declared heatedly.

Bielaski said his services in Indiana were paid for by the chairman of the Republican state committee and he asserted that his report on the "10 per cent club" was incorporated in a report to the senate campaign expenditures committee.

Senator "Never Saw It."

However, Minton, a member of the campaign committee, said he had never seen any such report.

The senator demanded that the subpoena for Bielaski's appearance before the wire tapping committee be extended until he produced evidence that there was a "10 per cent club," or withdrew the remark.

Bielaski agreed to try to produce such evidence but said it might take some time. He then testified that he had not used wiretapping or listening devices during his Indiana investigation.

Ambrose O'Connell Named First Assistant to Farley

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP).—President Roosevelt today promoted Ambrose O'Connell of New York from second to first assistant postmaster general. O'Connell will succeed William W. Howes, resigned recently because he wanted to become active again in South Dakota politics. The President also sent to the senate the nomination of Smith W. Purdum of Maryland, now fourth assistant postmaster general, to be second assistant. Subject to senate confirmation, the President reappointed Charles M. Hite to be secretary of the territory of Hawaii.

19 TRY TO REPAY EMPLOYER, BUT FEAR WAGE LAW

Seek to Return $5,100 Overtime Pay.

Nineteen employes of the Martin Auto Parts company, Inc., 3359 North Ashland avenue, would like to return to that company the sum of $5,100. They feel they did not earn this money awarded them by federal wage and hour officials for overtime which the company admitted the employes worked.

The 19 employes are anxious, however, not to do anything in violation of the wage and hour law which would bring punishment to themselves or to the company.

As a result Thomas O'Malley, Chicago regional director of the wage and hour division, department of labor, is pondering this problem:

Assuming that there had been no compulsion and that there would be no discrimination in the future, and that there had been no promises or threats, and that the company had no knowledge of which employes tendered the money, would such a return,

1. Involve employes in any possible violation of the wage and hour bill?
2. Involve the company in any violation?

Company Agrees to Pay.

This problem, which has called into play a legion of legal talent and kept the wires busy between Chicago and Washington, arose when someone reported to the wage and hour division that the Martin company was violating the law. The source of these complaints, it was pointed out, are secret, and they may be made by competitor, employe, or man in the street.

After an investigation the company agreed to pay 93 employes a total of $13,141 and a decree was entered by Federal Judge William H. Holly on April 16. Nineteen employes wanted to return their share, $5,100, but had been warned about law violations, so decided to proceed cautiously.

A committee of two called on Attorney Charles F. Hough and placed the matter before him. Attorney Hough wrote to Col. Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the wage and hour division in Washington, and asked for a ruling and a full investigation.

Try to Return Share.

Meanwhile a few workmen had tried to return their share of the money. This offer, Attorney Hough said, was met by a notice posted on the bulletin board by the company. This notice reported that the money had been tendered, and that it did not have to be returned. It said the matter would be decided by officials in due course and expressed thanks for the spirit of the thing.

Attorney Hough, whose connection with the case was discovered on the case records in Washington, said the employes felt the company had been good to them, and didn't owe them the money.

"It is a high salaried outfit, mostly skilled labor," he said, "and the case involved largely overtime and not a minimum wage."

Regional Administrator O'Malley said the investigation was going forward. Attorney Alex Elson of the wage and hour division said the division felt it was a very unusual situation.

BOOTLEGGER KING OF '20S SUES FOR DISTILLERY STOCK

Cincinnati, O., May 23 [Special].—Charging collusion to deprive him of distillery stock valued at $320,000, George Remus, Cincinnati, one-time "king of the bootleggers," filed suit to Common Pleas court today demanding an accounting from two of his former associates, George R. Landen and Sidney H. Miller, both of Cincinnati.

George Remus.

In the suit, presented thru John W. Driskill, Cincinnati attorney, Remus lays claim to a one-third interest in the former Hill & Hill distillery, Owensboro, Ky., stock of which, he alleges, is now in the National Distillers' Products Corporation of Virginia.

Remus earned his title of bootleg king thru widespread liquor deals that are said to have netted him 20 million dollars between 1921 and 1924 when he and 13 hirelings went to Atlanta federal prison. Remus served 19 months in Atlanta and later a year in an Ohio county jail. His fines totaled more than $100,000.

Most of the liquor Remus handled was withdrawn thru bribery and other methods from government warehouses. Some of it was sold in Chicago, where it was said the Capone gang was the chief distributor.

Former Indiana Couple Found Slain in California

San Bernardino, Cal., May 23 (AP).—Roll Heaton, 57 years old, and his wife, Frances, 54, were found shot to death today in their ranch home. Coroner R. E. Williams said Heaton apparently shot his wife and then himself. They came here a year ago from Frankfort, Ind., where Heaton had been in the grocery business 25 years.

CHICAGO DOCTOR AIDED LOTTERY, U. S. COURT TOLD

Boston, Mass., May 23 (AP).—Testimony that Dr. Frank Deacon of Chicago entered into an agreement for the promotion of a so-called $20,000,000 Will Rogers memorial lottery and that he was paid approximately $5,000 by the leader of a national promoting organization was given in United States District court today.

Dr. Deacon, only defendant out of 72 indicted to plead not guilty, went on trial before Judge George C. Sweeney and a jury on a charge of transporting lottery matter interstate and conspiracy to transport such matter.

The first witness was Abraham Zimmerman of Chicago, alleged lottery ring leader, who already has pleaded guilty to charges similar to those against the physician. Zimmerman was brought to Boston from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary, where he is serving a term for income tax evasion.

He testified that after contracting to pay Dr. Deacon a part of the money collected, he printed more than a million lottery tickets monthly for sale at 50 cents each for four $20,000 prizes.

REFUSE TO INDICT EX-POLICEMEN IN VICE SHAKEDOWN

The grand jury yesterday returned a no bill against four former members of the detective bureau vice squad after conducting an investigation into alleged shakedowns by the policemen. Two preceding grand juries failed to find sufficient evidence to indict the policemen, who have been discharged by the police trial board. They are William J. Kearney, Elmer Johnson, Edward Hickey, and Francis O'Malley. The charges were preferred by Capt. John I. Howe of Commissioner Allman's staff, who headed a group of 60 witnesses in the grand jury investigation.

GAMBLING'S BIG SHOTS PARTIAL TO $1,000 BILLS

Chicago gamblers disdain bulky bank rolls. They ask for $1,000 bills when they cash in their winnings. If none is available, they want $100 bills, at least.

This was disclosed in testimony yesterday during the final day of the contempt trial of William Goldstein, former lawyer of the Johnson-Skidmore syndicate, and Stuart S. Brown, copartner in a currency exchange which, the government says, served as financial clearing house for most of the city's gambling resorts. Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward took the case under advisement.

A federal grand jury has asked that the two defendants be held in contempt because of allegedly false testimony they made during the jury's long inquiry into the incomes of leading figures in the Chicago gambling racket.

COP'S BLACKMAIL ACCUSER FACES CONTEMPT QUIZ

Herman Seiler, alias Joachim Dahler, 43 years old, an ex-convict, was ordered yesterday to appear today before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court to answer a contempt of court citation. The charge was preferred when Seiler refused to testify before the grand jury after being granted immunity by Judge Prystalski. Seiler, arrested on charges of passing $1,000 in bad checks and robbing mail boxes, told Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis that a state highway policeman had made him pay $115 and promise to pay $385 more for not arresting charge. Seiler refused to repeat his allegation when taken before the grand jury.

Kruse and his son, Lester; James M. Ragen Sr. and his son, James M. Jr., and Herbert S. Kamin.

TOLL HOUSE COOKIES ARE EASY TO MAKE

Here's the way to make cookies that are absolutely different and perfectly delicious. Each bite contains a smooth, tasty nugget of Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate and a bit of walnut meat. What a combination! And these cookies are so easy to make! Here's the tested, never-failing recipe. Try it and watch those cookies disappear.

1 cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs, beaten whole
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon hot water

2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped nuts
2 Nestle's Semi-Sweet Economy Bars (7 oz. ea.)
1 teaspoon vanilla

Important: Cut the Nestle's Semi-Sweet in pieces the size of a pea. Cream butter and add sugars and beaten egg. Dissolve soda in the hot water and mix alternately with the flour sifted with the salt. Lastly add the chopped nuts and the pieces of semi-sweet chocolate. Flavor with the vanilla and drop half teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 375° F. oven. Makes 100 cookies. Every one will be surprised and delighted to find that the chocolate does not melt. Insist on Nestle's Semi-Sweet Chocolate in the Yellow Wrap, there is no substitute.

BAKE YOUR OWN BREAD; BOOKLET TELLS YOU HOW

All Varieties—Salt Rising to Pumpernickel.

"Nothing tastes as good as fresh homemade bread, newly from the oven, its crust a rich henna brown, its interior light and even textured, warm enough to melt dots of butter into golden pools."

Thus Mary Meade describes the rich nourishing goodness of homemade bread in the introduction to her bread baking booklet. And that's the kind of bread any homemaker can bake in her own kitchen. She needs only to know the general methods of good bread baking, and to possess a tested recipe. All the rules and recipes are given in simple form in Mary Meade's "Better Homemade Breads and Rolls."

Yeast and Quick Varieties.

The booklet contains complete recipes for baking both yeast and quick breads. All of Miss Meade's favorite recipes are included. A few of the recipes included in the booklet are: pumpernickel, salt rising bread, saffron bread, Swedish tea ring, butterscotch rolls, Bohemian kolacky, quick orange rolls, fresh cherry rolls, strawberry muffins, banana bread, blueberry pancakes, and tortillas.

"Better Homemade Breads and Rolls" will be mailed to you for 23 cents in stamps. If you prefer to pick it up yourself, call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, or in the Tribune Tower, and get it for 20 cents. Please address mail requests to Mary Meade.

Homemade Hot Bread

Nothing tastes quite so good as a full flavored homemade hot bread. Prune bow knot rolls are rich with the flavor and nutritive value of honey, dried fruit and bran flakes. To make these rolls: Beat together ⅓ cup honey and ⅓ cup melted butter until well blended. Add 2 beaten eggs, 1 cup milk, 1 cup dried prunes (cooked, pitted, and chopped), and ½ cup chopped nut meats. Sift together 1½ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 4 teaspoons baking powder, and ½ teaspoon soda, and add to liquid ingredients. Add 4 cups bran flakes and stir until all dry ingredients are moistened. Fill muffin pans ¾ full and top with additional prunes, cut in quarters. Place strip of maraschino cherry in center of each prune "bow." Bake in a hot (450 degrees) oven about 18 minutes. Brush with honey just before removing from oven. For additional homemade bread, muffin, and roll recipes, send 23 cents in stamps to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune, for her booklet, "Better Homemade Breads and Rolls."

IMPROVED FLOUR INSURES TASTIER, HEALTHIER BREAD

Drop in Consumption Seen as Factor.

In the decade between 1928 and 193[illegible] the per capita consumption of white flour and baker's bread fell off considerably. The new movement for increasing the health value of white flour and for baking more healthful, flavorful breads may stem in part from that fact.

Yeast is about 2 per cent of the volume of baker's bread and is a valuable source of vitamins. One of the country's leading yeast manufacturers has perfected a process of treating yeast for bread so that a much higher proportion of vitamins is retained in the finished loaf than ordinarily is preserved.

Vitamin Concentrates Added.

Some breads now are fortified with a vitamin concentrate composed of wheat germ, cornstarch, and salt.

A chain of bakeries in the east has just begun to mill its own flour right at its bakeries and to bake bread immediately from that flour so that the vitamin-rich wheat germ, subject to quick spoilage, may be utilized. Most makers of white flours heretofore have discarded the wheat germ because of its tendency to induce spoilage, and consequently white flour has not included the most nutritious part of the wheat kernel.

Millers and bakers all over the country have taken a keen interest in a new process, developed by an Illinois milling concern, for milling flour containing the wheat germ by a method that assures the keeping qualities of the flour. Breads, rolls, coffee cakes, and other bakery products made with this healthful wheat germ are available in Chicago and in many other large cities. And it is now possible to buy the vitamin flour in many retail stores.

Less Shortening Needed.

Better homemade breads, as well as better commercially baked breads, may be prepared from this flour. Since the flour contains the oil of the wheat germ, the bread needs a smaller than usual amount of shortening. But for general baking purposes it is not necessary to alter a good standard recipe.

Parker House rolls made with the wheat-germ flour seem to possess a decidedly improved flavor and aroma in addition to their health qualities.

Any good roll recipe may be used. This one has been used with marked success:

PARKER HOUSE ROLLS.
[About four dozen.]

½ cup butter
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups scalded milk
2 beaten eggs
2 cakes yeast
2 tablespoons sugar
7 cups sifted wheat germ flour

Add butter and salt to milk as it scalds. Cool to lukewarm and add beaten eggs and yeast which has been allowed to soften in the sugar. Stir in about four cups of the flour and beat until smooth. Add remaining flour gradually, beating until dough becomes stiff, then kneading on a floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Round up dough and place in a greased bowl. Grease the top of the dough. Cover bowl and let the bread rise in a warm place until double in bulk. Punch dough down and let stand 15 minutes. Roll out to a third inch in thickness and cut into rounds. Crease each round thru the middle with the back of a knife, brush with melted butter and fold over, pressing edges of each roll together. Place on a greased baking sheet and allow to rise until light before baking. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

FISH FILLETS BAKED IN CREAM PROMISE TO SUIT WHOLE FAMILY

Fish may not be a favorite with the family, but there will be no objections when rolled fish fillets, seasoned and baked in cream, are served. These individual fillets are especially attractive with a garnish of parsley or watercress.

Rolled Fish Fillets.
[Serves Six.]

2 pounds fish fillets
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons catsup
1 teaspoon minced parsley
4 tablespoons butter
2 cups milk

Cut fillets into serving strips. Sprinkle with the salt and paprika and spread with the catsup and parsley. Roll up each strip and fasten it with a toothpick. Place in shallow buttered baking dish, top with butter and add milk. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] about half an hour. Remove to serving platter and garnish with parsley or cress.

PICNIC BARGAINS NUMEROUS FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Food Prices Do Their Bit in a Patriotic Way.

BY MARY MEADE.

Everything for the Memorial day picnic—from mustard to marshmallows—will be right up in front on the grocery counters of the city this week-end.

Even the salad vegetables are cooperating by being among the best "greenstuffs" buys on the market. Meat bargains, too, are an invitation to eat out-of-doors. Such specials as frying chickens, frankfurters, hamburger, cold cuts, and smoked meats head the list.

Many Bargains Offered.

Picnic hamper possibilities include such specially priced items as canned meats, canned baked beans, cheese, pickles, mustard, popcorn, cookies, ready baked cakes, and bottled beverages. In some stores these items will be featured thruout the week.

The Sunday dinner shopper has a variety of meats, poultry and fish from which to make her selection. Pork loins and beef pot roasts probably are the very best buys. But for a little more money you can have, swiss, round, or sirloin steaks, frying and roasting chickens, duck, smoked hams and other cuts. Not much lamb or veal is being featured this week-end.

If you've been saving a special bottle of herb-flavored or wine vinegar, now is the time to bring it out of hiding. Crisp greens of every description, pungent green onions and fat little radishes are ready and waiting for your salad bowl. And they're wearing temptingly low price tags.

Tomatoes Are Cheaper.

Tomatoes, nice fat ones with a tart fresh from the garden flavor, are cheaper, too. They're getting right down to everyday prices. Cukes are no cheaper than last week, but they, too, are moderately priced. Lettuce is the only green that's higher this week, but there are so many substitute greens available in quantity that you can afford a little variety this time.

Cabbage and spinach are both extremely reasonable and both are young and tender enough to take a dip in the salad dressing. Other greens available include dandelion, collard, mustard, endive, chicory, and watercress.

Asparagus is cheaper again this week. It's probably one of the best vegetable selections you could make from the price and quality standpoints. Green beans and wax beans, both of which are of first rate quality, are among the few vegetables that are higher this week. Other pricetag mark-ups will be found on carrots, green peas, and celery. All of these ups in price are slight ones.

Old Potatoes Vanishing.

Old potatoes are disappearing fast. Idaho russets, about the only variety still available, are somewhat higher. New potatoes remain moderately priced.

Strawberry shortcake, with a couple of capital "S" is on the menu to stay, at least for a few merry weeks. The berries are coming up in quart packages nowadays and prices are still going down. Even berries as near home grown as southern Illinois are now coming in to the Chicago market.

Cherries and cantaloupe from California are not exactly cheap, but they are a little less expensive. This is an early season for the melons, but the quality is excellent for shipped produce.

Grapefruit, Apples Scarcer.

The grapefruit and apple seasons are nearly over. Grapefruit quality is only fair and Winesaps are the only apples generally available. Oranges are still of good quality and are fairly moderate in price.

You can begin to look forward to fresh pineapple in your everyday menus. More of the prickly topped fruit is arriving from Cuba and the price is down to a moderate level. Peak shipments and lowest of the season prices soon will be here.

Yes, the picnic season is really here. Watermelons have been on the market since the first of the month. They're Cuban melons, and they're very dear, but they're watermelons.

To Make Muffins in Jiffy Use Two Bowls for Mixing

Light, fluffy muffins must be made in a jiffy, if they're to appear hot from the oven in time for breakfast. It's easy to put muffins together if two bowls are used. Sift the flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt into one bowl. Beat the egg in the other bowl and add the milk and melted shortening. It is a quick trick to pour the egg mixture, all at once, into the flour mixture.

IT'S PICNIC TIME, FOLKS; PLAN ONE OF THESE MENUS

BY YVONNE CROWLEY.

When warm and sunny weather beckons you to leave the kitchen in favor of a day's outing, it's time to get out the picnic basket and gather family and friends together for the happy occasion. It's a good chance for the family cook to relax and enjoy her food for a change, knowing that she won't have to fuss with pots and pans and dishes when the meal is finished.

It's surprising how a complete meal can be prepared out of doors without using a single utensil. A sharply pointed green stick adequately takes the place of a fork for wiener roasts or steak fries, and since the cooked meat is usually slipped quickly onto a slice of buttered bread or split roll, there's really no need for plates. However, if the menu does include more than just hand to mouth foods, paper plates, forks, napkins, spoons, and cups are good energy savers.

Avoid Last Minute Rush.

Plan the picnic menu and order the food a day in advance, and be sure to check the list of supplies so the outing will start off right without any last minute worries such as forgotten salt. If breakfast picnickers are early risers, it might be well to prepare the food the previous evening. Sandwiches will keep well overnight if each one is wrapped separately in waxed paper. Then store them in a cardbox box lined with heavy waxed paper and a towel which has been wrung out in cold water.

Tasty sandwiches are easy to make with ready sliced loaves of dark and white bread and a variety of fillings. For quick action, line up slices of bread in a double row on the kitchen table and spread each slice with softened butter. Put fillings on one row of slices, top with opposite row of slices and the sandwiches are ready to be wrapped. Avoid using juicy fillings that might soak into the bread, and when lettuce is to be included, be sure that it is crisp and well drained before using.

Don't Forget Vacuum Jug.

If a salad is to be served at the picnic, chill it thoroly before packing, and then cover tightly in the container and wrap in several layers of newspaper, tying it tightly to keep cold. A vacuum jug filled with a cool, refreshing drink is essential at a picnic. Fruit-ades, iced coffee, tea or milk should be thoroly chilled before pouring into vacuum containers. For those who prefer a hot drink, tea, coffee, or cocoa may be kept hot by the same method.

Let the neighborhood bakery supply the dessert to complete the meal, or top the picnic basket with fresh fruits and ready packaged cup cakes or cookies. And remember when planning the menu to consider quantity as well as variety, for ordinary appetites seem to expand in the fresh air and sunshine.

QUICK MEALS NEEDN'T BE MONOTONOUS; HERE IS ONE FOR OCCASION

Quick meals needn't be monotonous ones, for canned foods offer many pleasant variations for the hurry-up menu. Try this delicious lima bean-tomato rabbit for your next "rush" lunch or supper. Whole kernel corn, wax or green beans, peas, or mushrooms may be used instead of the lima beans if desired.

Lima Bean Tomato Rabbit.

[Serves Eight.]

4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 No. 2 can lima beans
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 cup cubed American cheese

Melt butter in double boiler and add flour and seasonings. Drain the liquid from beans and tomatoes; add it to the flour mixture and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add vegetables and cheese. Place cover on double boiler and heat until cheese is melted. Serve on toast.

Individual Salad Bowls Easy to Serve at Parties

Individual salad bowls are attractive and easy to serve at buffet-style parties. If the small wooden bowls aren't available, shallow soup bowls may be used. Line them with greens and varicolored fruits or vegetables arranged in sections, or successive layers. It's wise to serve more than one kind of dressing with this type of salad.

SPICED BEETS PEP UP SPRING MEALS; HAVE OTHER TASTY ROLES

SPICED BEETS.

1 No. 2½ can beets.
1 slice onion.
1 tablespoon brown sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
6 whole cloves.
1 stick cinnamon.
3 peppercorns.

Drain the liquid from the beets and add vinegar, onion, sugar, salt and spices. Simmer for 10 minutes, strain and add beets to the hot liquid. Cool and let stand over night before serving.

MELT CANDY BAR FOR A DELICIOUS ICE CREAM SAUCE

The candy bar or peppermint drop that finds its way into the making of these two recipes is in for some real adventure. Here are two ice cream sauces made simply by melting candy. Both are served hot.

Chocolate Peppermint Sauce.

[A Sauce for Ice Cream.]

Melt 12 large chocolate covered peppermint candies in top of a double boiler, stirring contiually. Add ¼ cup cream and 1-16 teaspoon salt. Keep in top of double boiler until ready to serve. Serve warm.

Chocolate Almond Sauce.

Melt two or three almond milk chocolate bars in top of double boiler, stirring while melting. Keep in top of double boiler and serve hot.

Women to Report Today on Red Cross Relief Fund Drive

Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy, chairman of the women's special gift committee, and her chief assistants will meet this morning at 11 o'clock in the Red Cross campaign headquarters in the First National Bank building to report the progress of the hundreds of women who are helping to raise Chicago's quota of $1,000,000 in the $10,000,000 war relief fund.

"No sum is too small to give, nor is any sum too large to cover the needs of the distressed that we are helping in the only practical way that human sympathy can be shown them," Mrs. Cudahy tells her co-workers. "We have only just begun," she adds, "but we hope to have every woman in Chicago interested."

Judging by the size of the committees functioning Mrs. Cudahy's hope may be realized. Mrs. Frank Hixon and Mrs. James A. Cathcart head the Lake Forest committee; Mrs. Willoughly G. Walling is organizing the Winnetka women; Mrs. Howard C. Richardson and Miss Jane Haskins are co-chairmen of the Highland Park committee; Mrs. Richardson Dunham heads the Barrington workers; Mrs. George White, Oak Park; Mrs. Raymond Carey, Mrs. Albert Easingwood, and Miss Eleanor McNally, Evanston; Mrs. W. M. Brzezicki and Miss Isabelle Thompson, the west side; Miss Frances Gethro, Mrs. George B. McKibbin, Mrs. J. W. Aspley, Mrs. Marquis Eaton, and Mrs. Charles Krutckoff, the south side, and Mrs. Charles Garfield King, Mrs. Richard T. Crane, Mrs. Ira Frank, and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey on the near north side.

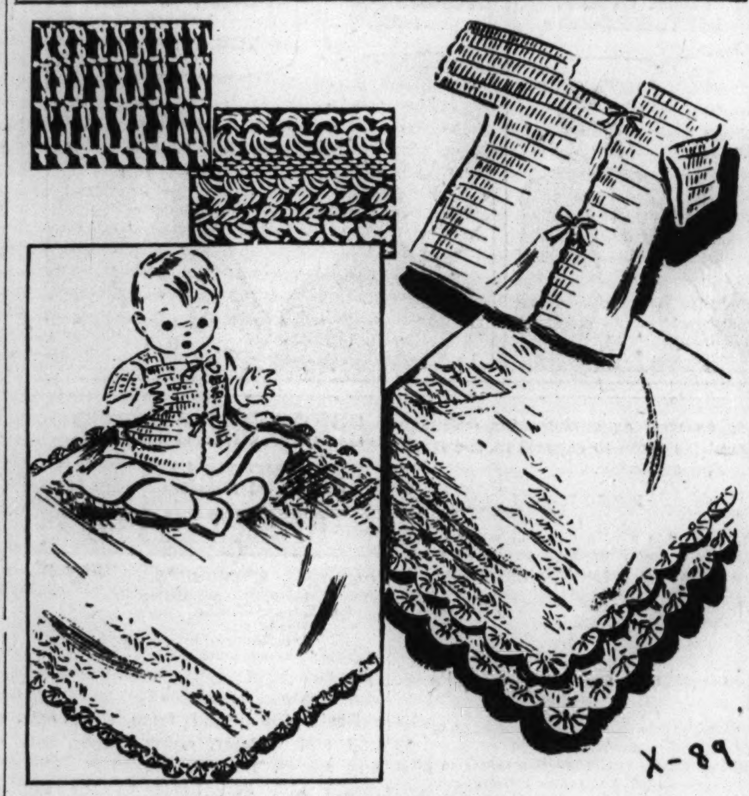
Crocheted Carriage Items



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

There are never too many jackets or carriage covers in any infant's wardrobe but, regardless of the number, all must be different. This dainty crocheted carriage robe is done in combination afghan and star stitches, with soft Germantown yarn of good quality. The border is in a shell pattern with a picot finish. The baby's jacket is the essence of simplicity, worked in a double crochet stitch and fastened at the side with two satin bows. Pompadour or baby wool is the choice for the jacket, altho Germantown may be used if the jacket is to be of the heavyweight variety.

For instructions in crocheting the carriage set, No. X-89, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue New York City.

Shining Hair Enhances Face Beauty Also

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you've been doing the shows lately, you have noticed how rich a gloss women's hair is showing. From an orchestra seat the leading lady's hair shines with a luminous light. You come out in the lobby between acts and, by contrast, hair of spectators looks dull. But lighting effects on the stage have to be taken into consideration, and also the fact that the professional must use a heavy pomade or lacquer.

We don't mean to insinuate that only professionals have captured the gloss that glorifies hair. You meet up with it on the heads of friends and acquaintances. To lend impetus in the direction of shining, glossy hair, we might quote one woman's remark: "You know," she said, "it's a funny thing, but people have been telling me lately how much younger looking I am. I figured out why that is. I've been using a scalp unguent and massaging the scalp with it with fingers and hairbrush, and whatever has happened, my skin does look better."

Skin does look better when the hair has that look of vitality a gloss suggests. You may have noticed this yourself when your hair was shampooed and dried so that every bit of oil seemed to have departed. Its dry condition shows up more clearly the lines of the skin. It does look older. Yes, that scalp reflects advantageously in the face as well.

Let Antoinette Donnelly, Tribune beauty editor, show how to massage your hand to beauty. Get a copy of her booklet, "Handmade Hand Beauty." On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents; postpaid, 7 cents.

The Housewife

There's a practical, clever, new invention on the market that is certainly a boon to the city housewife who has to make a paper bundle of the garbage every time she throws it in the incinerator. It consists of a little white metal stand which holds a garbage disposal bag in position, so that all you have to do is to step on a pedal and it opens. You fill it with garbage, lift it out of the rack and simply put the bag in the incinerator. This bag is specially treated so it will not leak or break and a package of 30 bags costs little.

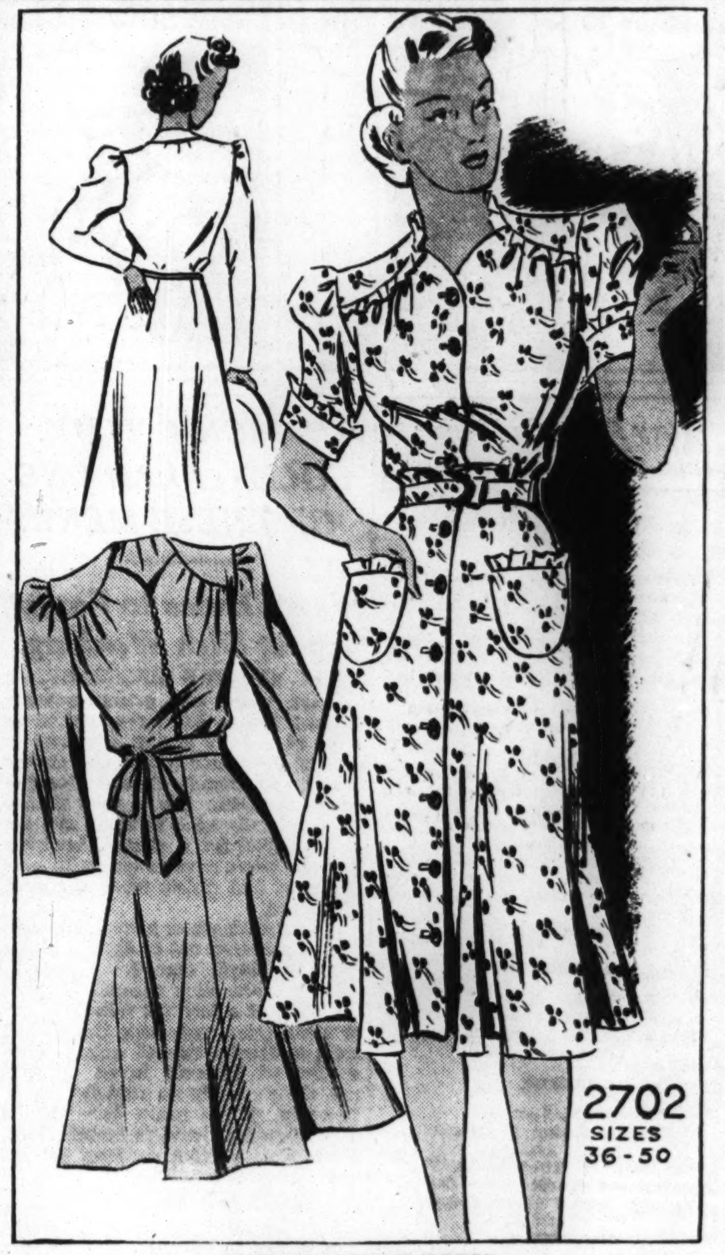
Simplicity Key to Comfort



WOMAN'S SUMMER DRESS.

Simplicity is the key to comfort in summer dresses. Washable, cool materials are the other route to crispness and neatness under the strain of the warmest days. Therefore, select the coolest material you can think of, in either a plain shade or a print, and use this simple pattern as the foundation. There's no collar to choke you and to be ironed. The interesting shoulder yoke is trimmed with ruffling or plaiting, if you like, or left plain as in the version sketched at the left. Buttons in any manner you wish are used down the front of the bodice. Either a sash or a belt may be employed, and it may be of the dress material or be in contrast. Pockets are optional, but they're fashionable this season.

Style No. 2702 is designed for 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inch bust measurements. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material, with 2 yards of ruffling.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Second Member—O, he's sitting in a poker game with a guy who bets $5,000 on an open-in-the-middle straight. You never know what to do with a fellow like that. But eventually you take his shirt.

Final "Gone with the Wind" Story.

A man turned to his companion during intermission at the Woods and said: "That scene showing all the wounded soldiers lying along the railroad yard reminded me of Mable's beach? Did she ever invite you there for a week-end?"

Mexican Addenda.

Much was left unwritten in the recent columns from Mexico—perhaps the things that impressed us most. The way President Cardenas goes freely about to the people, without police protection—in a country with a tradition of violence. The number of new schools thruout the rural regions—modern buildings where the children attend school in the daytime, the parents in the evening. The amazing amount of building going on in new sections of Mexico City, much of it, unfortunately, very bad architecturally, its floridity of style in direct ratio to the amount being spent. The National museum in Mexico City.

• • •

The National museum is surely, from one standpoint, the most interesting museum in the world, for what other museum can offer so varied a series of exhibits from its own history? Its archæological department, with superb and monumental relics of the pre-Spanish culture, comparable to Egyptian archæological remains; its unsurpassed collection of Indian relics; the mementos of the Spanish colonial period, including such fripperies as Spanish court gowns once worn by wives of the Spanish viceroys, fans, and snuff boxes, and chests of silver; examples of religious art, and finally, French empire treasures—the jewels, and brocades, and imperial trappings of Maximilian and Carlotta.

• • •

We visited the museum one morning after having arrived in town the evening before from a motor trip thru the country. The sight of the museum treasures and of the fine brocades and lustre chandeliers in the executive offices of President Cardenas in the National Palace, inherited from Maximilian's time, offered special contrast after the scenes of the countryside—the little houses of adobe and the huts with thatched roofs, the burros laden with firewood or grass, the Indians at their traditional agrarian activities.

• • •

Little mention was made of lovely Cuernavaca, where at the handsome Alfred MacArthur home we found a baby deer tied outside the kitchen door under the bougainvillea and a monkey swinging from a bar in one of the gardens; of the great Indian market at Toluca; of the view from a Thousand Peaks, the place for a picnic lunch on the way to Patzcuaro and the Tarascan Indian country, or of the little island of Janitzio in the center of the lake at Patzcuaro, a Tarascan Indian village, where the Indians live much as they did before the Spanish conquest. Here the Howard Fishers of Chicago have a house overlooking the gemlike lake and the distant mountains.

Youth Keeping Family Away from Fiancee

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Gertrude is 22, pretty, retiring, and in love with a man of 27.

"He's wonderful to me and to everybody, for that matter," Gertrude confides. "Recently I received my engagement ring from him, and we are planning a fall marriage. But what worries me sick is that I have never met his parents, altho they live in the same city. He has brothers and sisters, but I have not met them, either. I would like to meet his mother, at least.

"When I say anything about not meeting his family, he tells me that it is on account of our difference in nationality. He's English and I'm American, and I can't see any difference there. He wants me to marry him and tell his parents after it is over, not before. But I can imagine his mother not liking it and holding it against me, perhaps. But he says he would like the marriage his way, and I can't argue him out of it. It's strange, because every one likes my man and we never quarrel and, of course, I'm in love with him and don't want, of all things, any friction with his parents."

We wonder, too, why some young men are reluctant to have their fiancées meet the parents?

We can understand why, in the beginning of a friendship, the young man may wish to spare himself teasing or criticism of his choice, but when the affair reaches the altar-planning stage it would seem that the girl were entitled to a look at her future in-laws. Such conduct suggests things about parents that may not be true Perhaps, if we were a man, and English, we'd better understand the point of view in this particular case.

We spent an evening recently with a grief-stricken mother whose son ran off and married without a word to her. Our feeling was that the son did this to spare his mother going to any expense, but in view of her grief he might better have let her spend what she wanted to spend.

Barat College Girls to Give Play June 2-3

The Barat College Players, students of Barat college in Lake Forest, will present "9 Till 6," Aimee and Philip Stuart's play with an all-woman cast, at the Goodman theater June 2 and 3.

Sixteen students, among them Rita Courtney, daughter of State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, will take part in the play, which was produced on the legitimate stage by Lee Shubert in 1930. The student-players, all members of the school's dramatic league, have designed their own costumes and settings.

The play will be the first to be given by the student players outside the confines of their college which, with a present enrollment of 100, was founded 22 years ago by the Madames of the Sacred Heart. The first Sacred Heart school in America was founded in St. Charles, Mo., by Mother Phillippine Du Chesne, who was beatified on May 12. A contingent of 25 girls from the college at Lake Forest visited her shrine at St. Charles on the day of her beatification.

Rochester, N. Y., May 23 (AP).—Dr. William Lindsay Young, president of Park college, Parkville, Mo., today was elected moderator of the 152d general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States. Illinois Women Keep Clubs in United States

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 23 [Special].—The Illinois delegation scored a victory today when the General Federation of Women's Clubs in convention here adopted a resolution committing that organization to an "intensive study program on the subject of world rehabilitation."

This resolution replaced one proposed by national board members which would have given the federation's indorsement to this country's assisting in "securing a just settlement of the present conflict," and to America's participation in "some form of world government."

It was a committee chosen at a strategy meeting of the Illinois delegation late yesterday which amended the national board's resolution to the form approved.

The session at which the resolution was to be submitted was already under way this morning when Mrs. Alton G. Hall of Springfield, Ill., international relations chairman, finally persuaded Mrs. Frederic Beggs of Wyckoff, N. J., general federation international relations chairman, to support the amended resolution.

Mrs. Hall later told the convention, "We are not ready for action on the United States' participation in some form of world organization because we have not studied the proposals thoroly, and could not intelligently reach a conclusion."

On the motion of Mrs. Hall the convention then voted to include in its study of world rehabilitation "various proposals for a permanent world society wherein the moral and spiritual values will be accepted as the framework of civilization."

Before the resolution went thru, Mrs. Beggs, Mrs. Harry W. Smith of Durham, N. H. [the resolutions chairman], and Mrs. Hall all told the delegates their agreement on the amended resolution was a "triumph of the democratic process."

Only 24 hours before the national board had used all its power and parliamentary prerogatives to defeat Illinois' resolution urging strong national defense and opposing America's participation in any foreign war.

A substitute resolution advocating national defense but omitting the nonintervention clause had been pushed thru with what Illinois' delegation described as "steam roller tactics."

After a night of arbitration and compromise the national board and the Illinois delegation today presented a united front to the convention. The amended resolution, minus the clauses which had led to the original resolution's defeat at the Illinois state convention last week, went thru quickly with hardly a dissenting vote.

Illinois had chalked up an almost unprecedented victory for a lone state delegation as well as for the democratic process.

Northern Baptists Approve Union with Disciples of Christ

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23 (AP).—Delegates to the Northern Baptist convention shouted approval today to a proposal that their 7,400 churches combine into a single organization with the 6,000 churches of the Disciples of Christ in America.

This consolidation proposal came from Dr. R. H. Miller, pastor of the National City Christian church in Washington, D. C., who was sent as "fraternal delegate" to the Baptist convention from the Disciples.

"At this time," Dr. Miller told the Northern Baptists, "when the nation is combining its resources, we shall have to give our reasons to God why we continue as separate bodies when our doctrines are similar. Both denominations are American, and already we have appointed a joint commission to devise a hymn book and give our churches a common form of devotions."

There are 1,415,000 members in the Northern Baptist churches, and about 1,700,000 members in the Disciple churches.

Marry My Daughter

By Alice Duer Miller

(Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Millicent Dunham's mother is killed saving Dick Shard from being hit by a truck and on her deathbed she makes Dick promise to marry Millicent. Altho Dick is in love with Constance Stewart, whose husband, Aleck, is an invalid, he feels obligated to keep his promise. Dick lives in New York and is rich and distinguished and is head of the Shard firm for which both Mr. and Mrs. Dunham worked in the Kansas branch before their deaths. Millicent, who has been left penniless and untrained, knows she doesn't love Dick, but thinks he loves her, and upon the advice of Dr. Ogden, a family friend, marries him. On their way to New York after the wedding Dick tells her of his promise to Mrs. Dunham. Millicent is humiliated, but agrees to live with him for six months and then get a divorce. Dick tells her she will be free to do as she pleases during that time. Dick neglects his bride for Constance, who suggests that he hire a personal maid for Millicent to advise her on her clothes so that Dick will not be ashamed of her when he takes her out. Constance gives a party for the bride and groom and is astonished and furious when Millicent appears so exquisitely dressed and so beautiful that she takes the spotlight away from her hostess. In taking Dick's advice about leading her own life Millicent makes a friend of Michael Curley, whom she has met at the Metropolitan museum, and with Donald Eaves, a suave worldling whom Constance has introduced to her. Curley falls in love with Millicent and confesses his love for her to Dick and begs him to help protect his wife against Eaves. Millicent, knowing that Dick is in love with Constance, will not heed his advice about Eaves, but is forced to telephone him to come to her rescue one afternoon when she is locked in Eaves' bedroom and Dick is having tea in his own apartment with Constance. Dick goes to the rescue and Millicent realizes she loves him, but upon their return home Constance telephones Dick that Aleck is ill and needs him. While he is gone Dr. Ogden arrives for a visit and Millicent tells him of her unhappy marriage. He demands that she get a divorce. Dick returns and tells her Aleck is dead. Millicent goes to Reno, loses all her money at roulette, and wires Dick's lawyer for more. Dick misses Millicent and he and Constance are quarreling when his lawyer calls and says that Millicent has lost her engagement ring to a blackmailer. Dick demands that the lawyer fly to Millicent's aid.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

TO THE RESCUE.

Lay looked as if he had been turned to stone: "I will not fly," he said. "It will be most inconvenient for me to go at all, but I shall endeavor to take a train tomorrow."

"All right," said Dick, "I'll fly." He rang the bell and told Simmons to find out when a plane left for Reno.

"If you will take my advice," said Lay, "you will do nothing of the kind. You may endanger your whole suit by going out there."

"I have no choice. Of course, I think it is your duty to go, but if you won't I must. I can't leave Millicent alone in a jam like this."

They argued bitterly until Simmons came back and said that the Reno plane left Newark at half past 11 and that he had taken the precaution of engaging a place on it. There wasn't much time. Dick gave the necessary orders for his packing and went back to Constance.

She was sitting just where he had left her, with her head now bent over a magazine. He realized with a shock that nothing had changed her mood since he had left the room, whereas his whole outlook was different.

She began to speak without looking up from the great pages of photographs:

"Will is a wonderful asset, isn't he? He lends such an air of respectability even to a divorce suit—but what price one pays for it—he's such a bore." She flung the magazine aside and, rising, slipped her arm thru his. "O, Dick, isn't it marvelous to think that you're free again—that the whole idiotic episode is over—that this room is really yours again—that we never have to worry any more. . . ."

He withdrew his arm: "Constance, I must tell you that I'm taking a plane for Reno in a few minutes."

"For Reno?"

"Yes. Millicent's got herself into some sort of a jam, and Willie, the old woman, won't fly, so there's nothing for me to do but go myself."

All the color and life seemed to flow out of Constance's face. She took a turn down the room away from him and when she came back she said with the intense reality that made her almost a great woman: "It is incredible to me that you should love that little doll—that you should actually prefer her to me."

He did not argue it. He said gently: "Well, Constance, you never gave me really a square deal."

"I never gave myself one."

"No, that's true, too."

They were strange words with which to end a friendship of so many years, but at that moment Simmons opened the door and said: "The car is here, sir."

"There will be time to take Mrs. Stewart home, while I'm changing my clothes," Dick said, and she went without another word.

He knew that this was final, and was curiously without any emotion about it—his whole mind was set on the details of catching his plane. He did not think of either woman—only of money and messages and breaking business appointments. Simmons stood by taking notes as he dressed.

Briggs, driving with his usual skill thru empty downtown streets, thru the tunnel and over the almost empty skyway route, brought him to the airport a few minutes before his plane was scheduled to leave.

He hadn't telegraphed Millicent that he was coming—he hadn't had time, he told himself, but at each stopping place—as the plane dipped down to earth at Cleveland and Kansas City, he still refrained from sending her word, because in his heart he wanted the moment of their meeting to be a moment of surprise—without self-consciousness—without barriers.

The afternoon brought him to Reno, lying so quietly among its mountains. He went directly to Millicent's place of residence—just on the outskirts of the town. His heart beat like a hammer as he went up the steps of the small wooden bungalow and rang the bell. At once he heard a quick step that he found he knew among all others—she opened the wooden front door—a screen door remained between them.

"Dick," she cried, "what in the world are you doing here?" He couldn't see her face behind the rusty meshes.

The architect who designed the bungalow was doubtless not hostile to lovers, yet his screen door ruined their meeting—took away that first glorious moment that Shard had pictured to himself during his long night flight. She couldn't get it unlatched—she was fussing at it with trembling fingers—she evidently felt some emotion at seeing him, but she gave him the impression that her emotion was not so much joy as a desperate embarrassment.

At last the latch yielded—she stepped back—far out of his reach as he entered. It was a dreary little room—dark even in the bright afternoon sun, furnished meagerly with a few huge pieces of heavy wooden furniture.

He said: "I don't think much of the place in which you've decided to live."

"O, you mustn't criticize it. I'm economizing. O, Dick, I'm so sorry about that—"

"My dear child, forget about it." He tried to convey that he was there to make life easy for her, that however silly she might have been—and he was prepared to find that she had been silly—he would save her from the consequences. He tried to regain the feeling of that wonderful moment in Eaves' rooms, when she had come to him and laid her hand on his arm.

But this seemed to be a different Millicent. She said: "No, but I want to explain. Mr. Lay wrote as if he thought I had gone deliberately to——"

"But I am not Willie Lay."

"He wrote a dreadful letter."

"The old ass—I particularly told him not to."

She gave him a strange brief smile of gratitude.

"Do sit down," she said. She herself sank sideways on a hard little chair at a discreet distance.

"You see," she began, "I just went into this place to look at it—with no idea at all of playing. Then I thought it seemed rather spiritless not to risk anything."

He laughed at this familiar note, and she added quickly: "Only five dollars—I put five dollars on the red and won it. That was fun and I began to play the numbers—they pay much more."

His manner was gentle: "O, well, now you kno wall about gambling. I told Lay that you were a person who could learn by experience.

She gave him another of those sad, aloof smiles: "I'm not so sure that I am—at least experiences seem to come too fast for me."

She paused and he said: "O, yes, this other little trouble. How about that?"

"O, I think it will be all right."

Her tone said as clearly as words that she didn't want to discuss it. His heart sank. Just to make sure, he asked: "Aren't you going to tell me about it?"

"I don't want to trouble you."

"Still as long as I'm here."

Mrs. J. Beacham Tredennick Convalescing After Operation.

When Mr. and Mrs. J. Beacham Tredennick recently made their first trip back to Chicago since their marriage last fall they expected to have a gay time. Their visit turned out to be anything but gay for the former Madelon Search, however, for she underwent a serious operation, and left the hospital only yesterday. Mr. Tredennick is returning to New York this week-end, and his wife will join him after she completes her convalescence at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Gist Search.

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Bridegroom of Evanston are being congratulated upon the birth of a son, David Dunbar. He was born on May 18 at the Evanston hospital.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

May 24, 1940.

Seven has always been a mystic number, and so when seven-days roll around, it is best to take the mind off material things and give some thought to spiritual matters. Do some serious thinking today if this is your birthday and do this on all seven-days as this is a seven-year for you. Make an effort to understand yourself and others better. If you feel a sense of loss, reflect on how much you deserved what life brought you. There is no need for deep gloom, however. Sober reflection brings desire for perfection.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

We've been enamored for years of a unique perfume created by one of the great beauty specialists; it's an indescribably fresh, not too sweet scent inspired by the traditional appreciation of the exhilarating beauty of the blue grass country down south. It captures some of this beauty, translating it into a perfume that is wearable, distinguished and utterly lovely. It seems to us to have just a suggestion of a lavender note but for the rest it's a blend that eludes analysis.

Our idea of luxury would be to have everything that's made in this scent—sachet, perfume, dusting powder, toilet water, soap, the whole heavenly family. But one thing we wouldn't be without — and thank heaven we don't have to be, because it isn't expensive—is the newest addition to the royally perfumed family. This is an afterbath lotion, soft as mist, that raises the bath or shower completely out of the ordinary.

This comes with one of those simple atomizers, and we love to spray an afterbath lotion rather than to rub it on. It's the lazy way, undoubtedly, but it's also the luxurious way.

Pick Child's Hosiery with Eye to Size

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The human body is a whole, and when one part of it goes awry the rest is almost certain to be affected. And the condition of the body affects the mental and emotional state. So it is the "whole child" from a physical angle as well as a psychological one with which we should be concerned.

We are not divided up into sections, each part functioning independently of the other, we human beings, and so I can scarcely write about children, their behavior, their character, their thoughts, their feeling, without writing at times about their bodies, too. This I have done at intervals touching upon their food, their exercise, their rest and sleep, their hearing and their eyesight.

One thing I have only sketchily approached, and that is the care of babies' and children's feet, this because I have waited to reinforce my own advice with that of a specialist in the field.

While I was concentrating on feet I happened to encounter a highly efficient specialist.

"Do you see many children in your practice?" I asked.

"A great many, and all ages," he answered. He also talks to parent groups and had this to say of one talk he gave in a very poor section of the city.

He was discussing the passing on of shoes in large families, from one child to another. In most cases, he said he announced in his lecture, this is a very bad practice, since the feet of individual children vary. The shoes of a child with long toes and a long, narrow, flexible foot will not be right for a child with short toes and a wide, rigid foot.

That's one point. And because he is very much interested in children he urged me to make two other practical suggestions:

"Tell mothers not to darn their little children's stockings over the toes. The darns, often lumpy or badly made darns, rub and irritate the tender flesh." Also, he's not in favor of silk or very thin lisle stockings for runabout wear.

The other point he was urgent about was the size of children's socks or stockings. People often will be very careful to have their children's shoes long enough, but let them wear stockings too short, pushing back or crowding the young, growing toes.

According to CULBERTSON

Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I quote below a hand which I think illustrates very neatly the fact that all too often we are inclined to make bids without seriously going into the reasoning that may have been in partner's mind and which caused him to make a certain declaration.

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I was South, and when I laid down the dummy I said: 'I am inclined to feel that you are going to lose one trick in each suit.' Perhaps my three heart bid was a little too conservative. Possibly I should have gone to four hearts. At any rate, my partner immediately threw the entire blame for not bidding game at my door. I didn't argue, but in my own defense I think I have one argument that is not easy to answer. It seems to me that if my partner had given full analysis to the situation he could have reasoned along this line: 'I don't quite understand why South now comes along and bids three hearts after having bid one no trump. Obviously, he must be interested in a game, because over my two heart bid he could have bid three diamonds, which would be a sign-off, or he could have left two hearts alone.'

"Also obviously, there would have been no sense in my raising a two heart contract unless I was pretty sure that three hearts could be made. With that thought in mind, wasn't my partner somewhat to blame for our failure to bid game?—A. B., Missouri."

My correspondent is putting it very mildly when he asks: "Wasn't North somewhat to blame for failing to bid game?" The word "somewhat" is scarcely adequate under the circumstances. North's pass was one of the most timid exhibitions imaginable. Indeed, it was incomprehensible. It is true that he had opened the bidding with one diamond, and over one no trump had "reversed" by showing his higher ranking heart suit. At the same time, however, he had indicated that this heart suit was only a four carder. South, in the face of that message, had given a heart raise, which was tantamount to saying that he, South, also had four hearts. Now, considering that North had four and one-half plus honor tricks, with two very respectable suits, it is almost beyond belief that he could have "hung" one trick short of game. Even if he had not held the club king, a game bid would have been in order; with that card it was supersafe. Admittedly, it would have required only a slight stretch on South's part to have jumped from two hearts to four, but since no stretch whatsoever was asked of North, it follows that the fault must be placed entirely on his shoulders.

Tomorrow's Hand.

Suits, Dresses of Cotton Lure Young Shopper

BY REA SEEGER.

More effective fashions have been unpacked for limited budgeteers; more clever young stuff is on display than has been seen in years. Play togs, simple daytime dresses, snappy two piece suits and good looking two piece ensembles of dress and matching jacket are spotlight stealers, going like wild fire. For the modest sum of 3 dollars you can buy play suits that will take the breath away from veteran shoppers. Cool cottons are used and there are no skimpy outlines or cutting.

Simple yet smart daytime dresses feature the inevitable lure of cottons and novelty weaves in soft pastel shades with white dots in all sizes. Seersucker, in stripes, large and small checks, is another big favorite and is used for dresses, suits, play outfits, and summer negligees. Seven or eight dollars will buy unusually high fashion street outfits. Others can be had for even smaller sums. Add more pennies and the world is yours for around the 10 dollar limit. For instance the wool-like textured two piece suits with a fitted streamline.

White pique dresses are the finds of the hour . . . there's one with scarlet embroidered scallops trimming the blouse top, others are simply fashioned with colorful belts as the only contrast. Striped skirts and solid colored blouse or shirt tops, or the same idea in reverse, are plentiful. So are the fitted jacket blouse effects teamed with gored skirts in plaids, checks, and stripes. Slacks, shorts, and play outfits come in every color, and have similar modest price marks. The prize winning find is the play outfit of jersey . . . the shorts and blouse top of china blue, the wraparound skirt in American Beauty red.

So this summer you don't have to run chances of not having the beverage you like—have enough to last, however you want it, in bottles or cans. In a fishing boat, with a picnic lunch by the side of the road, around the bridge table in the cottage at night, any time, any place you can enjoy the all-grain flavor of Meister Bräu.

We won't add sugars or syrups even though we could save time that way. We use costlier methods because we know the friends of Meister Bräu want the finest. So why not enjoy it, wherever you go.

And don't forget you'll enjoy beer more if you drink it at 50 degrees—where you can taste all the goodness brewed into it. The way brewmasters test beer flavor—always have. BIG 9½ TRACK STARS OPEN TITLE MEET TODAY

INDIANA THREAT TO MICHIGAN'S 3 YEAR REIGN

Five Champions to Defend Crowns.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Track athletes of the Western conference begin their preliminary tests in the 40th annual meet this afternoon in Dyche stadium. Qualifying trials are scheduled in ten events beginning at 3 o'clock daylight time. Fifteen championships will be at stake in the finals which start tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Until misfortune tracked down the Michigan athletes they were heavy favorites to win their fourth consecutive outdoor title. Hope has not been abandoned by the Wolverines, who have a squad of more than 20, by far the largest in the Big 9½, but it may be possible for a smaller Indiana group, which may win as many as six individual titles to trip up the defending champions.

Close Races Seen.

Uncertainty of the outcome in several events and the lure of a great 440 yard race between Michigan's Warren Breidenbach and Indiana's Roy Cochran should bolster attendance in the first outdoor meet held here since 1934.

Michigan was host to the conference athletes in 1935, 1937, and 1939 while Ohio State entertained in 1936 and 1938. Originally today's meet was billed for Chicago's Stagg field, but the directors of athletics voted to transfer it to the north shore at the winter meeting. The latter move also produced the recent correspondence between the directors and Chicago's president, Robert Hutchins, that eventually led to Chicago's inclusion in the 1941 basketball schedule.

Six defending champions in the list of 14 individual events originally were expected for this meet. Michigan's Ralph Schwarzkopf, winner in the two miles a year ago and owner of the conference indoor record at this distance, will not compete. Indiana's Roger Poorman, defending javelin champion, is expected to try, but he has been handicapped by injuries all year. This leaves Breidenbach, Michigan, 440 yards; Cochran, Indiana, 220 low hurdles; Myron Piker, Northwestern, 100 yards, and Ed Buxton, Wisconsin, half mile, in this select group of returning champions.

Buxton's Crown in Danger.

Buxton is the most likely to be shorn of his honor, for Campbell Kane, Indiana sophomore, Big 9½ indoor mile champion, and Michigan's Dye Hogan are after this title. So is Les Eisenhart of Ohio State, who finished second in the 1939 half mile. Tom Jester, of Michigan, fifth a year ago, also returns.

Breidenbach is expected to retain his quarter mile title, but Cochran, who defeated him indoors and established an American record, is a possibility despite the better time recorded outdoors by the Michigan athlete. This pair is tops for the race. Cochran should retain his low hurdles championship, but Piker faces stiff competition from George Franck of Minnesota in the short sprint.

Franck is better at the 220 yard distance and is considered best candidate for this title with competition from Piker, Alan Smith of Michigan, and Ted Tycocki of Purdue. John Davenport of Chicago, who won the 100 yards in 1938 but finished fifth last spring, is another dash man customarily mentioned.

Kane Favored in Mile.

Kane is not anticipating difficulty winning the mile and with Schwarzkopf out, Indiana's Ed Hedges may succeed to the two mile championship, altho Erv Liljegren of Minnesota, Bill Farin of Wisconsin, and Will Ackerman and Tom Jester of Michigan, are outstanding competitors.

Ed Smith of Wisconsin, despite an injured leg, and Stan Kelley of Michigan, are listed as ranking high hurdlers. The competition will be unusually keen, however, with an upset quite probable.

Bill Williams of Wisconsin and Mike Linta of Ohio State, who shared the indoor pole vault championship, and Michigan's Decker, who was unable to compete in the indoor Big 9½ meet, are best in this competition. Wells Hodeson of Minnesota is number one choice for the broad jump title and Indiana's Archie Harris, of course, hopes to take both the shot put and discus throw.

Michigan Eyes Relay.

Michigan also expects to win the mile relay, an event in which Indiana probably will be shut out. Three of the members of Michigan's 1939 team that set a new conference record of 3:14.7 are eligible. Dobson has replaced Hayes, who has been graduated. The others who ran a 3:15.8 mile relay against Pittsburgh last Saturday are Leutritz, Balyeat, and Breidenbach.

Tickets for children are 25 cents today and tomorrow. Adult tickets today are 40 cents. Reserved seats for the finals tomorrow are $1.10.

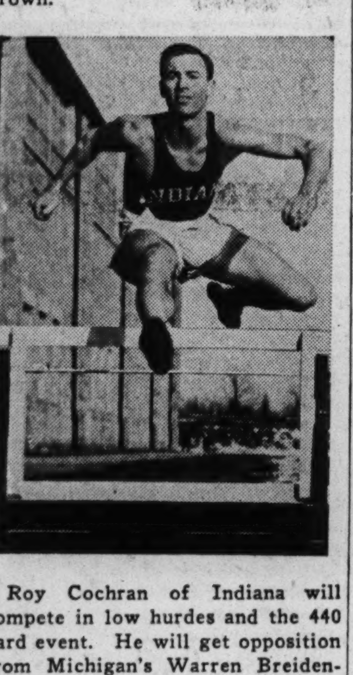
Out for Records

Western conference athletes will open the annual outdoor track meet at Northwestern today when the meet returns to the Evanston campus for the first time in six years. Myron Piker, Northwestern sprinter, defends the 100 yard dash crown.



Roy Cochran of Indiana will compete in low hurdes and the 440 yard event. He will get opposition from Michigan's Warren Breidenbach in the latter race.

1943 FOOTBALL CARDS OF BIG 9½ SETTLED TODAY

Athletic directors and football coaches in the Big 9½, who are here for the conference track meet which opens at Northwestern today, were guests for golf and luncheon yesterday at the Old Elm Golf club. This morning these men will complete and release the 1943 conference football schedule. The 1944 schedule also is up for preliminary discussion at this meeting.

The annual dinner of the directors and the faculty committee of the conference will be held at 6 o'clock this evening in the North Shore hotel. Afterward, there will be an executive session.

32 GOLF SCHOOL FINALISTS NAMED AS LESSONS END

Total of 59,000 Attends Tribune Classes.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The eighth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE, pioneer of all group instruction systems, closed last night on the four courses of the Chicago park district with a record of 59,000 free lessons given by the members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association.

A total attendance of 19,500 men, women, and children turned out for the fourth and final lesson of the regular series, 6,000 reporting at Jackson park, 5,500 at the Diversey classroom in Lincoln park, and 4,000 each in Marquette and Columbus parks. The aggregate for the four lessons was the more remarkable in view of the fact that the 1940 school experienced the worst weather in the eight year history of the classes, rain and cold having plagued the first three lessons.

Finalists Are Chosen.

Out of last night's concluding instruction came the 32 finalists who will vie for prizes given by THE TRIBUNE and the Chicago District Golf association in the graduating exercises, opening at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon in Columbus park, Jackson boulevard and Central avenue.

The 32 prize pupils include two men, two women, two boys, and two girls from each of the four park courses, chosen on the basis of their swinging progress in the four regular lessons. They are:

Australian Is Guest Star.

Jim Ferrier of Sydney, Australia, holder of his country's open and amateur crowns, was the guest star at Jackson park, where Matt Matteson of Ridge was the teacher in charge. Assisting them in concluding the classes at the old south side course were Chuck Tanis and Bill Brown of

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

SOME of the finest track athletes in the United States will compete today and tomorrow in the Big 9½ games at Northwestern university, but it is unlikely any will endanger the reputation of Fred Wolcott of Rice as America's leading high hurdler. . . . As a matter of fact, most of the great hurdlers in the last 20 years have come from the south. . . . The list includes Percy Beard, Spec Towns, Slats Hardin, Johnny Morriss, Marsh Farmer, Weems Baskin, Al Moreau, and Vassa Cate. . . . Wolcott, whose 14.2 seconds for the 120 yard high sticks stands as a record at the Drake relays, stepped the route in 13.7 in a dual meet with Texas three weeks ago to equal the world mark set by Towns at Oslo in 1936. . . . A week later Wolcott established a new Southwest conference record of 13.9. . . . Dick Cassiano, Pittsburgh's star left half back, will direct a playgrounds program in Albany, N. Y., this summer. . . . Slip Madigan has gained 25 pounds since he resigned as football coach at St. Mary's, Cal. . . . Half the National league clubs are trying to make deals within their circuit and at least one or two of importance probably will be consummated before the June 15 trade deadline is reached. . . . Grand Junction, Colo., is advertising its first professional boxing match in three years. . . . Hasn't it been almost that long since Chicago had its last one? . . . Mel Johnson, pro-greenkeeper at Butterfield Country club, is one of the most avid fishermen in golf, not to mention the fact that he is quite a bird fancier. . . . When Jimmy Dykes goes east on the next trip with his White Sox he will help unveil his third Philadelphia recreation center. . . . It's on Market street in the heart of the downtown sector. . . . Johnny Rucker, the Giants' rookie outfielder, never had been north of Washington, D. C., until this season. . . .

Commissioner K. M. Landis and President Will Harridge of the American league will be among the notables who will help inaugurate night baseball in St. Louis tonight. . . . Sportsman's park, where both the Cardinals and Browns play their home games, has the only trick scoreboard in the majors. . . . There's an auto ad with a street scene showing a stop and go sign. . . . When there's a hit, the go sign flashes. . . . When there's an error, it's indicated by the stop light. . . . Also there's a ciggy ad from which a recorded voice shouts at intervals. . . . Walter H. Chute, director of the Shedd aquarium on the lake front, is a dog fancier. . . . He recently exhibited his new schipperke in a Louisville show. . . . Shortly after Elmer Layden was graduated from Notre Dame he played several games of professional football at amounts ranging from $750 to $1,500 a game. . . . Jimmy Conzelman, new coach of the Chicago Cardinals, writes regularly for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. . . . Coach Don Faurot of the University of Missouri football team had his men try out a new one piece rubber headgear in spring practice and liked it so well he will make it standard equipment next fall.

If I Could.

You used to bait my hook when we went out
Along the winding river road to fish,
And tho you seemed so eager to catch trout
I had a feeling that your only wish
Was to ensnare my heart. I watched you gaze
Upon my image in the placid stream
The while you told me in such artful ways
That I was the ideal of your dream.

Those days have gone and left us old and gray,
And jealous time has swept us far apart;
I nibbled at love's bait and fled away
Leaving the naked hook to tear your heart;
And yet if I could live my life anew
I'd gladly swallow hook and line for you.

Harrowed Slumber.

Twenty-three years ago I was full of fight.
Ready to die for what I thought was right.
I grabbed myself a gun and came over here,
Leaving behind me all that was so dear.
Thruout these long years I have lain, cold and dead;
A steel bullet stuck some place in my head.
Once more I hear above me the roar of guns,
And the thundering bombs, dropping by the tons;
The ground around me trembles with tramping men,
On their way to kill each other again.
I'm hoping and praying that I shall never see
American boys marching over me.
It is enough I vainly shouldered a gun,
Without them also making a chump of my son.

Enter First Division as Senators Lose.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The White Sox, who are just beginning to realize their own power, yesterday staged a 10 run eighth inning against the Athletics to come from behind and win their fourth straight game in Comiskey park, 13 to 4.

The victory elevated the Sox from sixth to fourth place in the American league, but they had to wait until 7 p. m. [Chicago time] for the glad news. The Senators and Browns were playing an overtime game in St. Louis on standard time and the Chicagoans landed in the upper four when the Browns scored three runs in the 12th inning to win, 8 to 7. The Sox were in the cellar when their winning streak started.

Lee Goes the Route.

Lefty Thornton Lee pitched all the way against the A's for his third victory and as he contemplates his three successes he scarcely can scoff at his associates as runmakers and defensive sharks. His earlier victories, with tiptop support, were 11 to 1 over the Cleveland Indians and 10 to 3 over the New York Yankees. Yesterday the A's banged him for 16 hits, three more than the Sox total, so the Sox's airtight defense didn't do him any harm.

Johnny Babich seemed the better pitcher until the blowup in the eighth. Going into the home eighth, he had yielded only 6 hits to 15 made by his associates. A single by Luke Appling, a double by Larry Rosenthal and a single by Eric McNair gave the Sox two runs in the second inning. They did not hit or score again until the fifth, when they put over the tying run on a single by Mike Tresh and a double by Joe Kuhel. They wasted a single in the seventh and the half dozen hits and three runs formed their total when they saw the A's go ahead with a run in the eighth.

Then the Big Blast.

Then the fireworks started. With one down in the home eighth, Mike Kreevich, who previously had fanned three straight times, got things moving with a double. Then followed a walk to Taft Wright, a single by Appling, errors by Frank Hayes and Babich, a walk to Rosenthal, singles by McNair and Tresh off Babich, a single off Ed Heusser by Lee augmented by an error by Sam Chapman, a walk to Bob Kennedy, an error by Benny McCoy on Kuhel's grounder, and a homer, his first of the year, by Wright. All these were

Overlin Baffles Garcia to Win in Title Battle

New York, May 23 (AP).—Ken Overlin, the ex-sailor boy from Decatur, Ill., won the New York-California version of the world's middleweight championship from Ceferino Garcia tonight with as neat a job of boxing and ring generalship as Madison Square Garden has seen in a long time. Overlin weighed 159 and Garcia 154½.

Before a slim, almost cozy, little gathering of fans, the much traveled veteran took a 15 round decision from the slugging Filipino. What he really did, however, was to outfox, outbox, outmove, outfeint—in fact, almost out-everything Garcia thruout the bout. The Filipino was a baffled battler when it was all over.

Overlin Gets 11 Rounds.

Only on rare occasions was Garcia able to set himself to throw his deadly right hand, the occasion was even rarer when he was able to land cleanly with his so-called bolo punch. Usually Overlin took it on the shoulder, the arm, or didn't take it at all, dancing in close out of harm's way.

The Associated Press score card gave Overlin 11 of the 15 rounds, including the last five. One of Garcia's rounds, the 10th, was taken away from Overlin for low punching. The decision was unanimous on the part of Referee Arthur Donovan and both judges.

Hit and Run Effective.

Thru the first six rounds Overlin adopted a hit and run style, jabbing, bounding in with swinging lefts to the body and grabbing or running away. In the last half of the fight, however, he began to take chances, especially in the seventh and thirteenth, when he waded in, and Garcia, trying desperately to land his rights, banged him a couple that really hurt.

MATTICK'S THIRD HIT BEATS PHILS IN NIGHT GAME

Mulcahy Strikes Out Ten Men.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 23.—Those ripsnorting Phillies, who seem to have forgotten all their eighth place habits, carried the Cubs thru 13 innings of electric lighted baseball tonight before being convinced it might be advisable to get in out of a cold, misty atmosphere. As proof of their big ideas the locals burst forth with the tying run in the ninth and hung on grimly until the bats of Billy Nicholson, Al Todd and Bobby Mattick caught up with them. They finally subsided, 4 to 3, but not until after they had almost driven the Cubs to the ropes in a last ditch assault.

If the Phillies hadn't been so pugnacius, old Charley Root and Hank Leiber would have carved out hero rôles for themselves. The 41 year old Root, in his first 1940 start, had a shaky opening inning but thereafter waged a real duel with Hugh Mulcahy, who gave the Cubs the tying run on a balk in the third. The score stayed that way—1 to 1—until Leiber stepped up in the ninth and featured an otherwise unsuccessful evening by exploding his fourth homer. But the Phils tied it on Root after two were out in the home half and a bit later the Cub veteran retired, leaving Vern Olsen in his place. But Olsen had to be rescued by Vance Page with two out in the 13th.

Nicholson Smashes One.

First of the finishing touches to Mulcahy, who fanned 10 in 12 innings, was furnished by Nicholson. He doubled to left with one out in the 13th. Russell popped out and the 7,801 spectators rightfully suspected they were going to see more for their money. They saw it, but not what they had hoped for. Todd doubled to left, altho Arnovich might have caught the ball if he hadn't slipped on the wet grass, Nicholson scoring. Mattick singled to right for his third hit and Todd scored. The inning closed on Olsen's roller to Bragan.

Then the Phillies cut loose with their final fling, a matter so threatening that they weren't halted until after one had scored and the bases had been loaded. Mahan launched the disturbance with a single, but Arnovich and Berger, the latter batting for Klein, flied out. Then Olsen, who in the 11th and 12th had southpawed almost perfectly, took a dive. He walked May and Mueller singled to score Mahan. That ended Olsen's reign. Page took over and Warren bounced to Rogell, who tried to force May at third but reached the bag too late. Then Schulte batted for Mulcahy and Mattick threw him out to end the struggle.

Phils Score in First.

The Phils combined three decidedly healthy smashes from Root's delivery in the first inning so he probably considered himself fortunate to get thru the jam on one run. Marty started Root in the wrong direction by singling to center, but the next two fellows were retired. Arnovich also singled to center, sending Marty to third. Klein, who seems to be doing some sort of a comeback, rammed a two bagger down the right field line, Marty scoring and Arnovich stopping at third. May then tapped to Herman.

The Cubs retrieved the run in the

Only 7,587 See Bout.

The crowd was announced as 7,587 and the gross gate as $15,710.

The result may be the first step to clear up the long standing middleweight mess. Overlin's manager, Chris Dundee, is willing to take on Al Hostak of Seattle, recognized as champion by the National Boxing association. Nat Druxman, Seattle promoter, is in town talking over with Promoter Mike Jacobs the possibility of taking the fight to his home town.

However, Garcia had a return match agreement in his contract for tonight's affair and may decide to exercise that in 90 days.

SPOILS ZALE BOUT PLANS

Ken Overlin's victory over Ceferino Garcia in Madison Square Garden last night spoiled plans for a bout between Tony Zale, Gary middleweight contender, and Garcia in Chicago in early July. The 30 year old Overlin is no stranger to Chicago fans. He has engaged in eight bouts in this city, seven of them in neighborhood clubs in the last two years. Nevertheless, Sam Pian, manager of Zale, does not believe Overlin is a strong enough substitute for Garcia against his protége. Overlin, winner of the All-Navy 160 pound title in 1934, won all his Chicago engagements, but his only spectacular performance was when he stopped Jimmy Clark two years ago. Ben Brown, who suffered a three round knockout at the hands of Zale in the Stadium on March 29, held Overlin to a 10 round draw in Atlanta, Ga., last Dec. 11. Ken's Chicago contests follow:

HYDROX DEFEAT BLOOMER GIRLS; TAKE 1ST PLACE

Marge Startz, Hydrox hurler, limited the Bloomer Girls to three hits while winning a 10 to 0 decision last night in Parichy stadium. The victory was her second and the Hydrox team's third and gave the south side aggregation undisputed possession of first place in the Girls' Major Softball league.

The feature league contest on this evening's card of three games will take place in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets, where the Hydrox and Mills teams meet. If the Mills defeat the Hydrox they will go back into a tie for first place. Caroline Ollrich will pitch for the Hydrox, with Eva Skrydlewski pitching for the Mills.

Neighborhood rivalry will be in evidence in Spencer field, 4200 North Central avenue, when the Jefferson Park team battles the Rivals. In another nonleague game the Rockolas will meet the Pepsi-Cola team at Harlem and North avenues.

HONOR LOYOLA ACADEMY RING TEAM MONDAY

The Loyola academy boxing team, claimant of the state prep championship, will be honored at a dinner in Loyola university gymnasium Monday night. Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Mayor Edward J. Kelly, James Conzelman, newly appointed coach of the Chicago Cardinals; George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears; John Walsh, coach of the Wisconsin boxing team, and Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commission.

The National Football league's new movie will be shown. The event is being sponsored by the Loyola Academy Fathers' club, of which the Rev. William J. Toomey is moderator.

Despite the defeat, Morton maintained first place. The victory lifted Waukegan to a .500 rating, the squad having won five and lost five to enter into a third place tie with Oak Park.

Proviso scored its eighth triumph in ten games, routing Highland Park, 20 to 7. Proviso still has an opportunity to tie Morton for the league championship. Proviso will meet Highland Park again today and will face Morton tomorrow. In another league contest Evanston blanked New Trier, 11 to 0.

Five postponed games were played in the Public School league. Nine hits and fifteen walks enabled Fenger to rout Hyde Park, 20 to 1, in the south section. Scores:

The Wildcats are in first place in the conference race with eight victories and two defeats. Illinois, the second place team, finished its season last week with nine victories and three losses. A double victory over the Buckeyes, who are in eighth place with two victories and four defeats, will give the Wildcats an undisputed championship.

Stan Klores, Northwestern's new 24 year old coach, who will receive his diploma along with five other members of the squad in June, has piloted the Wildcats thru a strenuous unhill fight since the start of the season.

Two senior pitchers, John Goldak and Fred Rosch, have shared the pitching duties thruout the winning drive, each winning four games. Much of Northwestern's success this season has been due to its strong hitting.

LOU BREEZE

Lou Breeze, well known orchestra leader at the Chez Paree.

A big favorite here, Harvester is America's greatest five-cent cigar value. It's no wonder because you enjoy the taste of costly Havana tobacco blended into the heart of every Harvester. That richer, more satisfying flavor is the reason you see so many regular cigarette and pipe smokers changing their pace with a Harvester. Try some today.

TIGERS DEFEAT RUFFING, YANKS IN NINTH, 3 TO 2

Newsom Beats Champions in Pitchers' Battle.

Detroit, Mich., May 23 (AP).—The comeback campaign of the world champion New York Yankees struck another snag today when the Detroit Tigers pushed across a run in the ninth inning to win a pitching duel between Buck Newsom and Red Ruffing, 3 to 2.

Joe DiMaggio and Hank Greenberg each hit a home run with a man on base in the first inning. In the ninth, Rudy York singled, Bruce Campbell doubled, and Pinky Higgins was purposely passed to fill the bases. Catcher Billy Sullivan slammed a fly into center to score York with the winning run.

This was only the third time the Tigers had been able to beat Ruffing since the 1936 season. It was Newsom's fourth victory against one defeat. Score:

Dick Bartell a Gay Fellow with Detroit

Dick Bartell.

Dick Bartell this afternoon will make his second 1940 visit to the city of his birth, when he comes to Comiskey park for the season's second Sox-Detroit Tiger series.

On the occasion of his first visit here, April 23, 24, and 25, he was much in demand as a radio spieler. He devoted many of his microphone words to wonderment as to why he was a flop in 1939, his one year as a Cub. He expressed great disappointment at this failure, but was rather sporting about it, blaming no one but himself. He was similarly reticent in printed interviews.

It was a month ago that the Tigers were in Chicago. Dick at that time may have had some anxieties about how his play would continue to stack up, tho he never has been one lacking in confidence. His play held up and now Detroit fans, as well as many of Dick's teammates, hail him as "the best shortstop the Tigers have had since Donie Bush." That covers a lot of shortstopping, not the least of which was that of Bill Rogell, who helped the Tigers win the American league championship in 1934 and the world championship in 1935.

He's Aggressive and Smart.

The same gifts which made the Cubs willing to give up sterling Bill Jurges to get Bartell are the ones which have accomplished his success in Detroit. Aggressiveness, interest in, and knowledge of the fine points of the game and a fair ability to get a base hit in the clutches were the basis of his pre-Cub reputation, won in three years with the Pirates, four with the Phillies, and four with the Giants. He had all with the Cubs, but these attributes were counteracted by erratic play and inadequate ground coverage.

Aggressiveness is a great asset, for instance, if the aggressor helps win ball games. Otherwise, it is set down as cheer leading in an effort to smoke-screen personal deficiency. Arm waving and pepper just after throwing a game over the dugout builds up little fan enthusiasm and team spirit. Fans and ball players rarely pause to reflect that physical handicaps may be the contributing cause of athletic shortcomings.

It has been told that Bartell engendered some animosity in early Tiger clubhouse meetings this year. Players who knew of his failure with the Cubs weren't impressed by National league dissertations on the finesse of cutoff plays and other infield slick stuff.

He Had to Make Good.

Bartell, according to these reports, put himself on the spot with his old time bantam rooster cockiness. It was up to him to make good after so exposing himself.

It has developed that Dick is in better physical shape than he's been in for at least three years. Feeling fine, it has not been difficult for Bartell to make good. Even on his most dismal Cub days no one ever doubted that he knew how to play shortstop. It was just that he wasn't physically able to do the things he knew should be done.

He Thrives on Cheers.

Bartell was shooed out of a great baseball town when he couldn't make good in Chicago. But he had the good fortune to go to a great baseball town which was in desperate need of a shortstop, once the management had cooled on popular Mr. Rogell.

Bartell thrives on cheers from the stands. The fact he didn't get them here helped contribute to his failure. Detroit fans are applauding him, will applaud as he's never been applauded before if he can help lead the Tigers to a championship.

The Umpire Is Right, as Usual

good for a fat total of 10 runs. Appling also added a double to his earlier single in the inning, but somehow never got home.

And so ended the first invasion of Chicago by eastern clubs, which had started cheerlessly with a loss to Boston, two defeats at the hands of the Yankees and one to the Senators, which had given the Sox a record of nine losses in as many 1940 games at home. Thus, by taking four straight, the Sox split even on the invasion, after a road trip in which they won seven and lost only five.

Pitcher Starts Trouble.

Babich started the uprising which put the A's ahead in the fifth. He singled to right with one down. Bill Lillard singled to left, Babich stopping at second, after which Wally Moses walked on four pitches, loading the bases. McCoy came thru with his third straight hit, a single to center, Babich and Lillard scoring the tying runs and Moses taking third. Bob Johnson forced McCoy, Moses scoring. Dick Siebert singled to center, Johnson taking third, then Hayes walked on four pitches, loading the bases. Chapman lined to Kreevich.

Then Tresh and Kuhel collaborated to tie the score in the Sox portion of the fifth.

With one out in the eighth, Al Rubeling socked the 13th hit off Lee, a single to center. After two failures to sacrifice by Babich, Kennedy slapped down a bouncer after he thought it had spun foul. It was called fair, so Babich was credited with his third hit, Rubeling stopping at second. Lillard lined hit No. 15 to left, Rubeling scoring and Babich stopping at second. Kreevich ran far back to spear Moses' drive, Babich taking third, and McCoy bounced to Kuhel.

All this made it 4 to 3 for Philadelphia. Then came the ten run blast.

Sox and Rigney Battle Tigers, Bridges Today

Johnny Rigney will pitch against the Detroit Tigers in the opener of a three game series in Comiskey park this afternoon. John will be after his third victory of the season and his second straight. Tommy Bridges will pitch for the Tigers. Tom held the Sox to five singles on April 24 and won, 2 to 1. He held them to two singles in Detroit May 11, but lost, 1 to 0.

Umpire Red Ormsby halted yesterday's game while Mike Kreevich was at bat in the first inning and ordered Al Simmons to the bathhouse. It seems Al made a derogatory crack about Mr. Ormsby's judgment on a half swing by Kreevich.

Larry French Opens Pirate Series Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—The Cubs will open a three game series in Pittsburgh tomorrow with Larry French doing their pitching, probably against Joe Bowman. The tailend Pirates have won six games so far—three of them from the Cubs.

Stan Hack was in uniform tonight for the first time since last Friday when he was beaned by a line foul from Hank Leiber's bat. Hack took only light exercise and doesn't expect to get back on third base until after the Cubs return home the first of the week.

Ambassador Clarence Rowland today received Dr. George Bennett's full reports on Clay Bryant and Dizzy Dean, whom he examined last week in Baltimore. The reports revealed nothing new. Bryant's soreness is in the right shoulder, possibly the result of unnatural throwing made necessary by the bone chips in his elbow.

Bryant's tonsils were removed recently, the theory being that infection might be causing the trouble which has made him almost a 100 per cent cripple for a year. Dr. Bennett suggested that if the tonsil idea proves incorrect an operation be performed for removal of the elbow chips. Similar operations were successful in a number of other big league cases.

Dean's arm, says the specialist, simply has been overworked, a fact fairly well established when the Cubs purchased him from the Cardinals more than two years ago.

CUBS TURN BACK PHILS, 4 TO 3, IN 13 INNING GAME

third, but prior to that were considerably disturbed by what Mulcahy was throwing. He fanned Rogell in the first inning. He did the same to Leiber and Nicholson while retiring three more in order in the second. Then Todd opened the third with the first Cub hit, going to third on a single by Mattick. Mulcahy committed a balk, Todd scoring, and it was well for the Cubs that their nemesis made the blunder because they did nothing about getting the run home. Root fanned, Rogell fouled to May, and Herman flied to Arnovich.

An Opportunity Is Lost.

The Cubs kicked away the choicest kind of an opportunity in the fourth. Gleeson led off with a two bagger which Arnovich might have caught if he hadn't been shy about going into the shadow in front of the left field pavilion. Leiber's assistance was a tap to Mulcahy. Nicholson was plunked on the leg by a pitched ball. Russell grounded to May, who stepped on third to force Gleeson and barely missed completing a double play at first base. Then Todd flied out and the Cubs, instead of having a run or so, merely raised their left on base total for the season to 229. There also was a little grief for Herman in the sixth. He led with a single and was promptly picked off by Atwood.

Klein endeavored to stir up some work for Root in the fourth. He opened with a single to center for the fifth hit off the 41 year old veteran. Klein hung around first base until two of his mates were out and then stole second, Atwood later flying to Nicholson for the third out. The fifth added two more hits to the Phils' accumulation. After Mulcahy had lined into Leiber's hands, Marty singled over third. Bragan flied out and Mahan singled to center, but the inning closed quietly with Arnovich rolling to Mattick for a forceout of Mahan at second.

Leiber Does His Bit.

After Leiber's homer had done its work on the first pitch by Mulcahy in the ninth Nicholson grounded out and Russell singled to left. A wild pitch assisted him to second base, but neither Todd nor Mattick could help.

The Phils' ninth got under way with Klein grounding to Herman. A high powered clout by May caromed off Root, but Mattick recovered in time to nail the runner at first base. Mueller ruined everything for Root by doubling to left center. Martin was sent up to swing for Atwood and slapped a slow bounder to Herman's right. Billy dashed over, scooped up the ball, and turned and made a hurried throw to Russell. The throw was late and also wild, Mueller scoring the tying run and Martin moving to second on the error. Mulcahy's chance to win his own game went glimmering when he hoisted a fly to Nicholson.

Technician to Try Once More in Crete Stake

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Technician, the Woolford farm's well known 4 year old, is about to get a chance to show whether he will be remembered only as a much publicized stablemate of a Kentucky Derby winner or as a horse with real ability of his own. During the Chicago season, which opens tomorrow at Lincoln Fields, he will try to make a place for himself in the handicap division after a 3 year old campaign which began with much fanfare and ended without distinction.

Technician has been allotted 114 pounds for the Crete handicap, which heads the opening day program. He is fifth in the weights beneath Easy Mon, Beau James, Joe Schenck and Unerring—and that is a bitter comedown for a horse which was second choice to Johnstown in the Kentucky Derby future books last season.

Flamingo His Best Race.

Thruout his career a suggestion of class has clung to Technician, tho he has done remarkably little to merit it. If he hadn't won the Flamingo stakes at Hialeah last season, nobody would have paid a great deal of attention to him—but once he accomplished that feat he acquired a prestige which he never has been able to match.

Of course, a victory in the Flamingo stakes was of no particular importance by itself. But the hunches of the racing public work in peculiar ways. His stablemate, Lawrin, had won the Flamingo stakes the preceding year and had gone on to win the Derby. Both were sired by Insco. Both were under the supervision of an excellent trainer, Ben Jones, who knew how to point horses for definite races. Therefore, the racing fans acquired a fixation about Technician.

Still Has His Following.

They aren't rid of it yet. They sent him to the post as the 3 to 2 favorite in the Clark handicap this spring at Churchill Downs and watched him finish fifth behind Up The Creek, Arab's Arrow, Shot Put, and Mucho Gusto. On that occasion, Technician made a strong move approaching the head of the stretch, then tired rapidly in the final drive.

Even as a 2 year old, Technician had the knack of attracting admirers tho he was getting beat repeatedly. During his juvenile campaign, he lost 12 times in 14 starts, but to high grade horses, so his followers still suspected him of having class.

Aside from his victory in the Flamingo stakes, in which he beat Volitant by a neck after a hard drive, Technician was able to get into the money in only two other stake events in his 1939 campaign. He was second in the Bahamas handicap at Hialeah and in the Derby Trial at Churchill Downs.

There is much reason for belief that he was beaten by Viscounty in the Derby Trial because he had convinced even his jockey that he was quite a horse. At the head of the stretch, the boy chose to go to the inside instead of the outside, apparently thinking that he had horse enough under him to draw clear of Viscounty in a hurry. But when Viscounty began lugging in, Technician was unable to get by before the opening became so narrow that the boy had to handle him carefully to avoid being piled into the rail.

POOL PATENTS TO HASTEN AIR DEFENSE PLANS

Government Takes Over Designs.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 23.—The government is taking over certain airplane patents and designs so the entire industry can produce standardized types quickly for national defense, and may apply the principal to other essential war implements, it was learned today.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., acting for President Roosevelt in an effort to speed up airplane output, announced that the government is buying privately owned licenses and patents and reissuing them to other plane builders.

The industry, he said, is coöperating "100 per cent," but he observed that the government has power to seize patents, leaving the question of compensation to the courts.

Urge Chicago Laboratory.

Asserting the facilities of scientific aviation agencies are being used extensively in the program, Morgenthau said the government is planning to erect a new engine research laboratory.

Three Democratic congressmen from Chicago called on Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson to urge that the laboratory be located in Chicago. They were Harry P. Beam, Edward A. Kelly, and Raymond J. McKeough. Beam, who said that Johnson was "receptive" to the idea, recalled that he had made the same suggestion in May, 1938, because of Chicago's favorable location and facilities.

A delegation of Chicagoans is now en route to press claims for the laboratory and other aviation business.

Later, Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, who had just met with his business advisory council, told reporters that the standardization and relicensing technique "might well be used" in other industries, depending upon the type of product.

Cites Needs for Plants.

"In an emergency the object is to get it done," Hopkins said, referring to the necessity of attaining larger plant capacity and speeding up production to meet national defense needs.

Asked whether this would mean socialization of industry, Hopkins, one of the inner circle of New Dealers and formerly the nation's biggest spender in history as WPA administrator, replied:

"Not necessarily, nor government operation—but an understanding between business and government to accomplish an objective, with no effect fundamentally on our economic system.

"An industry might have a tactical position, giving it the jump on competitors, and might have to give that up in order to get production out," he said.

Explore National Defense.

Hopkins announced he had discussed with the council of business leaders the position of industry with relation to national defense and the effect of the European war on our trade.

The council later presented to Mr. Roosevelt a resolution pledging its "full aid" in the national defense program. William L. Batt of Philadelphia, chairman of the council and president of S. K. F. Industries, said that the President expressed the wish that any increase in the cost of living be avoided. The President added, Batt said, that business has shown the best kind of public spirit since the war started and had kept prices on an even keel.

As Morgenthau explained the plan for airplanes, the purpose will be to pick out the best from among all designs and patents for military planes and embody them in certain standardized types of ships which can then be made in any airplane plant.

Government Owns Design.

Standardization will facilitate mass production of aircraft and enable the government to move more rapidly toward its goal of 50,000 military planes and an annual production capacity of the same amount. The government is getting the licenses now and contracts will be signed by next week, Morgenthau asserted.

Compensation to manufacturers for their licenses will be fair and contracts for production will be distributed "to strike a balance in the whole industry," Morgenthau said.

"In some cases," said Morgenthau, "where an engine manufacturer got the contract in competition with the army and navy the contract provides that the design belongs to the government. And there is another clause under which we could take the pat-

Business Men Attack Sales Tax 'Threat'

More than 800 Chicago business men, disturbed by what they called a threat to business resulting from the latest ruling on the retailers occupational [sales] tax, met at the Hotel Sherman yesterday to hear the situation discussed. The meeting, which drew a record breaking attendance for a session of its type, was called by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

C. J. Whipple, chairman of the meeting and president of Hibbard Spencer Bartlett & Co., led the discussion, outlining the problems raised for Chicago and all Illinois business by enforcement since April 15 of the revised article 5 of the tax statute.

With other business men, Whipple declared that business is being forced out of Chicago to cities outside the state. Samuel Herman of Springfield, supervisor of the division of rules and regulations, Illinois department of finance, defended enforcement of the revised section.

Both Are Penalized.

Under the ruling both buyers and sellers are penalized, critics asserted. Where earlier tax collection rulings exempted Illinois buyers from tax payments on purchases made thru Chicago offices of out of state companies, the tax is now being applied. At the same time companies with headquarters in Illinois are being forced to assume the tax on the cost of operations on goods sold outside the state or go to the expense of setting up sales agencies outside Illinois borders.

The revision of article 5 resulted from a decision of the United States Supreme court upholding the New York use tax imposed on coal brought into the state from Pennsylvania.

Whipple declared the Illinois ruling affects business from two points of view; interstate and intrastate. He asserted that in the case of his own company, a leading hardware concern, competitors from outside the state have been taking business away. Absorption of the tax of 3 per cent, he said, means the difference between operating at a profit and a loss.

Vast Clerical Problem.

H. E. Gardiner, general counsel for the Anaconda Wire and Cable company, said that in addition to having to pay the tax the company is put to a vast amount of paper work in reporting on sales on which no tax is involved. He advocated simplification of the tax returns required. He declared competitors have been able to escape payment of the tax.

Ralph E. Kramer, president of H. Channon & Co., said that the wholesale industrial and contractors' supply business in Illinois amounts to $100,000,000, annually, and that if the revised article 5 continues to be enforced, a large part of this business will be forced outside the state.

Edwin M. Palmer of Bradner Smith & Co., said enforcement of the ruling has already caused loss of customers. Milwaukee distributors, he said, are able to undersell their Chicago competitors. He asserted that if companies move out of the state because of the situation, further unemployment would result and new taxes would be imposed to offset the loss in state revenue.

Fears Loss of Tenants.

Leo J. Sheridan, president of the Building Managers association of Chicago, was fearful lest further vacancy be created in downtown office buildings thru removal of companies.

George T. Buckingham, Chicago lawyer, said several companies have already moved from Chicago to Milwaukee because of the tax. He said that revision of article 5 was an extension of power by the state finance department which was not contemplated by the legislature.

In defending the state's action Herman maintained that the finance department is merely following the law in enforcing article 5. Herman indicated that about the only tax free sales of goods to Illinois purchasers by houses outside the state would be where the seller and buyer completed the entire transaction by mail.

The association appointed a committee to study the situation and try to find a solution.

Boeing to Speed Output by Doubling Plane Plant

New York, May 23 (AP).—Boeing Airplane company will double the capacity of its Seattle plant, P. G. Johnson, president, announced today. In the last month orders have increased from $26,000,000 to more than $47,000,000, he said. The new facilities will be built at once.

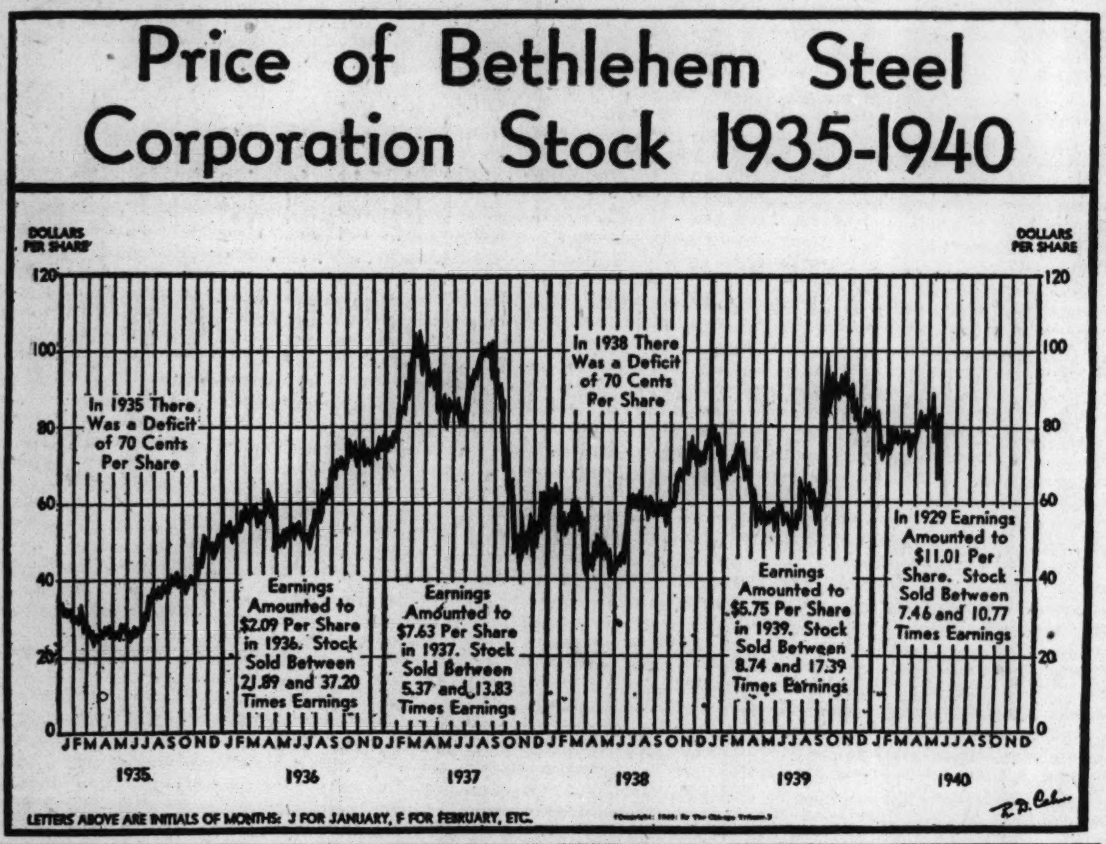
CALL 'CITIZENS ONLY' TO PLANTS BUILDING DEFENSE MATERIALS

New York, May 23 (AP).—Many industrial plants in line for government orders under the expanded defense program probably will begin tightening requirements for employment of United States citizens only, informed sources said today. Some aircraft and shipbuilding plants advertising for skilled workers specify citizens only are wanted, in accordance with army and naval contractual rules.

Wright Aeronautical corporation, Paterson, N. J., reported it wanted citizens only and was solving its man power problem for faster production partly by training courses.

Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company, Kearney, N. J., subsidiary of United States Steel corporation, likewise specified "citizens only" in sending out calls for skilled workers. Its working force of more than 7,000 was described as made up entirely of citizens.

The General Motors corporation, a spokesman said, last year adopted a policy of restricting manufacturing forces to citizens in hiring new workers and requiring aliens on the pay rolls to take out citizenship papers.



Nazi Advance Halts Diamond Cutting Trade

The diamond cutting industry, centered almost entirely in Amsterdam and Antwerp, has been paralyzed by the war, Frederick Gottlieb, Chicago diamond importer, said yesterday after returning from New York.

He reported that "refugee" diamond dealers, numbering between 250 and 300, have transferred their activities to New York. They are creating there "little Amsterdams and Antwerps" where they drive bargains on street corners or in small offices for the gems with which they fled Europe.

Prices on Small Stones Rise.

The wallets of these dealers, and limited stocks of small stones in the hands of old established importers, are now the only sources from which new diamonds of the smaller sizes can filter into the American market, Gottlieb said.

With the Amsterdam and Antwerp supply channels cut off, prices are rising on small stones, and some dealers are refusing to sell until the confused market discloses some clew as to how far it will go up, Gottlieb reported.

He said the price rise is mainly on diamonds ranging in size up to ¼ carat which are widely used in industry as well as in rings and other jewelry. He said less pronounced increases have been made on sizes up to ½ carat, but that larger diamonds have shown little change.

Labor Cost Important.

Prices on small diamonds are sensitive, Gottlieb said, because such stones are cut mostly in Amsterdam and Antwerp where skilled cutters are available at low wages. Diamonds of larger size can be supplied to some extent by some other centers, including New York, because labor cost, in relation to selling price, is less important in the case of the more expensive stones.

Amsterdam, oldest diamond cutting center and the leading one until after the world war, had about 5,000 registered union cutters when Hitler's armies invaded Holland. Antwerp had about 12,000, and Germany had 8,000 doing "piece work" for Antwerp dealers, according to Gottlieb. New York, he said, has about 400 diamond cutters.

Wages $7.50 a Week.

Dutch and Belgian cutters, paid so much per diamond, had been working under rules limiting them to a maximum of $5 a week, but this limit was raised to $7.50 a week last September.

Most of the rough diamonds are supplied to the industry by a privately owned British monopoly, headed by De Beers Consolidated Mines, Ltd., of London. De Beers and associated companies own most of the sources of supply in South Africa.

SPAIN TO RETURN PHONE COMPANY 'ASSETS, REPORT

MADRID, May 23 (AP).—The Spanish government has agreed to restore the International Telephone and Telegraph company's Spanish properties, it was learned reliably today.

The agreement was the result of discussions extending over a year since the civil war ended. It will be announced as soon as Col. Sosthenes Behn, head of I. T. & T., returns from France. He is expected within two or three days.

It was stated the government also would promise to try to provide the telephone company with some foreign exchange against the millions of pesetas it has frozen. That would permit Standard Electric company, I. T. & T. subsidiary, which before the war had an export surplus, to continue to manufacture telephone parts, electrical apparatus, and precision machinery.

Standard Gas May Acquire Wisconsin Electric Power

New York, May 23 [Special].—Executives of the Standard Gas and Electric company have held discussions with officials of the North American company, looking toward the possible acquisition by Standard Gas of the properties of the Wisconsin Electric Power company, a subsidiary of the North American company, it was learned today from authoritative sources.

RAILROADS REPORT HIGHER OPERATING PROFITS IN APRIL

Substantial increases in net operating incomes were reported yesterday by several railroads, including the Pennsylvania, Rock Island, Union Pacific, and Northern Pacific. The Rock Island's April net operating income of $243,420 contrasted with a deficit of $230,396 in April, 1939. The $473,000 improvement in operating results was made despite only a $300,000 gain in operating revenues. It was indicated that the favorable showing was the result of improved methods and reduction in transportation costs.

TRUSTEE SUES 10 AS COSTER AIDS IN DRUG SWINDLE

New York, May 23 (AP).—William J. Wardall, trustee of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., filed suit in Federal court today to recover $5,000,000 from ten individuals associated with the late F. Donald Coster-Musica. The suit alleges the drug company lost huge sums thru diversion of funds by fictitious transactions with dummy concerns.

Coster-Musica, who committed suicide, previously had been accused by the government of swindling the corporation of which he was president by building up more than $20,000,000 of fake assets.

Named as defendants were the swindler's three brothers, George Dietrich-Musica, Arthur Vernard-Musica, and Robert Dietrich-Musica; his sister, Marie Girard; his widow, Carol E. Coster; his brothers-in-law, Leonard Jenkins and John O. Jenkins; Benjamin and Jacob Simon and Irving Feinberg.

DECLINE SHOWN IN ENGINEERING AWARD TOTALS

New York, May 23 (AP).—Heavy engineering awards declined during the week ended Tuesday to $43,857,000, 6 per cent below the previous week and 39 per cent below a year ago, Engineering News-Record reported today.

Private contracts failed to exceed their 1939 values for the first time in eight weeks, totaling 27 per cent less than the week before and 30 per cent less than a year ago. Public construction increased 11 per cent over the previous week, but was 42 per cent smaller than last year. Comparisons follow:

RETAIL NEW CAR SALES IN APRIL PUT AT 410,921

Detroit, Mich., May 23 (AP).—The Automobile Manufacturers' association reported today that retail sales of new passenger cars and trucks in the United States totaled 410,921 units in April. This compared with 398,658 in March and 311,480 in April a year ago.

Retail sales for the four months ending April 30 were placed at 1,379,030, of which 1,167,485 were passenger cars and 211,545 were commercial vehicles. These figures compare with a total of 1,061,884 of which 888,913 were passenger cars and 172,971 commercial units during the first four months of 1939.

Stocks Lower, but Finish on Rallying Note

New York, May 23 (AP).—Traders suffered another attack of "war nerves" today and stock market leaders slumped 1 to 4 points before attracting last minute support.

The list started off with gains running to 3 or more for steels, aircrafts, motors, and specialties. When news from Europe turned a bit sour, however, stocks began to waver and early in the final hour a selling blast knocked quotations to the lowest levels of the day.

For a brief interval the ticker tape was behind. Then buyers stepped in and extreme losses were substantially cut or transformed into modest advances in many cases.

Average Price Sags.

The result of the erratic performance was that the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 0.1 point net at 38, or 0.3 point above the year's low. Transfers totaled 1,642,450 shares against 2,132,630 yesterday. Of the 927 issues traded, 346 closed higher, 376 lower, and the others unchanged.

The recovery that got under way Wednesday was stemmed apparently by warnings of British officials that the country was "in fearful danger," and indications Hitler forces were gathering on the English channel for a blitzkreig at England.

Some speculative contingents still derived bullish stimulation from the home business front and expectations of strong props for industry in the administration's rearmament program.

Allied Chemical Weak.

Allied Chemical was a weak spot, dropping 4½ points. Others off at the finish, but fractions to 3 above their lows, were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, United States Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sperry, Lockheed, Dow Chemical, Kennecott, Loft, Santa Fe, Great Northern, J. I. Case, and Texas corporation.

Ending with gains running to a point or so were Chrysler, United States Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Pennsylvania, International Telephone and American Smelting. The widest advance was shown by Du Pont, which jumped 4¼ points.

CHICAGO STOCKS WEAKER.

Most of the volume leaders on the Chicago Stock exchange weakened yesterday in a 45,000 share trading session which closed with losses in 60 out of 134 issues, compared with 41 gains. Commonwealth Edison, the most active issue, was one of the gainers. It closed ¼ point higher at 27.

BANKERS' GROUP TO HEAR HANES, GOLDENWEISER

The Illinois Bankers' association yesterday announced the program for its 50th annual convention to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday in the Palmer House.

Speakers scheduled to address the bankers include John W. Hanes, former undersecretary of the treasury and former member of the Securities and Exchange commission, and Dr. E. A. Goldenweiser, director of research and statistics for the board of governors of the federal reserve system.

Hanes, who quit his treasury post on Jan. 1 to return to private business, will speak at the association's annual dinner Tuesday. Goldenweiser will speak Wednesday on "What About Our Hoard of Gold?"

VALUE OF APRIL STOCK EXCHANGE SALES UP 72 PCT.

Washington, D. C., May 23 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission announced today that the market value of sales of registered exchanges in April was 72.8 per cent higher than in March and 26.9 per cent above April, 1939.

With trading apparently spurred by the spread of war to Norway, the volume of stocks traded rose to 50,802,182 in April, an increase of 78.6 per cent over March. The total market value of all sales on the exchanges was $1,270,123,034, of which $1,133,310,078 was stock sales.

SEC TO OUTLINE ITS OWN UTILITY GROUPING PLANS

Nine Systems Under 'Death Sentence.'

Washington, D. C., May 23 [Special].—The Securities and Exchange commission, reversing its previous policy, today agreed to issue tentative integration plans for nine major utility holding company systems.

The announcement followed the presentation of a procedural legal question by United Gas Improvement company, which asserted it could not answer the SEC "show cause" order without more detailed information on the commission's integration plans.

SEC suggestions for the grouping of United Gas Improvement properties are expected to be released within two weeks, and are to be followed by plans for other systems.

May Delay Hearings.

Hearings in the nine integration cases may be delayed to permit study of these reports by holding company officials.

The SEC, it was explained, will group properties controled by each holding company into what it considers integrated systems or "systems capable of integration." Each holding company then will be asked to choose which one of the several systems it wishes to retain.

The "death sentence" of the utility act, under which SEC proceedings were inaugurated, provides that a holding company may control only one integrated operating system. Other systems may be included only if the holding company can prove the operating company would lose in efficiency and economy by being excluded. These additional systems must be located in one state or adjoining states.

Reports to Be Tentative.

SEC officials said the reports they will issue will be tentative and will form a basis for public hearings. After the hearings, the commission will issue final integration orders which may or may not conform with the tentative reports.

Final orders will require holding companies to dispose of properties which the SEC believes cannot be retained under the "death sentence."

Officials said that several other holding companies, including United Light and Power company of Chicago and Commonwealth and Southern corporation, had requested the SEC to issue tentative reports on suggested grouping of properties on a geographical basis.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC FAILS TO MAKE SEASONAL GAIN

Cars of revenue freight loaded during the week ended May 18 totaled 678,971 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. The expected seasonal upturn failed to materialize as loadings fell 1,686 cars short of the total in the preceding week, altho 10.8 per cent more cars were loaded than in the corresponding week a year ago.

A reduction in loadings of coal, grain, and ore offset increases in miscellaneous freight and shipments of forest products. Loadings were 66,083 cars larger than in the same week in 1939 and 133,182 cars, or 24.4 per cent above loadings in the corresponding 1938 week.

STEEL LEADERS CALL BUSINESS OUTLOOK GOOD

New York, May 23 [Special].—Steel leaders attending the 49th annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel institute here today generally viewed the business outlook for the present and immediate future as good. Some voiced fears, however, as to the eventual results from the war, from mounting taxes and from certain government policies.

B. F. Fairless, president of United States Steel corporation, said recent production increases were encouraging. He urged a realistic view on current conditions and declared it is vitally important that producers and consumers make every effort to maintain stable market conditions.

E. G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, declared that despite fluctuations in business in the decade from 1930 to 1940, the steel industry had the best record of improvements in its history.

T. M. Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel, asserted that the large national defense program will add to the crushing burden of debt and taxation. He deplored what he termed the unsound fiscal policies of recent years.

E. G. Grace, T. M. Girdler, and B. F. Fairless (left to right) discuss prospects for the steel industry.

Arthur Roeder, chairman of Colorado Fuel and Iron, said that the normal trend of general business should be upward after 10 years of depression. In general his views were "optimistic."

G. M. Verity, chairman of American Rolling Mill, said he finds the present business trend toward further improvement, and believes the growing needs of the other half of the world will bring about greater activity here in the near future.

R. J. Wysor, president of Republic Steel, said that "war orders have been substantial, and if the war continues for any length of time the steel industry will be taxed to meet demands on it." He noted improvement in the normal demand in this country.

Hayward Niedringhaus, president of Granite City Steel, said the middle west is in an enviable industrial condition. He declared that crop prospects are good and inventories of goods practically at the irreducible minimum.

E. J. Kulas, president of Otis Steel, said there is a danger that people may become so preoccupied with affairs abroad that attention will be diverted from pressing problems in this country.

H. G. Batcheller, president of Allegheny Ludlum Steel, declared the health of the industry is based on peacetime developments.

F. B. Hufnagel, chairman of Crucible Steel, stressed necessity of mutual confidence and coöperation between employers and employés. American industry, he said, is fully able to meet all exigencies of the present situation if it does not suffer from external interference by government and labor.

Restrictions Removed; U.S. Steel Debentures Decline

New York, May 23 [Special].—Morgan Stanley & Co., manager of the syndicate which last week offered $75,000,000 of United States Steel corporation debentures, notified underwriters today that price restrictions had been removed. Quotations later dropped several points below the offering price, par. At that time there remained in the syndicate account $1,389,000 of the bonds. The task of establishing a free market was complicated because there were thirty different maturities.

STEEL MEN PUT PAID CHIEF AT INSTITUTE HELM

Weir Hits New Deal Defense Failure.

New York, May 23 (AP).—The nation's $5,000,000,000 iron and steel industry today put a full time salaried president at the helm of the American Iron and Steel institute, its national trade association.

Walter S. Tower.

Walter S. Tower, executive secretary of the institute since 1933, was unanimously named president succeeding Ernest T. Weir, chairman of National Steel corporation, who relinquished the position with a blast at the administration for its failure to provide in seven years an adequate national defense.

Tower will be the first salaried institute president. Hitherto heads of the institute have been executives of member steel companies.

Heavier Demands Expected.

In announcing Tower's selection, the institute's board said developing of the national war defense policy is expected to place heavy demands upon the time of the body's chief executive, especially in dealing with problems within the industry and of relationships with other industries and the government.

"Moreover, the time and energy of each executive of the member companies will be fully occupied in their respective production problems," the board added. "For that reason, none of them would be able to find time to guide the industry as president of the institute."

Tower has been associated with the steel industry since 1919, except for three years as United States commercial attaché at the American embassy at London. He was first associated with the industry with Consolidated Steel corporation and later with Bethlehem Steel company.

Billions for Defense.

"For seven years the administration has had at hand everything necessary for the building of real defenses," Weir continued." "Billions have been appropriated for this purpose. What has been done with them?

"And during these seven years, when the administration has been doing nothing to increase our defense facilities, it has been provoking bad foreign relations.

"The first essential step toward preparedness must be a fundamental change in the attitude of government—and particularly in its attitude toward industry.

"Industry is an arm of national defense just as much as the army, navy or air force. In fact, industrial preparedness must precede direct military preparedness.

"Large scale defense preparation will require an infinite amount of

ents and the manufacturer could go to the court of claims and be paid. [This reference was to title 35, section 68, of the United States code, enacted by congress on July 1, 1918.]

"But I want to repeat," the secretary said, "that I have no complaint as far as industry is concerned; I am getting full coöperation. There has been no occasion for using any big stick."

He announced the appointment of new advisers on aviation, including Dr. George Jackson Mead, vice chairman of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, named a special treasury assistant at $10,000 a year.

Will Aid Standardization.

An expert in airplane engines, Mead will aid in standardizing and speeding up engine production. Prof. Edward Story Taylor of Massachusetts Institue of Technology, an expert on internal combustion engines, was named Mead's assistant.

Morgenthau also enlisted the services of three experts from the California Institute of Technology—Dr. Theodore von Karman, director of the Guggenheim aviation laboratory at C. I. T. since 1930; Dr. Clark B. Millikan, professor of aeronautics, and Dr. A. E. Lombard Jr. Significantly, Von Karman, a native of Hungary, was formerly director of the aeronautical laboratory at Aachen, Germany.

Outlines Experts' Duties.

The duties of the experts, Morgenthau said, will be to help select, in coöperation with the army and navy, the types of planes and motors best suited to defense needs and mass production. The object is to get first design and then production, Morgenthau asserted. Military training planes now use six different types of engines and if these were confined to possibly two types production will be easier and cheaper, he asserted.

President Roosevelt has instructed him also to deal with the machine tool industry, Morgenthau said, and he will meet representatives of the industry on Monday. A similar meeting was held last Monday with airplane and engine manufacturers. The tool makers "are going to have to do plenty of expanding," Morgenthau said. They have made no requests so far for plant expansion capital, he asserted.

World sugar contracts closed unchanged to 1½ points higher in the New York futures market, and domestic contracts sagged 2 to 3 points.

Copper futures improved, gaining 1 to 7 points, but other nonferrous metals were depressed, lead closing unchanged to 4 points lower and Straits tin futures 5 to 85 points lower. Commission house buying lifted wool top futures 17 to 18 points in a turnover of about 1,500,000 pounds.

Crude rubber futures closed 45 points lower to 10 points higher;

CHICAGO TURNS BACK HISTORY TO FIRST STEEL RAIL

Luncheon to Mark Birth of Vast Industry.

Seventy-five years ago today a Chicago mill produced the first steel rail ever rolled in the United States. Plans for the commemoration of the event were announced yesterday by the Traffic Club of Chicago, which on June 10 will give a luncheon to which prominent steel and railroad executives have been invited.

Now Part of U. S. Steel.

This company became the nucleus for the North Chicago Rolling Mill company, which in turn became a component of the Illinois Steel company. The latter was one of several combined to form the United States Steel corporation — world's largest steel enterprise.

Various forms of iron rail sections were used in the 18th century, but the development of steel rail was delayed until an economical process for the production of steel could be discovered. Henry Bessemer in England and William Kelly in America, working independently, discovered the pneumatic process for the purification of iron which opened the way for the economic production of steel. Their achievements occurred in the 1850s.

Capt. Ward realized the importance of the process and in 1863 became associated with William Kelly as one of the directors of the Kelly Pneumatic Process company. In 1864 Kelly's company built an experimental plant at Wyandotte, Mich., where Ward operated a rolling mill.

First with New Process.

This plant poured the first commercial ingots of pneumatic process steel made in America, and one of the ingots was used several months later at Ward's Chicago mill.

Development of the steel rail came at a time when American railroads were going thru a great period of expansion. Iron rails then in use had to be replaced several times a year if traffic was heavy. The first steel rials were expensive, but by 1877 they had been reduced from $166 a ton to $45. Between 1865 and 1885 half a million miles of rail were laid and the United States became the largest steel producing country in the world.

DUTCH ANNOUNCE BRITISH-FRENCH CURRENCY PACT

Agree to Fix Guilder Exchange Rate.

The Netherlands government announced thru its minister in Washington yesterday that it has entered a currency bolstering agreement with Great Britain and France. In the meantime the British pound weakened at New York and the French franc advanced. Dutch currency has not been quoted since Dutch funds were "frozen" by President Roosevelt following German invasion of Holland.

The Dutch minister, Dr. Alexander Loudon, said the agreement was entered into on Tuesday, subject to certain conditions.

Fix Official Rates.

He outlined these conditions as follows:

1. The Netherlands Indies trade with the sterling bloc from now on will be allowed only on sterling at official cross rate on the basis of 7.60 guilders to the pound.

2. The United States dollar will be maintained at an average of 1.87½ guilders. [Equivalent to 53.33 cents. The guilder was last quoted in New York at 53.09 cents on May 9].

3. Preparatory measures are being taken in order to secure that direct and indirect exports to countries not participating in the British-French monetary agreement will be fully maintained and are payable only in United States dollars and other foreign currency allowed by the Java bank.

Pound Fluctuates Widely.

Yesterday's price movements of the pound were wide. After reaching $3.23¼, for a gain of ¼ cent, sterling fell 4¼ cents, and then rallied to finish at $3.19, down an even 4 cents from Wednesday's closing price.

The French franc closed at 1.81 cents, compared with 1.78 on Wednesday. The Canadian dollar lost ⅝ cent, the last transaction being at 78 cents in American money. Other leading European currencies were relatively steady.

Day by Day on the Farm

By BOB BECKER

Winged Beauties Seen.

May 23, 1940.

THE birds we saw on the farm this week were so numerous and included so many beautifully plumaged species that the inclination was to spend hours in the brushy thickets and among the wild crab trees just to watch them with our binoculars. We were fortunate in catching part of the spring warbler migration.

Constantly searching for tiny insects, one minute in the grass, the next minute inspecting every leaf and twig of small trees, the warblers were an example of perpetual motion and at the same time telling a graphic story of their usefulness as insect eaters. These migrants, now on their way north to nest, consume countless numbers of insects as they drift thru our woodlands.

Flame Color on Black.

By far the most colorful warbler that we watched this week was the redstart. Of all the warblers that pass thru Chicagoland and visit the farm, this one is our favorite. It has startling eye appeal, with black plumage, against which its flame colored markings are very pronounced. These brilliant splashes of color are on the tail and wings, and every time the bird flutters into the air it seems to take delight in displaying them.

The other day when we watched several of these birds [two males and a female] they gave us the impression of great pent-up energy. They dashed into the air to seize an insect. They fluttered against the rich green vegetation. They darted thru the leafy branches of the wild crab trees.

There were times when the redstarts were within five or six feet of us as we stood quietly among the flowering crab and hawthorns. But it made little difference to them whether we moved or not. They seemed to be unafraid, or else these busy insect eaters were so absorbed in their job of catching their food that they didn't pay any attention to intruders.

Busy Magnolia Warbler.

Before we moved from our stand near a wild crab tree we saw two other species of warblers. One was the busy little magnolia warbler with its identifying marks of yellow in its plumage, and the second was the Canada warbler. The magnolia is a common species which visits Chicagoland. The Canada warbler may be classed among the most decorative and beautiful of the warbler family, even tho it is not as strikingly colored as the redstart. What always catches our eye when we focus the binoculars on a Canada warbler is its "necklace" of jet black contrasted against its bright yellow breast.

With chimney swifts darting thru the air, nighthawks swooping low over the trees, purple martins making long flights from their nesting boxes, barn swallows active around the barns, and warblers in the wood lots, the farm has had many bird friends helping to reduce the number of insects in fields and woods.

GRAIN FUTURES TURN DOWNWARD ON WAR SELLING

Report Speculators Are Getting Out of Market.

Grain markets turned downward yesterday for the first time in four days. Wheat futures declined more than 1 cent a bushel at one time on selling induced by reports of new German victories in western Europe. Prices, however, remained well above the minimum price of 78½ cents for the July delivery.

Closing prices on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at losses of ¾ to ⅞ cent. Corn declined ¼ to ⅜ cent. July oats dipped to 33¼ cents, the permissible minimum, and closed ⅛ cent above that figure, losing ⅝ cent. Rye was off 1⅛ to 1¼ cents. Trading in soybeans was largely at the minimum prices with the close ⅛ cent lower to ¼ cent higher.

Speculative Interest Light.

Speculative interest in grain futures was extremely light and a large part of the business is said to have represented evening up operations by traders who were getting out of the market.

Some of the largest grain commission firms on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday warned customers of the danger of taking a position on the buying side of grains, pointing out the establishment of minimum prices, suggested by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, might result in buyers being unable to get out of their holdings in case of a decline to the support level. This condition, they said, developed Wednesday when May oats and soybeans closed at the minimum prices, and longs found themselves unable to cancel out their holdings.

Set December Minimums.

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade have established a minimum price of 32½ cents on December oats; 48 cents on December rye and 78½ cents on December soybeans. There have been no sales of these futures so far this season.

Lard futures advanced 15 cents early on buying induced by reports that the FSCC had asked for offerings of 60,000,000 pounds of lard. The market reacted quickly, however, in sympathy with grains and other commodities and closed 15 to 20 cents per 100 pounds lower.

Estimated receipts of cash grain at Chicago Thursday: Wheat, 10 cars; corn, 54 cars; oats, 10 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 42 cars; soy beans, 40 cars. Range of cash grain prices per bushel in leading markets:

BROKERS' LOANS DROP IN WEEK OF FALLING STOCKS

Excess Bank Reserves Set All-Time Record.

Loans to brokers and dealers on securities held by reserve system member banks in New York City shrank in the week ended Wednesday as a result of the unloading of stocks in last week's falling market, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The total of such loans was $403,000,000, a decrease of $55,000,000 as compared with the preceding week.

The board announced also that lendable excess reserves of banks increased to an all time high mark of $6,70,000,000, partly because of purchases of gold by the treasury.

Up 70 Millions in Week.

"Additions to member bank reserves," said the board, "arose from increases of $122,000,000 in gold stock, $3,000,000 in treasury currency and $2,000,000 in reserve bank credit, and decreases of $55,000,000 in treasury deposits with federal reserve banks and $19,000,000 in treasury cash, offset in part by increases of $15,000,000 in money in circulation and $57,000,000 in nonmember deposits and other federal reserve accounts.

Excess Tops 6 Billions.

"Excess reserves of member banks were estimated to be $6,370,000,000. The principal change in holdings of bills and securities was an increase of $3,000,000 in United States government securities, direct and guaranteed."

SUIT DEMANDS ACCOUNTING OF PAEPCKE TRUST

Suit for an accounting of a $2,000,000 trust established in 1912 by the late Herman Paepcke, for many years president of the Chicago Mill and Lumber company, was filed in Circuit court yesterday. The defendants are the trustees: The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company; Walter P. Paepcke, son of Herman Paepcke, and president of the Container Corporation of America, and Robert L. McClelland.

The suit charges that the trust has been allowed to dwindle. Warren Canaday, the attorney who filed the suit, said the trust is now believed to be worth only a few hundred dollars.

The suit was brought on behalf of Frank N. Robertshaw and his brother, James M. Robertshaw of Greenville, Miss., nephews of the elder Paepcke's widow, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Paepcke. The brothers each have a fifth interest in the trust, which is to terminate in 1942 with the distribution of the principal.

Net profit for the first four months of 1940 exceeded that of the same period last year by more than 10 per cent, S. DeWitt Clough, president of Abbott Laboratories, said yesterday after directors had declared the usual extra dividend of 10 cents a share on the common stock, in addition to the regular quarterly distributions of 40 cents on the common and $1.12½ on the preferred.

Both common dividends are payable June 29 to stockholders of record June 12, and the preferred payment is scheduled for July 15 to holders of record July 1.

Sixth Extra in Row.

Abbott, North Chicago manufacturer of pharmaceutical products, has paid an extra of 10 or 15 cents in each of the five preceding quarters.

COTTON

Cotton fluctuated in a nervous manner yesterday within a fair range. An early bulge on more favorable reports from western Europe was followed by a sharp decline in sympathy with securities and with other commodities, but a rally came late in the session. Closing trades were .04 cent higher to .08 cent a pound lower. July showed the most strength.

With the Liverpool market closed for an indefinite period, spreading operations between foreign marts and New York is reported to have come to a standstill.

Sir Perry Ashley, English cotton controller, appealed yesterday for increased production in the cotton industry, both for government requirements and essential home needs. Workers were asked to work 7½ hours per week overtime for the next month.

Owing to the slow demand for cotton goods of late, there is increased talk of possible curtailment of mill output.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .06 cent higher, with New Orleans, 10 cents; New York, 9.49 cents; Houston, 9.48 cents, and Galveston at 9.37 cents a pound. Prices follow:

FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES.

Answer: Federal reserve notes are paper money issued by the federal reserve system. There were $4,968,735,000 of these notes outstanding on May 15, 1940. They represent the bulk of money in circulation in the United States. The notes are backed by $5,420,500,000 in gold certificates held by the federal reserve central banks. The certificates are backed by gold held by the United States treasury.

The notes are one of several kinds of money in circulation. There are also silver dollars, other metal coins, silver certificates, treasury notes of 1890, United States notes, federal reserve bank notes, and national bank notes.

Money in this country can be issued only by the treasury and the federal reserve system. The treasury issues metal coins, silver certificates, and United States notes. The federal reserve notes have the same validity as treasury currency and are also obligations of the United States government.

Before the existence of the federal reserve banks most of the paper currency in circulation consisted of national bank notes issued by private commercial banks. Because the supply of national bank notes did not always expand with the country's needs and currency shortages occured, the federal reserve system, which was established in 1913, was empowered to print money. This additional source of money was expected to provide an elastic currency.

The federal reserve notes are issued to the federal reserve banks by the board of governors of the system thru federal reserve agents, who are local representatives of the board in the various district banks.

To support the notes, each federal reserve bank must pledge with the agent certain kinds of collateral. This collateral has consisted at different times of various amounts of gold, gold certificates, commercial paper, or United States government securities. The collateral must always be at least 100 per cent of the notes outstanding and the reserve banks must maintain gold reserves equal to at least 40 per cent of the notes in circulation. Since the nationalization of gold in 1933 the reserve banks have held only gold certificates and have turned all their gold over to the treasury.

Weir Attacks New Deal's War Defense Failure.

planning and readjustment thruout the industrial system. The staggering size of the job has evoked forecasts that it will be two years before industry can function effectively.

"It can be said confidently that these forecasts are entirely too pessimistic. If government will decide on a definite defense policy; if it will let industry know exactly what is wanted, and then entrust to men who know industry the task of getting performance from industry, the country will be pleasantly surprised at the speed and efficiency with which industry will do its share of the job."

Governor Assails Polls.

Governor Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, honor guest at the institute's banquet, declared government policies over the last seven years have "terribly weakened the backbone of our national defense, industry, and sound economy."

Discussing public opinion polls which made it appear that a majority of Americans believed the United States would be drawn into the war, he said:

"If the people of this land of ours do not want war, what power is it that they expect will override the principles of American self-representative government to put them into war?

Cites Former Attitude.

"Let me say to you, this feeling, to my mind, is more terrible to contemplate than war itself. In whatever wars the people of this nation have engaged, we have at least believed that they were for the preservation of American principles.

"There is no question here of whether America should defend itself from aggression; there never has been, and there never will be, any question of that. This nation must be strong—strong enough to withstan[illegible] any attack—so strong as to make an[illegible] other nation or combination of n[illegible]tions think twice before consideri[illegible] an attack advisable."

UTILITY BONDS U[illegible] BUT INDUSTRIAL AND RAILS FAL[illegible]

New York, May 23 (AP).—Selecte[illegible] utility loans stepped forward frac[illegible]tions to around 2 points and maintained gains until the close in the bond market today, but most industrials and rails gave up early advances with stocks, and closed lower.

That buying was highly selective was indicated in the Associated Press average of 10 utility loans. The measure slid to a 1940 low, as did the average of 10 rail bonds, yet some utilities turned in gains. Between 1 and 2 higher were Columbia Gas and Electric 5s of '61 at 99, Montana Power 3¾s at 97½, and Portland General Electric 4½s at 67⅞.

International Telephone 5s closed 2¼ up at 26¾ as dispatches said the Spanish government was considering return to the company of its properties seized during the Spanish civil war.

German 5½s of '65 lost 2 at 16, and the 7s of '49 dropped ⅞ at 18⅛. Sharply advanced after recent weakness were Belgian 6s at 48⅛, up 3[illegible].

BRITISH REPORT DANES AGREE TO LET SHIPS SAI[illegible]

Washington, D. C., May 23 [Special].—The British embassy has notified the state department that the Danish government is prepared to agree to the release of Danish merchant ships in neutral ports so they can proceed to their destinations without interference with their American owned cargoes. The ships raced to cover upon the German invasion of Denmark and Britain subsequently sought to control them.

The British embassy requested the department to prepare a list of the ships and the cargoes affected. It indicated they would be permitted to proceed to their destinations, except if the destination were Germany or a German controled area. The department is now preparing the list.
